HONOR ROLL AT VICTORIA SCHOOL
UNVEILED ON EMPIRE DAY

Over Hundred and Fifty Ex-Pupils Have Answered the Call of King and Country, Several Made Supreme Sacrifice; Self-Denial Money Presented

Notable and appropriate commemoration of Empire Day was made in Victoria school on Wednesday evening last, the occasion of the unveiling of an honor roll containing the names of more than 150 former pupils of the school who have responded to the call of king and country. The sum of $130.00, raised by the pupils through their "self-denial" efforts, was presented to Mrs. W. C. Livingston, to be forwarded to St. Dunstan's School for the Blind, while Miss Colter, principal of the school, and Miss Falls were honored by being made the recipients of handsome baskets of roses by the pupils.

In the absence of Lt.-Col. Harry Cockshutt, in Montreal, Public School Inspector Kilmer occupied the chair. Prayer by the Rev. Dr. Mackenzie was followed by the unveiling of the honor roll by Miss Hilda Livingston, following which a program was rendered, comprising a solo by Miss Hilda Hurley, a recitation by Miss Anna Ryerson, a violin solo by Miss Mildred Sanderson, and a brief address by Mr. W. S. Brewster, who spoke of the qualities essential to good students, diligence, perseverance, self-denial and fortitude, pointing out the bearing of these virtues in the lives of those whose names appeared upon the honor roll. He emphasized the need for economy and simple living, the sacrifice of all pleasures to the end of ultimate victory, and expressed hope for support from all parties in the government's conscription measure. Following a vocal solo by Miss Marjorie Sweet and a violin selection by Miss Marjorie Jones, the presentation of the children's self-denial money was made by Miss Isabel Palmer. Master Irving Wood delivered a brief address upon the need to be made of the money. A vocal solo was rendered by Miss Aileen Hart, following which the presentation of roses was made to Miss Colter and Miss Falls.

In proposing a vote of thanks to those concerned in the formation of the honor roll, Mrs. Margus gave a brief resume of the work accomplished by the school under Miss Colter's regime, dwelling upon the preparation of the honor roll and the achievement of the Art League. Her vote of thanks was seconded by Mrs. Buck. The presentation of prizes offered by the Horticultural Society for bulbs grown at home then followed, being awarded to Miss Janet Irwin, Miss Ena Minshall and Miss Mary McDonald.

The assigning of the honor roll was in charge of Miss Falls, while the lettering was the work of Inspector Kilmer and the shield, comprising the flag of the allies, the contribution of Mr. Styles, teacher of manual training. In view of the great difficulty in obtaining a full list of names of all former pupils, the list of names of all former pupils of the school now serving overseas, there is a possibility that some names have been omitted, but the school officials are desirous of stating that any such will be added to the list if sent in. The roll is as follows:

THE BRANT

A powerful holiday and week-end bill is that offered at the Brant Theatre the last of this week, headed by Kathryn Williams and Theodore Roberts, co-starring in a gripping Paramount production "The Cost of Hatred." A picture of intense dramatic possibilities, "The Cost of Hatred" proves an admirable vehicle for two such noted screen stars, Miss Williams' dramatic abilities giving her a place among the foremost of her profession while Theodore Roberts is probably unequalled upon the screen today as a portrayal of vivid and powerful character roles. The eighth chapter of the thrilling pre-adventure serial "Patricia" again features Mrs. Vernon Castle. Dolly Bennett and Young, presenting a singing and musical offering of high class nature, in loud applause while the Three Cantons, Sensational Hand Balancers, offer a high class acrobatic performance.

HOW JIMMY CHIPMUNK GOT HIS BLACK STRIPES

Jimmy Chipmunk lived with Mamma Chipmunk in a gray stone wall near an old farmhouse.

One Sunday morning Mamma Chipmunk dressed Jimmy in his pretty new coat and started him off to Sunday school that was held in the hollow of the oak tree near the roadside.

"Don't stop to play, and be careful of your new coat," said Mamma Chipmunk as she watched him run over the stones to the road.

"Chip, chee!" Jimmy heard above his head, and looking up he saw his little friend, Johnny Chipmunk, among the branches of a tree loaded with cherries.

"Hello, Jimmy!" called Johnny, as he sat munching a red ripe cherry. "Better come on up."

Then Jimmy forgot all about his new coat, climbed the tree, and was soon eating cherries at Johnny's side. They were so busy that they didn't hear Daddy Gray Squirrel as he opened his door and came softly along the branches.

"I'll teach you not to take my cherries!" cried Daddy Gray Squirrel as he chased Jimmy and Johnny down the tree.

Jimmy and Johnny ran into the grass and out to the road. "Listen!" exclaimed Johnny as he sat up and picked up his ears. Just then Big Black Dog bounded around the corner and the chipmunks made a dive for the stone wall.

Jimmy didn't see the thorny bush that lay across his path, and as he squeezed under his pretty red coat caught on the thorns and held him fast. Johnny hid in the stone wall. Jimmy with a terrible pull tore his coat loose and scampered across the fields toward his home as fast as he could.

Mamma Chipmunk, hearing the noise, came running around the stones saw Jimmy with his pretty new coat all torn and began to scold him.

"How in the world did you tear your coat like that?" asked Mamma Chipmunk. Jimmy, starting to cry, told her how it all happened.

"If it hadn't been for Big Black Dog it wouldn't have happened!" cried Jimmy.

But Mamma Chipmunk said it served him right for not obeying, and she took a needle and mended the three ugly rips in Jimmy's red coat.

"Now don't you look pretty!" said Mamma Chipmunk when she saw the black lines running from Jimmy's tail almost to his front legs. "Well, you can't have another coat," scolded Mamma Chipmunk, and to this day you can see Jimmy Chipmunk playing over the stones, and down his back run the black patches Mamma Chipmunk sewed there.
