TAKE MY CURE, WHEN CURED YOU PAY ME

The fear that you could not be cured may have deterred you from taking honest treatment, or you may have been one of the unfortunate who have been treated in vain by inexperienced physicians, free treatments, free trials, samples, patent medicines, electric belts and other similar devices. Both treatments and devices are alike, and you will never be cured until you have taken my cure. My cure will cure you, and you will never be cured until you have taken my cure. My cure will cure you, and you will never be cured until you have taken my cure.

SELEGEANTS TO SEE FUNERAL PROCEEDS TO GO TO CHARITY

Removal of King Christian From City to Roskilde is Attended by But Simple Ceremonial.

Copenhagen, Feb. 16.—The body of King Christian was removed from the Christianborg Church here today to the cathedral at Roskilde, 20 miles from Copenhagen, where it will be buried Sunday morning among the tombs of the Danish kings, who for a thousand years have found their last resting place in the ancient capital of the kingdom.

The woe of Copenhagen was given up to mourning. Business and work were at a standstill, while the sorrowful processions everywhere.

The enormous black garbed crowds of town people, swelled by thousands of arrivals from the country districts, thronged the square in front of the Christianborg Church, and the route thence to the railway station, covered early morning, standing patiently for hours in order to pay a last tribute to the dead monarch.

The windows along the route were filled with spectators who paid high prices for seats. Most of the owners of such places, however, were bent on their intention to devoting to charity, in memory of King Christian, the proceeds of the sale of seats.

Shortly before noon the Kings of Denmark, Greece and Norway, Queen Alexandra of England, the Emperor and Empress of Russia, and other royal relatives of the deceased, and the representatives of the foreign embassies, reached the Christianborg Church, where a brief service was held at the conclusion of which the coffin, covered with the Danish standard, was borne high by naval and military officers to the waiting hearse.

Then headed by infantry and cavalry a simple cortege was formed and slowly proceeded to the cathedral, a half mile of streets between the church and the railroad station. Immediately behind the coffin, covered with the Danish standard, followed King Christian's favorite riding horse, Jusuf, which will be shot to-night.

According to the ancient Danish custom, the procession was closed with carriages bearing the male members of the royal families represented at the funeral, the ladies following in the rear.

The bells of all the churches were tolled, and minute guns were fired from the arsenal through the progress of the cortege and the coffin was placed on a funeral train.

Creates a Precedent.

This was the first time in history that the body of a Danish King has been transferred by railroad to the burial place. At the time of the death of Frederick VIII., the predecessor of King Christian, in 1893, the use of a railroad train for the conveyance of the King's body to the cemetery was not considered sufficiently dignified.

During the progress to the railroad station the cortege was surrounded by the Danish and similar military associations, and the students and other societies lining the route.

Many affecting scenes were witnessed. The profound silence was broken only by the sobs of the women and the momentary excitement caused by fainting and minor accidents due to the pressure of the huge crowds.

At the station the coffin was placed in the funeral car, in which some of the members of the royal family also traveled. On reaching Roskilde the fourth regiment of Dragoons formed the escort of the coffin, which was borne to the cathedral and placed on a catafalque before the high altar to await the last rites on Sunday.

ARBITRATOR'S DECISION WONT?

C. C. Dalton Appealing Against Award—City Should Pay.

The court of appeal yesterday reserved judgment in an appeal made by C. C. Dalton from the award of the official arbitrator, stating that he was not entitled to any allowance from the city for filling in some land at the corner of Esplanade and Frederick-street, for which he was refused a renewal of the lease.

In 1887 the city leased the property to Mr. Dalton, who used it as a soap factory. Under the conditions the city could put an end to the lease by paying the tenant a reasonable sum for the buildings and permanent improvements on the property, but this sum was not included in these.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in the home, and realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines, and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best, charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, which are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rubber.

The form of address, please, for the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much-improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, and on the contrary, great benefits.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cool but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and also in some sense a patient preparation, yet I believe it more efficacious than any other charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

They can be set right by the use of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthy, refreshing sleep, break up the nervous system, and restore them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Mrs. Emma Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with dizzy spells, weak spells and fainting of the head. I was so bad at times I could not lie down in bed at nights but would get up. I doctored for a whole year, but got no relief. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled since."

I cannot recommend them too highly.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or sent direct on receipt of price to The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

NOT INVITED, BUT WILL BE THERE

Thousands of Visitors Hailing to Washington for the Wedding.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The approaching wedding of Alex. Lee Roosevelt to Congresswoman Nicholas Longworth, has attracted to Washington a vast host of the curious. The way the hotels, boarding-houses and other public hostilities are filling up almost reminds one of an inauguration. The police are making great preparations for handling the crowds as they would at an inauguration.

All that the most fortunate in the throng that will surround the White House during the wedding is to get a glimpse of the bride as she steps into the carriage after the ceremony, but thousands upon thousands will struggle for this crumb of satisfaction. The wedding will take place at noon.

The guests will number 1000. Immediately after the reception of the guests by the bride and groom a buffet luncheon breakfast will be served in the state dining-room.

The White House grounds will be invaded by the wedding party, and those who are invited as guests. Police arrangements have been perfected for the occasion, and the men to be inserted wire in their places, he says. "This is a point that power operators should know."

SIGNED IN GAELIC.

Irish Members of Parliament Commit Branch of Code.

London, Feb. 16.—For the first time in the history of the house of commons each member yesterday, after taking the oath, signed his name in Gaelic. The patriot member thus introducing the Irish language into the commons in the House of Commons for the first time. Mr. Kelly, and like Dan Buckley, he may have to fight for the privilege.

The Mayoist magistrate fined Daniel, holding that the inscription violated the law, being illegible in every body but Gaelic. Buckley, who appealed to the king's bench successfully, and the costs were remitted, Buckley's patriotic victory will surely be followed by an eruption of Irish inscriptions.

TELEPHONE SAVES A LIFE.

Banker Suddenly Seized With Illness Rings Up a Friend.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—Death from ptomaine poisoning was barely escaped by Arthur E. Newbold of the firm of Drexel & Co. Mr. Newbold endured great suffering, but it was not until the way toward complete recovery.

The poisoning was attributed to fish eaten at dinner at the Rittenhouse Club on Wednesday evening last.

Newbold went to his recently leased town house, 2000 Spruce-street, and retired. As Mrs. Newbold was out of town he was alone, save for the staff of servants.

About 4 o'clock in the morning he was seized with excruciating pains. He could not summon the servants, not being able to make himself heard, and the household annunciator not having been connected.

A telephone was within reach, but his physician never replies to calls over the telephone at night. Mr. Newbold succeeded in awakening a friend, whom he called by means of the telephone.

When a physician arrived, Mr. Newbold's pulse had reached an alarming rapidity. His sufferings continued for several hours.

The drastic treatment necessary had a striking effect on the heart and left him very weak. It is probable, however, that he will be able to attend to his business within a short time.

Mr. Newbold is prominent in Philadelphia society, and in philanthropic work.
