Narrew Escade of Junction Lady-Hot lime at Council-Gen-

avenue, had a narrow escape in attempting to cross the tracks in front of a C.P.R. passenger train as it was approaching the city. The presence of mind of Luke Heaps saved her life. Mr. Heaps resides at 99 East Dundas-street, and is a master painter by trade. He was on his way to work at the corner of Royce and Franklin-avenue, when he noticed the old lady attempting to cross ahead of the train. He sprang to her assistance and succeeded in getting ner assistance and succeeded in getting clear of the track without injury, but Mr. Heaps was struck on the right knee by one of the car steps. His injuries were not serious, however, and was brought to a standstil to see what damage was done, and it was a great relief to the crew to find that no one had been seriously hurt. G. T. R. Employe Meets Death at Port Hope.

EAST TORONTO, June 24 .-- John Singer, a G.T.R. brakeman, living in Little York, and running between this town and Belleville, met with a shocking death at Port Hope to-day. One report states that Singer was walking on top of the ears when he fell between them, two cars passing over his body, cutting it in two. Another report was that deceased was running to make a coupling, when his foot was caught in a frog and before he could extricate the train backed down upon him. De-ceased was about 25 years old and had boarded at the Emperingham Hotel for two years. His parents reside at Newcastle and the remains will be taken there for interment.

PORTRAIT OF MR. SPOTTON.

The Harbord Review: The Literary Society has been, financially, a flour-ishing institution this year. It rais-ed by its two "pay" entertainments some $130. The executive has been good enough, out of this, to vote several donations to athletics and set apart $50 towards a fund for procuring a portrait of Mr. Spotton, the founder and first principal of the school, this portrait to grace the walls of the institute as a memorial. It is confidently expected that such liberal ity on the part of one graduating class of Mr. Spotton's former pupils will be promptly supplemented by subscripions from ex-pupils of the past fifteer years. It is likely that steps will be aken to follow up the movement in
