

forty heroes gave a mighty shout, and Orpheus, striking his harp, sang a song of triumph,<sup>1</sup> to the cadence of which the galley flew over the water, homeward bound, as if careering along with wings!

<sup>1</sup> Song of triumph—After many trials and adventures the Argonauts finally reached their homes and Jason regained his kingdom.