REMOVED AFTER HIS USUAL MORNING AUDIENCE HEART FAILS KING CHRISTIAN SUDDEENLY TAKEN

AGED MONARCH OF DENMARK Beloved by All His People and Closely Related to Most of the Reigning Rulers, Dies in Arms of Dowager Empress Ere Members of Family Could Arrive.

Copenhagen, Jan. 29.—Christian the Ninth, the aged King of Denmark, father of King George of Greece, of Queen Alexandra of Great Britain and Ireland and of the Dowager Empress Maria Fodorovna of Russia, grandfather of King Haakon of Norway and related by blood or by marriage to most of the European rulers, died with startling suddenness in the Amalienborg Palace this afternoon. The accession of his successor, Prince Frederick, his eldest son, who will be known as Frederick the Eighth, will be proclaimed to-morrow.

The following official bulletin was issued to-night: "His majesty died at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. After his majesty had brought this morning's audience to a conclusion he appeared to be quite well and proceeded to luncheon as usual. Toward the end of the meal he gave evidence of indisposition and was compelled to retire to bed at 2.30 p.m. His majesty passed away peacefully, the symptoms indicating heart failure."

A Great Shock.
The death of King Christian has plunged half the world into the deepest mourning and brought a sense of personal as well as of national bereavement to every part of the kingdom of Denmark, reaching even to the humblest cottage, evidence of which is shown everywhere to-night. The quick taking away of this distinguished personality, who has for so long been a centre of interest not only in his own country, but throughout the civilized world, almost paralyzed the community and interrupted the business world of Denmark. Even late to-night the men of affairs are only recovering from the shock.

Every day in the city is at half mast, all the places of amusement are closed and the people walk the streets as if they were passing through the chamber of death itself.

The afternoon, when the flag over the palace was placed at half mast, the news spread rapidly. It was not believed by the Danish people that King Christian would die so suddenly. He had been in the best of health, and his majesty conversed freely and affably with a number of his courtiers. The members of the family, among whom were the Dowager Empress of Russia and his brother, Prince Frederik, were in the palace. During the meal his majesty complained of indisposition and was assisted to his bed by the dowager empress and Prince Hans. A court physician was quickly summoned, but by the time he arrived the king had collapsed. The physician used prompt restoratives, but his efforts were useless and King Christian expired without uttering a word in the arms of the dowager empress and Prince Hans.

Just as the king breathed his last Prince Frederik, who had been summoned, entered the room and the other members of the royal family arrived shortly afterwards. Prince Christian's death was accompanied by a world-wide condolence. Telegrams and cablegrams of condolence are pouring in to-night including messages from all the sovereigns of Europe and the Danish colonies.

Premier Christensen tonight tendered his resignation of the cabinet to the new king, who expressed a wish that the present ministry should continue to carry on the affairs of the government.

Both houses of parliament will assemble to-morrow, when the respective presidents will formally announce the death of King Christian.

At 3 p.m. the members will assemble in the hall of the Folketing to receive the royal message and to discuss the accession of Frederick the Eighth. Public announcement of the death of King Christian will be made to-morrow by a royal commission from a balcony of the Amalienborg Palace.

It has been known for some time that King Christian's health was failing. His physicians recommended a change of air and the king decided to take his trip to the south in the near future, accompanied by the Dowager Empress of Russia.

MAY POSTPONE OPENING OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London, Jan. 29.—The official and other engagements in which the British cabinet is concerned will be postponed or cancelled, although nothing affecting the arrangements has yet been given out. It is said that the opening of parliament cannot take place Feb. 19, according to the original program, but it may be opened by a royal commission, in the later years of Queen Victoria's reign.

It is expected that a memorial service in honor of the late King Christian will be held in the chapel royal, St. James' Palace, simultaneously with the funeral services held in Denmark.

Queen Alexandra received the news of the death of her father at Windsor. It came as a great shock to her, as she had never shared an obligation. Toronto office, Canada Life Building, Phone Main 164.
