

THE DISASTER

Explosion of Gas in Ohio Colliery

Man Who Led the Rescue Party Among the Victims

Bodies Recovered Were Terribly Burned and Blackened—One Miner Hurled 300 Feet Received a Broken Thigh, and He Thinks This Saved His Life.

Belle Valley, Ohio, May 18.—Burned and blackened, the bodies of fifteen miners who lost their lives early last evening when an explosion of fire damp partially wrecked the Imperial mine, were brought to the surface today by rescuers working under the direction of Deputy State Mine Inspector Ellwood.

Several attempts were made by rescue parties to enter the mine last night, but the gas had not vanished sufficiently to allow the rescuers to reach the bodies until after daylight this morning. As each body was brought to the surface, it was identified and taken into the engine room of the mine, where it was prepared for burial.

The Dead:

Henry Fairhurst, aged 22, rescuer; body recovered.

Robert Alton, aged 38, night boss; body recovered.

Clarence Brown, aged 20; body recovered.

Henry Bryant, aged 45; body recovered.

Henry Dudley, aged 22, assistant superintendent; body recovered.

Clyde Haskins; body recovered.

Nine Slav miners.

Nearly all of the 1,000 inhabitants gathered at the mine entrance soon after the explosion and stood for hours watching the work of the rescuers. The grief of relatives was pitiable as the bodies of their loved ones were brought out of the pit.

The bodies were found a mile and a quarter from the mouth of the mine. They were lying on their faces and were badly burned. Investigation into the cause of the explosion will be made tomorrow by officials of the state mining department. The Imperial mine is owned by the Ogara Mining Company, composed principally of Cleveland stockholders and a Victim.

Henry Fairhurst, a member of the first rescue party to enter the mine last night, was overcome by gas and died soon after being taken to the surface. Deville McCune, a companion, also was overcome, but was revived and will live. Fairhurst and his party found the body of Roy Yeager soon after entering and placed it in a cart. Fairhurst went back to clear a passage way for the cart and was overcome by gas. The members of the party fell down on their faces and waited a few minutes until the gas became lighter. Then they placed Fairhurst's body in the cart beside that of Yeager and took them to the surface.

Yeager was discovered to be alive, and was removed to the hospital. It is said that he will recover. He was thrown a distance of 300 feet by the explosion, and was the only man to escape from the section of the mine where the explosion occurred.

Yeager attributed his escape to the fact that his thigh was broken. He had fallen on the floor and was protected from rising and inhaling the poisonous air. After a few hours he was able to crawl through the shaft until within half a mile of the entrance, where he was found by the rescue party.

F. P. GUTLIUS.

The Canadian Engineer contains the following particulars of the career of F. P. Gutlius, general manager of the E. L. R. "P. P. Gutlius has been appointed general manager of the government railways. He is appointed for a two-year term. He will supervise and direct all departments of the government railways, and will be in charge of the Hudson Bay railway when completed. The order provides for the abolition of the present intercolonial board of management. Mr. Gutlius was born in the United States in 1864; he graduated as a civil engineer in 1887, and started in civil engineering with the Pennsylvania Railroad, Pittsburgh (Pa.). He went to British Columbia in 1888 and was general superintendent of the Columbia & Western railway (constructing and operating) between Robson and Hazelton. In 1895, when he joined the C. P. R., he successfully held positions as division superintendent, in the engineering department, as engineer of maintenance ways, and became assistant chief engineer of eastern lines in 1906, general superintendent of Lake Superior division in 1908, and superintendent of the entire division in 1910. Early in 1912 he is appointed by the government to reorganize all expenditures on the National Transcontinental railway. He will have his headquarters at Montreal (Q. B.)."

E. L. Captain Fatally Stricken at Sea.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 17.—Captain Zena Connor, died in the hospital at Charlottetown tonight. He took ill at sea, was landed at Souris, (P. E. I.), unconscious and was brought here where he died of abscess on the brain.

THE RANGE ITEMS

The Range, May 19.—A pleasant surprise party was tendered Robbie Ram (music teacher) on Tuesday evening, when about thirty-five of his friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Barton and spent a very enjoyable evening with games and music, after which the Rev. Mr. McCutcheon on behalf of the people presented him with an address and purse of money showing the esteem in which he was held. He will be greatly missed in social and musical circles. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon, Tuesday morning, carrying with him the best wishes of his many friends here.

Fred Newbury was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. X. P. Hawks on Tuesday evening.

Mary Miller, widow of Andrew Miller, passed away on Sunday morning. The funeral, held from her daughter's home, services being conducted by the Rev. H. W. McCutcheon. Interment at Cumberland Bay on Tuesday morning.

A number of young men of this place have gone away to work. Among the last to leave were Fred Hawks and Will Hawks, who were on the train for St. John, Wednesday.

WOMAN CENTENARIAN WHO NEVER WORE A HAT

Somerset, Pa., May 17.—Mrs. Mattie Crise, who became 100 years old yesterday, received the well wishes of over 100 residents of this county in her home, ten miles from here.

For 100 years Mrs. Crise lived in the same place and in that time never saw a railroad train, street car or telephone. She never wore a hat, a knitted hood taking its place.

Sleepy pillows can be filled with clover seed, as well as with pine needles.

Capt. J. A. Read Brings Bark Here After a Hard Trip

LAST OF OUR FLEET OF SQUARE-RIGGERS

The Edna M. Smith Encounters Violent Gales Off Hatteras—Veteran Navigator, for 50 Years a Deep Water Man, Says He Feels "Perfectly Fit," and He Looks It.

Saturday, May 17.

The bark Edna M. Smith, Captain J. A. Read, arrived yesterday afternoon from Mobile with a cargo of hard pine for J. A. Likely Co., and anchored in the stream.

Captain Read said yesterday that the vessel left Mobile on April 19 and that during the voyage he encountered the greatest portion of the run, and that after the bark had rounded Cape Hatteras, the wind blew continuously from the north, causing a very severe weather for the season of the year.

The veteran navigator said that the nights were very cold and that he had never experienced more boisterous weather off Hatteras, especially the night after the bark had been passed, when the bark battled for hours against a furious gale of almost hurricane force.

The bark Edna M. Smith, 700 tons, built at Harvey Park, Albert county, in November, 1908, and owned and managed by J. Nelson Smith, of Lower Goveville (N. B.), is the only square-rigger owned in the province and is the last of the great fleet of New Brunswick vessels which, built, commanded and manned by New Brunswickers, carried the Canadian ensign to every known port, and which for speed and graceful lines, had no superiors.
