

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES FROM HISTORICAL POINTS
OF VIEW.

(ABSTRACT)

By J. G. BOURINOT, C. M. G., LL. D., Canadian House of Commons.

This paper was devoted to an elaborate review of the relations of the two countries since the foundation of Jamestown and Quebec in the beginning of the seventeenth century. The past history of America shows that there has been a destiny ever shaping the ends of the Canadian communities as well as of the United States, however diplomatists and statesmen have endeavored to "rough hew" them. The following events were briefly reviewed, and their effects on the two countries were indicated.

The treaty of Paris of 1763; the Quebec act of 1774; the war of Independence, and the coming of the United Empire loyalists into British North America; the treaty of 1783; the American Constitution of 1787 and the ordinance of 1787; the Canadian constitutional act of 1791; the Louisiana purchase; the war of 1812; the treaty of 1818 and the fishery question; the Canadian rebellion of 1837-'38, and its causes; the Caroline affair; the reunion of the Canadas; responsible government; the McLeod embroglio; the Ashburton treaty of 1842; the Oregon question and its settlement in 1846; the San Juan dispute; the fishery question until 1854; the reciprocity treaty of 1854-1866; the civil war in the United States; the Fenian raids; the confederation of the provinces; the fishery question from 1866 to 1871; the Washington treaty of 1871-1885; the fishery question from 1885-1890; the proposed Washington treaty of 1888; the Bering Sea question.

The Canadian Dominion, 1890, is then compared with the isolated provinces of a century ago. The whole history of Canada proves that there has been always, among its people,
