considers how few clothes they possess, and the very fatty nature of the food which they must handle and eat, it is wonderful that they can keep their homes and themselves as clean as they do. For soap there is a constant demand, and when last spring my supply of soap gave out, I tried with more or less success to make soft soap for them. Many of them wash their persons weekly. They are continually washing their clothes, and on Sundays it is their aim to present as neat an appearance as possible. As an incentive to increased cleanliness, this spring, I offered and presented a rifle as a prize to the native whose igloo and its surroundings were the cleanest—an expedient which was not without good effect.

JEMMY'S MOTHER'S BONNET.

"I want you to put jes' as many v'lets on as you ken for twenty cents, right there in the front, so't they'll stick up an' look kind o' stylish." It was a thin, sickly-looking little boy that spoke. The young girl behind the counter smiled, but there were tears in her eyes as the grimy fingers undid the ungainly newspaper bundle, and took out a rusty black straw bonnet, which had seen a great deal of service.

"It's fur my mother," he continued, "an' it's a surprise. Do you think you ken git it done fur me by the time I take my papers down to the office and git back?"

"Oh, yes," said the girl; "only don't hurry too much. What is your name?"

"Jem," answered the boy; "an' I won't. An' there's the twenty cents. I'd wait fur it a couple o' hours, if I had to."

He passed out, whistling cheerily. The clerk opened her shopping bag, and, taking out a bottle of shoe polish, she began applying it vigorously to the faded straw.

"Indeed, I am going to fix it up for the poor little fellow," was the earnest reply. "Just think, Mary; I suppose he's saved up that twenty cents for weeks! I'm so glad I happened to get this blacking this morning. You can't tell the bonnet when I get through with it; see if you can!"

THIS WILL INTEREST MANY

F. W. Parkhurst, the Boston publisher, says that if any one afflicted with rheumatism in any form, or neuralgia, will send their address to him at 804-45 Carney Building, Boston, Mass., he will direct them to a perfect cure. He has nothing to sell or give; only tells you how he was cured after years of search for relief. Hundreds have tested it with success.

She hummed a happy little song as she went, putting on coat after coat, deftly turning the straw up here and down there.

"Mrs. Brown," she said, as the proprietor of the store entered, "will you give me thirty-five cents' worth of violets at wholesale? A poor little boy has brought me his mother's bonnet to trim, and I want to add a few violets to what he has ordered, and make it just as pretty as I can."

"Indeed, I will," the proprietor answered; "and good measure at that!" And so it came about that the poor black bonnet was transformed into a beautiful "shiny" one, with bunches of violets peeping out here and there from the ribbons so cunningly arranged that the worn, faded parts could hardly be discerned.

"Oh, you don't mean it; you don't mean that's my mother's bunit, and all fur twenty cents?" exclaimed Jem, coming back just as the finishing touch was being given. "Oh, what lots o' violets! How did you git it so shiny? Oh, she'll be jest tickled to death!"

It was a wonderfully happy little boy who gazed from the bonnet into the clerk's face.

As the door closed behind him, one who had been a silent spectator of it all went up to the young girl, and laying her hand on her shoulder, said: "This has been a lesson to me, my dear—a lesson that I can never forget. Out of the abundance with which the Lord has blessed me I have begrudged to the poor and needy within my gate. Please God, it shall never happen again!"

In her simple way, the girl pondered upon the woman's words, and wondered what her life had been, and what it would be. Ah, who can say? As the circles of a pool, into which a pebble has been cast, widen and widen until the ripples reach beyond our sight, so the influence of a noble, generous act, though one the world might call a small one, goes on and on through all eternity.—Our Boys and Girls.
