Please Adds Another Victory to Her Credit, But Only by a Short Head.

The starts averaged fair, and there was always an excuse when the fields did not get away in line. Three favorites, a second and two third choices proved the winners. Purslane, Bridoon and Please were backed by the public, whose confidence on this occasion was upheld.

The day was sultry and a strong wind blew in the horses' faces down the home stretch.

so they were.

Hiacko was in with a classier lot yesterday, and the in line at the break he was slow to get going, and could never get up, Hawkama winning easily, with Solon Shingle second and the favorite third. The big bettors were on King of the Valley for the last race, and he won in a drive with the public choice, Arrowswift, Lexington Lady alone third. Every one of the eight had backing here.

Now it is up to the last day, and it is to be hoped the seven events will again be decided truly and that the of the fifth. Ayrwater landed a lot of show money.

Purslane took the opening event handily, Anna Smith just beating Eldorado for the place. Ben Stille, the sharpshooters' trick, wouldn't do.

Bridoon, backed everywhere, won the second at every post, Cascade ahead of Pimpante, another good thing that had backing three ways. Sweet Wish had support at a large price.

Kelple was ripe for the Canadian-bred event, and the filly landed a load at long adds. Cannie Maid, with only 96 lbs., was the natural favorite, but her price extended owing to the play on three of the others. Kelple was off first, but soon allowed the Dyment filly to go ahead for the pace, Caper Sauce staying with the leader. Kelple made her run up the stretch and won going away, the next two remaining as they were.
