- BY -

EDWARD NOYES WESTCOTT.

Cloth, $1.25. Paper, 75 Cents.

Philadelphia Item: We give Edward Noyes Westcott his true place in American letters—placing him as a humorist next to Mark Twain, as a master of dialect above Lowell, as a descriptive writer equal to Bret Harte, and, on the whole, as a novelist on a par with the best of those who live and have their being in the heart of hearts of American readers. If the author is dead—lamentable fact—his book will live.

The N. Y. Critic: David Harum is a masterly delineation of an American type..... There is life with all its joys and sorrows..... David Harum lives in these pages as he will live in the mind of the reader..... He deserves to be known by all good Americans; he is one of them in boundless energy, in large-heartedness, in shrewdness and in humor.

The Boston Literary World: True, strong and thoroughly alive, with a humor like that of Abraham Lincoln, and a nature as sweet at the core. The spirit of the book is genial and wholesome, and the love story is in keeping with it..... The book adds one more to the interesting list of native fiction destined to live, portraying certain localities and types of American life and manners.
