

GOVERNMENT CRITICS TO CENTRE ATTACKS ON IRISH QUESTION

Will Ask Today Why Strickland Report on Cork Burning Is Withheld.

TESTIMONY CONFLICTS

London, Feb. 14.—Alleged governmental maladministration, the Irish question and waste and expenditure are the three principal questions upon which the Labourites and other elements in opposition to the government will centre their attacks tomorrow as soon as the house of commons sets under way for the new session.

Of the three questions the chief reveals that anti-government forces will centre their most strenuous attacks on the Irish situation as offering the most promising material for debate. This question is one which presents a picture which was not only public interest has been maintained and it is considered certain that parliamentary questions will be asked from the opposition benches which will bring into some of the long-awarded replies from the Irish administrators.

Why has the government withheld General Strickland's report on the Cork fires? will be among the first of the interrogations to be placed before the commons. It is asserted that Dillon's Cross which occurred the same day.

HON. "BOB" ROGERS WANTS NEW DEAL

(Continued From Page 1). frankness to the newspaper men today. He said that Mr. Burnham should have been asked to go to the city of St. Peterboro and that the government ought to go to the country. Being asked what he thought of the result of St. Peterboro, Mr. Rogers said: "I think it a great pity that Mr. Burnham was not re-elected. No man living ever undertook to fulfil his duty to his constituents more fully and more honorably than did Mr. Burnham."

As Rogers sees it, the only way to react to the speeches of ministers themselves is to feel satisfied that beyond question of controversy the present parliament will stand firm for the period of the war and for war conditions. There is no mistaking the voice of the electorate at St. Peterboro. Mr. Rogers speaks in tones louder than thunder demanding immediate return to party government, demanding the discontinuance in Canada of political intrigues, demanding real political surgery, demanding a major operation that will save Canada from the menace of the noxious growth of manipulation of war profiteers and their solidors.

"Owing to the dawdling attitude of the Canadian people generally, this step of political surgery is long deferred. If the rank and file of loyal and faithful Conservatives everywhere, who have not yet fully realized in any national crisis, are not quick to rise to a full sense of their duty to their country that stands today in peril, the balance of the party of many ways, as the result of three years of political intrigues, then they will all the rest of their lives be the losers and suffer and lost because they failed at a critical time."

this year, the new senate chamber is sufficiently complete and it was here that the government, general, read the speech from the throne. The proceedings in both houses lasted scarcely more than an hour and a half. The members of the commons gathered at the bar of the senate for the reading of the speech from the throne. Then on their return to the commons chamber, new members were presented; the prime minister introduced the bill to amend the Income Tax Act, 1919, and the commons proceeded to the usual motion to give debate on the address procedure and the house adjourned till tomorrow afternoon.

The government's legislative program for the session, as indicated in the speech from the throne, is not a heavy one.
