

- 303, 304; his desperate position, ii. 304; resolves to effect peace, ii. 304; the meeting between Croghan and, ii. 308; at Fort Chartres, ii. 308; his speech, ii. 308; attends Croghan's meeting at Detroit, ii. 309; his reply to Croghan, ii. 312; promises to make a treaty with Johnson, ii. 314; Croghan's impression of, ii. 314; ii. 315; keeps his appointment with Johnson, ii. 317, 318; lands at Fort Schlosser, ii. 318; on Lake Ontario, ii. 318; at Oswego, ii. 318; Johnson's council with, ii. 318-323; Johnson's address to, ii. 319; his reply, ii. 321; seals his submission to the English, ii. 323; returns to the Maumee, ii. 324; the English traders jealous of, ii. 325; at St. Louis, ii. 325; visits Saint-Ange, ii. 325, 326; visits Chouteau, ii. 325, 326; goes to Cahokia, ii. 326; the murder of, ii. 328; varying accounts of the death of, ii. 329; vengeance taken for the death of, ii. 329, 330; his burial-place, ii. 331; his children, ii. 331; ii. 350, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 360, 361, 363, 364, 409, 410.
- Pontiac Manuscript, the, ii. 352-362.
- Post, Christian Frederic, on the unfortunate position of the Indians, i. 106; sent as emissary to the Indians, i. 149; sketch of his character, i. 149, 150; on the Ohio, i. 150; secures the neutrality of the Indians, i. 150, 151; extracts from his journals, i. 150, 151; at Sankonk, i. 150; plots against the life of, i. 150; on the wilderness of the Mississippi Valley, i. 162.
- Potherie, on the efforts of the French to conciliate the Indians, i. 80.
- Pothier, Father, the Jesuit, at the Wyandot village, i. 253.
- Potomac River, the, i. 179; ii. 324.
- Pottawattamies, the, i. 37; form a confederacy, i. 38; the clustered lodges of, i. 176; i. 188, 190; at Detroit, i. 223; attack Detroit, i. 244; with Pontiac, i. 254; reinforce Pontiac at Detroit, i. 282; the Jesuits among, i. 284; attack and capture Fort St. Joseph, i. 284, 285; begin to tire of the siege of Detroit, i. 314; ask for peace, i. 314; Gladwyn's treatment of, i. 315, 316; Gladwyn makes peace with, i. 317; in the fight of Bloody Bridge, i. 329; offer the pipe of peace at Detroit, ii. 116; attend Bradstreet's council at Detroit, ii. 195; terms of Bradstreet's treaty with, ii. 197; attend Croghan's meeting at Detroit, ii. 309, 323; ii. 353.
- Pottawattamies from St. Joseph's, the, attend Croghan's meeting at Detroit, ii. 310; their attitude towards the English, ii. 310.
- Pottawattamie village, the, Pontiac holds a council in, i. 218; i. 227, 240; ii. 355, 357.
- Pottawattamie villages, the, i. 319.
- Pouchot, on the wilderness of the Mississippi Valley, i. 162.
- Pownall, on the wilderness of the Mississippi Valley, i. 162; on the Illinois colony, ii. 268.
- Presbyterians, the, in Pennsylvania, ii. 91, 126, 138; the Quakers