Detroit and New York in Sixteen-Inning Tie

New York, May 20.—New York and Detroit went sixteen innings to a two to two tie yesterday afternoon, the game being called on account of darkness. It was the longest game so far in the big league season, Cullop's error allowing both of Detroit's runs to score in the first inning. The Highlanders tied it up in the ninth. Gedion singled but was forced out by Baker. Caldwell went in to run for Baker, and Nunamaker, a pinch hitter, drove a long single to left center, sending Caldwell to third. Peck's long fly scored him. Two singles and a sacrifice fly gave the Highlanders a run in the fourth. Coveleskie pitched masterly ball throughout, and Cullop, after his initial bobble, went well until the eighth, when he retired in favor of a pinch hitter. Shawkey, who succeeded him, was in fine form.

Great Triple Play Beat Leafs in Ninth

Toronto, May 20.—An international conspiracy to beat the Leafs out of a game of ball was successfully engineered at the Island Stadium yesterday. The Richmond Virginians defeated Toronto 5 to 2. Said conspiracy had its origin in Cuba. From the Pearl of the Antilles it spread to Ireland, thence to the German-American confines of the Southern League. And it spread so fast that the spectators, including the 95th Overseas Battalion, sat agape until the athletes of both sides had disappeared into the clubhouse.

Arragon to Roche to Eibel—a triple play with the bases full and nobody out in the ninth inning—is what accounts in a great measure for the verdict against the Leafs. "It is many a day since a three-pley killing has been performed at the Island Stadium. It came at a time when the Islanders were making a fighting finish to avert what appeared at the opening of the ninth like hopeless defeat.

Entering the said ninth with the count 5 to 1 against the locals, Truesdale started with a base on balls. Blackburne cut a single across second base and Burch rapped so sharply to Pitcher McKenney that the big fellow couldn't get out of the way. He shinned the ball down and made a play to first base to get Burch, but he was too late, and Truesdale scored from second. Big Mac thereupon exhibited what might be described as a willingness to have somebody else do the pitching. He couldn't get the ball over for Red Murray and the bases were again full.

Graham stepped into a fast one and clouted it right square on the nose. The ball sailed like a rifle bullet to Shortstop Angel Arragon, who caught it within an inch of the ground. That is where Cuba figures in the international episode. Angel tossed to Roche at second base. Now Ireland is in. Burch couldn't get back to the bag. Murray had dashed for second at the crack of the ball and when Roche shot the ball to Eibel at first base, German-America had done its part of the dastardly business.

It all happened so rapidly that for a moment many of the fans did not realize that they had seen a rare play. Had Arragon done a little quick thinking he might have stepped into a niche in the Hall of Fame with Neal Ball and Larry Schaffly, both former Leafs, and both of whom are down in the record books as having up-assisted triple plays to their credit.

Mac's case on which the play has ever been made in the major leagues. Schaffly performed the stunt as a member of the Portland team of the Pacific Northwest League. Arragon had only to run across second base and touch Murray coming in and he would have duplicated the feat.

A graceful incident was seen early in the game when Arragon produced a religious medal from beneath his baseball uniform and presented it to Lieut.-Col. Barker, commanding officer of the 95th Battalion, expressing the hope that he and his officers and men would fare well at the front.

Shocker and Herbert Likely to Pitch Double-Header

There will be two games at the Island Stadium in Toronto this afternoon, between the Leafs and Toronto. The first will commence at 2 o'clock and the second at 4. The Richmond club is endeavoring to overcome the lead of the Newark Indians, and it is not necessary to say that the Leafs are intent on vacating the basement. Urban Shocker, who beat the league leaders here on Wednesday will be sent against the Virginians in one of the games, while the task of twirling the other will likely fall upon the capable shoulders of Fred Herbert.

GAINS MADE IN EAST AFRICA

German Defensive Positions Taken, Also a 77 mm. Gun.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, May 20.—The forced retreat of German forces in German East Africa, is announced in an official report issued to-day by the Belgian war department at Havre. The report also claims the taking of highly organized German defensive positions and the capture of a 77-millimetre gun. The text of the report is as follows: "Our operations in Ruanda are developing satisfactorily. Their communications threatened, both by the occupation of Kigali, and by the advance of a Belgian column south of Lake Kivu, and strongly pressed by our troops north of the lake the German forces have retreated.

"General Tombour occupied on May 12 the Mount Kama range, which the enemy had converted into a powerful defensive barrier. A 77-millimetre gun fell into our hands."

Giants Grab Another, Making Ninth Straight

St. Louis, May 20.—New York bunched hits off Sallee yesterday and defeated St. Louis again 5 to 4. It was the Giants' ninth straight victory. Chicago, May 20.—Smith's steadiness in tight places and splendid fielding by his colleagues spoiled most of Chicago's scoring chances yesterday, and Brooklyn won 4 to 2. Strunk, who received a base on balls at the start of the eleventh inning, went to second on McKinn's sacrifice, and scored on Pick's single, after Lajoie had purposely been walked. With runners on second and first and two out in the eleventh, McKinnes, who had the record of twenty putouts, made a wonderful one-hand catch of Libold's liner. Score: R.H.E.

ONTARIO TROOPSHIPS CONVOYED TO NIAGARA

8,000 Soldiers Safely Transported Across Lake Accompanied by Unarmed Scoutships on Lookout for German-American Mines—New Collapsible Lifeboats For Lake Service.

Toronto, May 20.—Not until the last company of 8,000 soldiers in training for overseas service had been landed on the dock at Niagara-on-the-Lake yesterday was it known that the steamer Cayuga of the Niagara Division of the Canada Steamship Lines had been conveyed on every trip since starting to transport soldiers to the Niagara camp. It was the first time that a conveyance had been used on Lake Ontario, an innovation which Mr. W. E. Burke, Assistant General Manager of the Canada Steamship Lines, deemed necessary for the safe movement of so many troops.

While the unarmed steamers Chippewa and Toronto had been used by the soldiers aboard the Cayuga that the steamer, which have been fitted out for several weeks, were crossing the lake for the purpose of testing the engines. If there were any floating German American mines in Lake Ontario in the immediate vicinity of the Niagara River the officers had no knowledge of it, but in order to assure the safe arrival of the soldiers Mr. Burke introduced the conveyance service unknown to the officers of the different battalions or the staff at the Military Headquarters at the Exhibition Camp.

While conveying the Cayuga, the Toronto and Chippewa kept within striking distance of the transport. When the military officers learned of the conveyance service they were loud in their praises of the precautions taken by Mr. Burke.

Four collapsible lifeboats, the first of the kind to be used on Lake Ontario, have reached the city and will be placed on the steamer Cayuga. The boats, which are built on the lines of the Englehart type, greatly resembling a raft in appearance, are being constructed at the shipyards of the Canada Steamship Lines at Sorel. There is accommodation for forty-one people on each lifeboat, which will afford considerable more protection than in the past, in addition to the extra buoyancy apparatus on the steamers.

LIFEBOAT TESTS SUCCESSFUL

Mr. Burke stated that the tests made with the new lifeboats had been most successful, and that it was deemed that a person could get aboard with ease and without any exertion. "It will require several hundred of these lifeboats to fit out all our steamers," said Mr. Burke. "The full supply required for the excursion and tourist steamers of the line running out of Toronto will be ready for installation in a couple of weeks."

Clever Diplomat.

Count Adam Tarnowski, Germany and Austria seem somewhat uncertain about the loyalty of Bulgaria, and both the Teutonic countries have sent their best ambassadors to Sofia in order to keep Bulgaria in the alliance. Bulgaria is represented there by Count Adam Tarnowski, who has assumed so much power that he is virtually dictator of the country. The Count is an Austrian Pole, who saw diplomatic service in Washington and in London. In London he was quite a favorite of the late King Edward, who regarded him as one of the cleverest of the European diplomats. Tarnowski, who is an aristocrat of the first order, is treating the Bulgarians very much in the same way that he treats the peasants on his own estate. King Ferdinand is completely under his control while the Bulgarian premier, Radislavoff, does not think of making a move without having it O.K.'d by the Austrian ambassador.

TEN DAY'S REST IN FUSE ENQUIRY

Physical Weakness of Col. Allison Stopped Examination.

SIR COURTNEY BENNETT IN

Allison Suspicious of Firm He Was Connected With.

Ottawa, May 20.—Col. J. Wesley Allison's testimony before the Meredith-Duff Commission was interrupted yesterday morning and temporarily discontinued owing to the physical weakness of the witness. Col. Allison left the stand after giving evidence for something over two hours, and went to his hotel in charge of his physician. He will continue his evidence in chief when the commission resumes its sittings May 29, and will probably be on the stand for several days under cross-examination by Liberal counsel.

Col. Allison's retirement followed immediately upon the introduction into the evidence by him of the name of Sir Courtney Bennett, former British Consul-General in New York. Col. Allison had referred to certain suspicions he entertained of a firm with which he was dealing on behalf of the Shell Committee, that of Dowling-Forbes. Asked to explain his suspicions, he stated it was rumored in New York that the firm was mixed up with Sir Courtney Bennett, Mr. Geo. F. Henderson, Col. Allison's counsel, interposed, but Mr. Wallace Nesbitt asked whether there was any reason why Sir Courtney Bennett should be protected.

"Let the facts come out. Show up the whole gang," said Sir Sam Hughes, while Mr. J. S. Ewart pointed out that the Opposition had endeavored to make a point of the fact that contracts had been awarded for fuses to the two American firms while presenting another proposition. He was willing to let the matter drop if the Opposition admitted there was no point to make.

Mr. Justice Duff pointed out that Sir Courtney Bennett was not present but stated that if the point were raised it should be investigated. The question had not been settled when Col. Allison left the stand.

HAD ACTED IMPARTIALLY.

The only other feature of the morning's evidence was Mr. Hellmuth's extended examination of Col. Allison as to why he had written letters to the Dowling-Forbes and International Arms and Fuse Companies, with both of whom he was negotiating as to the supply of fuses, disclaiming any desire to obtain a commission, while he had accepted a commission from Mr. B. F. Yoakum of the American Ammunition Company. The most definite answer he gave was that he had not thought it necessary in the case of the last named firm. He stated he was sorry now that he had not informed General Hughes that he expected to receive a commission, and regretted that any wrong impressions should have arisen from this fact. That he had acted impartially in bringing together American manufacturers with a view to tendering for the supplies of fuses was shown by the fact brought out that though he was connected with Mr. Yoakum, of the American Ammunition Company, which he brought in as a competitive factor, he had lent his good offices to Dr. Harris, of the International Fuse Company, a competitor whom he had introduced to General Hughes. The only other witness yesterday was Mr. Ed. Carnegie of the Electric Steel and Metals Company, Welland, a member of the manufacturing group in the Shell Committee. Mr. Carnegie's evidence agreed with that of the other contracting members in that there was never any intention on their part to retain the difference between the War Office allowance and the actual sub-contract prices for shells.

Mr. Carnegie was cross-examined at some length by Mr. Carvell in regard to the contracts let to his company and the prices charged. This line of examination was objected to by Mr. Ewart, K.C., but was permitted by the commissioners up to a certain point on the ground that nobody was being hurt by it. Mr. Carnegie stated that though a manufacturer himself, as well as a contractor under the War Office, he felt it his duty to secure the manufacture of munitions at the lowest prices possible.
