LIFE ON THE SAHARA

Farming is Possible on the African Desert.

Contrary to popular belief, it rains in the Sahara, plants grow there, and animals live there. J. Nicholas Bruce, writing into a Nation, Paris, tells us that this vast region would have been developed long ago but for the anarchy and lack of safety that prevail. Oases may be enlarged, and even created, advantage may be taken of underground streams, and when there is no longer fear of spoliation by nomadic robbers the most favorable places will become settled, as has already happened in some localities protected by the French.

A REMARKABLE OLD PHOTOGRAPH; ONLY TWO IN THIS GROUP ALIVE TODAY

It would be quite difficult nowadays to duplicate a family group as that pictured above. It shows the sixteen members of the well-known Noxon family, taken over forty years ago, when the father, Samuel Noxon, and his wife, Rhoda, celebrated their golden wedding.

veloped and that land long left barren should be restored to cultivation. The surface of the Sahara is estimated at 2,394,000 square kilometers and its population at 450,000 inhabitants. It is incorrect to believe that this expanse is a recent 'emerged' bottom of the ocean. It consists of a vast series of plateaux with a few groups of mountains.

ODE TO THE GIRLS

(By an Ottawa Poet.)

Little girl, you look so small, Don't you wear no clothes at all? Don't you wear no shimmy shirt? Don't you wear no petty skirt? Just your corsets and your hose. Are those all your underclothes? Little girl, you look so slight, When I see you in the light, With your skirts cut rather high, Ain't you 'fraid to show your calf? It must make the fellows laugh. Little girl, what is the cause, Why your clothes are made of gauze? Don't you wear no undervest? What you wear no tulle dress? Do you like those jock & sock? 'Stead of normal underclothes? Little girl, your 'sponders show When the sunlight plays on you; I can see your tinted flesh Through your thinnest gown of mesh. Is it modest do you 'spose? Not to wear no underclothes? Little girl, I see your chest 'Cause you go around half dressed; Yes, I see way past your throat To a region most remote; 'Taint my fault now, don't suppose, Why not wear some underclothes? Little girl, your sox has shoals

Of those little tiny holes; Why you want to show your limb, I don't know—is it a whim? Do you want to catch the eye Of each fellow passing by? Little girl, where is the charm In your long uncovered neck? In the V behind your neck? Is it for the birds to peck? Little girl, I tell you those Ain't so nice as underclothes. Little girl, now listen hear, You would be just twice as dear If you'd cover up your charms — Neck, back, leg, and both your arms. I would take you to some shows, If you'd wear some underclothes. Little girl, your mystery, Luring charms and modesty Is what makes us fellows keen To possess a little queen; But no lover — goodness knows — Wants a girl 'sans' underclothes. S'pose I wore some harem pants, Or no shirt like all my aunts, Or a ringlet through my nose, They'd arrest me, don't you 'spose? I wear a coat of mail, Clothed from head to big toe nail; I must cover up my form, Even when the weather's warm; Can't enjoy the summer throes, Less I garb in underclothes. Little girl, take this advice, And you'll look just twice as nice — I wear a shimmy, petty coat, Closed worked sox — 'et aussit l'autre — Those unspeakable, you see? There's a charm in lingerie.

Warts on the hands is a distinction that troubles many ladies. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove the blemishes without pain. It is far easier to criticize the small mistakes of others than to avoid making a few of the large ones yourself.
