

General Notes.

The young men's meetings grow in the essential qualities these weeks.

Quite a number of our members are going off on vacations; some of the faithful ones in the Association too.

The Training Class in Bible study is small. Do you know why?

Will any who desire to join the evening Classes in Book-keeping, Penmanship, or Singing, please inform the acting Secretary, Lyman W. Archibald, this week.

The ladies are continually aiding in beautifying the furniture of the parlor. There's a piano there now, and we are looking for a young man to play it.

E. W. Gorton is on his way back to the Provinces, after a short vacation. He will probably take his way western-county-ward.

E. D. Ingerson, well known to Association workers here, offered to add a dollar to every dollar given by the Denver, Col'd Association, to the International Committee. The Association sent $250 as a result.

Subscriptions to the "Young Men's Era" can be left with the General Secretary. Copies of the paper and "Starting Points," the offered premium, can be seen at his office.

The meetings during the Week of Prayer were marked by evident tokens of divine favor, and to those who meant to put feet to their prayers were encouraging.

The faces and voices of strange brethren have been greeting us and wishing us well as we start on another year.

Every man Committee is doing bravely; the only Committee that is really working. Why? Not because of anything to do, surely.

The board of Directors are looking for a man who is dead in earnest over work for boys; they have ninety boys to hand over to him.

Call and counsel with the Secretary. If you have objections to make, plans to suggest, unmake them, suggest them, small or great.

Perhaps more whiskey was drunk in Truro on Saturday night than for a long time. More than prayer is necessary. A nice clean year getting all stained with sin already is to be deplored.

The books in the Library are being freely drawn. Hope the friends of pure literature will not forget to put a good, clean library in this town somewhere; else why talk or pray about it. God has placed these means within our hands.

The Woman's Auxiliary had their hands full on New Year's day. 150 called on them and passed through the building. They plan for monthly Receptions during the winter months.
