

WOMAN'S HELPLESSNESS

Cured Through the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

Thousands of women suffer from headaches, backaches, dizziness, languor and nervousness. Few realize that their misery all comes from the bad state of their blood. They take one thing for their head, another for their stomach and a third for their nerves. And yet all the while it is simply their blood that is the cause of all the trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure because they actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, carrying with it a new health and new strength. Mrs. Wm. Acorn, Charlottetown, P. E. I., says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was one of the most miserable women living. For more than three years I lived a life of constant dread. I was taking weak spells so that I could not be left alone. If I walked from one room to another my heart would palpitate so violently that I feared I would die. I was continually sending for the doctor, who told me I had no blood and that my nerves were shattered. Notwithstanding his treatment I did not get any better. I could not keep anything on my stomach, and the least thing would make me sick. Then my trouble was complicated with rheumatism, which became so bad that I had to be lifted like a child, and the pain was almost unbearable. I was in this deplorable condition when my husband read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and got me a supply. When I had taken half a dozen boxes I felt much better, and could go about the house. I kept on taking the Pills until I had used twelve boxes, and I can truly say they made me a well woman. Indeed, I do not think I would be living now but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I wish I could persuade every woman who is sick to follow my example, for I have proved they will cure the most desperate cases, and I consider myself a living witness of this fact."

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A tourist calling at an Irish cottage, noticed a glass shade under which was a brick and a faded rose. Naturally he inquired why the owner of a shanty should cherish two such dissimilar objects. "Shure, por, there's memories attached to them," said the Irishman. "Feel the big dint in me head? Well, it was the brick that made it." "But the rose?" said the visitor. "The rose is off the grave of the man what threw the brick," replied the host.

SPIDER-SILK.

Especially Suitable For the Nets That Enclose Balloons.

The silkworm is by no means the only creature that produces silk. Spiders make their webs, nests, and egg-cocoons of a kind of silk that is well adapted for certain of man's uses. The filaments of spider-silk are much finer than those produced by the silkworm, but they are relatively stronger. The webs of some of the large spiders of tropical countries are strong enough to entangle small birds.

As early as the seventeenth century, travellers in Paraguay found that the natives made clothing from the webs of a species of Epeira, the genus to which the common garden spider belongs. Spider-silk has been used for centuries in China, India, and West Africa; notably in the Chinese province of Yunnan, where the so-called "silk of the Eastern Sea" is produced.

In the year 1708 a French jurist, Monsieur Guenau de Montpeller, succeeded in making several pairs of gloves and stockings from the silk of garden spiders. The first really practical experiments, however, were made by an Englishman named Rolt. By his process, he drew the silk directly from the body of the spider; and the material he obtained was much stronger than that spun under normal conditions. The end of the filament he attached to a bobbin, which was revolved by steam. The process does not seem to be incommode for the spider. After she has been robbed of all her silk, she rests for ten days, and is then ready to yield another supply.

As the silk comes from the spinnerets it is covered with a viscous substance, which is washed off in running water. The filaments are very fine; from eight to twenty-four must be combined to form a single thread. The fabric that these threads produce is much lighter than ordinary silk. For that reason, cords of spider-silk are especially suitable for the nets that enclose balloons.

At present the most promising experiments in the production of spider-silk are carried on in Madagascar. They use a large spider called the halabe. At the school in Tananarivo they pay the natives eight cents a hundred for the spiders, each of which yields a filament from 1,000 to 1,300 feet long. The silk is of a superb glossy yellow, but its color is not permanent.

A Bad Heart, Its Cause and Cure

Many, Firmly Convinced They Are Dying of Heart Trouble, Have Often the Strongest Hearts.

Sometimes you wake up at night, heart throbbing like a steam engine. Your breathing is short and irregular; pains shoot through the chest and abdomen, and cause horrible anxiety.

Your trouble isn't with the heart at all. These sensations are the outcome of indigestion, which has caused gas to form on the stomach and press against the heart.

Just read what happened to Isaac Malloux, of Belle River, Ont.:

"Three months ago I was a weak, sickly man. My appetite was poor, food fermented in my stomach, I had sour risings and indigestion. At night I would often waken with gas in the stomach and heart palpitation."

"I consulted my doctor and used remedies that my friends advised. Nothing helped."

"One day I received a sample of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and my cure commenced. To-day I have a vigorous appetite, strong heart action, and no sign of indigestion. I feel younger and healthier than ever before."

Your druggist or storekeeper sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhzone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

The Charitable Williams.

At the funeral services of an elderly dandy, of Richmond, Va., the following colloquy was overheard between two aged negroes:

"There ain't no use in talkin'," said Mose Barker; "Dick Williams, he was the most charitablest man dis town ever seen."

"I reckon dat's so," said the dandy to whom Mr. Barker imparted this information. And he paused as if waiting for evidence on this point.

"Yessuh," continued Mr. Barker, "Dick Williams, he always owned a plug hat, and durin' my time I ain't never heard dat Dick ever refused to lend dat hat to anybody."

BIG CRACKS ON HAND AND FINGERS

Eczema for Three Years, Broke Out on Head in Scales, Itched and Burned Badly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Lyons Brook, N. S.—"I suffered with eczema for three years. It started on my hands first in sores between my fingers and all over the palms of my hand and fingers were big cracks. Then it broke out on my head in scales. It itched and burned so badly I could not sleep. It was so itching and burning that I scratched and made sores and my hair came out awfully bad. I did not know what it was."

"I was treated for a long time and it did not do any good. I gave up my work for a month but as soon as I started doing my house-work again my hands got just as bad as ever. I used two bottles of Cuticura and it did me no good. One day I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. I sent for a sample and I used them till I saw it stopped the itching and burning, so I got three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and that cured me." (Signed) Mrs. P. J. McKearney, May 27, 1913.

Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczema and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but no other emollients do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalp, dandruff, dry, itchy and falling hair, chapped hands and chapped nails, nor do it so economically. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

Doctors Condemn Oily Liniments

Public Are Warned Against Strong-Smelling, Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids and Ammonia.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin; sets up inflammation, and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, an important physician stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment, such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica, and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but "Nerviline" cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like "Nerviline" in the house, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache, and such minor ailments. "Nerviline" is a first-class cure. There is no ache or pain, internal or external, that "Nerviline" won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that "Nerviline" is the liniment for the home.

Removing a Splinter.

A splinter in the hand is not only uncomfortable, but also dangerous, as it may cause blood-poisoning. You should, therefore, always remove a splinter directly you feel it. If you have no surgical instrument at hand, excellent tweezers can be made from an ordinary wooden match. Split the match a little way down the centre, and to extract the splinter use it just as you would a pair of tweezers.

THROUGH QUICKSAND.

A Party of Men Had a Terrible Experience.

Fording a river where there is quicksand is something like rushing horses out of a burning stable. In "The Last of the Plainsmen" Zane Grey describes how a party of men and horses passed through the treacherous Little Colorado River. It was a wide, shallow stream of swiftly running, reddish-muddy water. Through the channel, cut by floods, little streamlets trickled and meandered in all directions.

The sand seemed firm, but water oozed out round my feet; and when I stepped out, the whole bar shook like jelly. I pushed my foot through the crust, and the cold, wet sand took hold, and tried to suck me down.

"How can you ford this stream with horses?" I asked Emmett.

"We must take our chances," replied he. "We'll hitch two teams to one wagon, and run the horses. I've forded here at worse stages than this. Once a team got stuck and I had to leave it; another time the water was high, and washed me down-stream."

Emmett sent his son into the stream on a mule. The rider lashed his mount, and plunging, splashing along, got through at a pace very near a gallop. He returned in the same manner, and reported one bad place near the other side.

"Jones and I got on the first wagon and tried to coax up the four horses, but they would not start. Emmett had to lash them to start."

them. The other Mormon, standing alongside yelled at them, and used their whips. The wagon howled into the water with a tremendous splash. We were wet through before we had gone twenty feet. The plunging horses were lost in yellow spray; the stream rushed gurgling through the wheels; the Mormons yelled. I wanted to see, but everything was hidden by a veil of yellow mist. Jones yelled in my ear, but I could not hear what he said. Once the wagon-wheels struck a stone or log, and we almost lurched overboard. A muddy splash blinded me. I cried out in my excitement, and punched Jones in the back. The next moment the keen exhilaration of the experience gave way to horror. We seemed to drag, and almost stop.

Some one roared, "Horse down!" There was an instant of painful suspense, in which the imagination pictured another tragedy added to the story of this deceitful river—a moment filled with intense feeling. Then there came a sound of furious splashing and yelling; and so the three horses dragged their comrade out of the quicksand. Once out, he regained his feet, and plunged on. Spurred by fear, all four horses increased their efforts, and amid clouds of spray galloped the remaining distance to the other side.

"We made that fine and easy," remarked Emmett.
