ESTABLISHED 1854

The house now known as RYRIE BROS. is one of the oldest and best established jewelry houses in Canada.

Although established in 1854 it has only been under its present management for one-quarter of a century.

We have striven to conduct it upon such lines that "if it is from Ryrie Bros. you know it is good" has come to be an accepted axiom.

If you have any need in the jewelry line, however small, write us a letter, and try our Mail Order Department—it is positively good.

RYRIE BROS.,

The Whole Story in a letter:

Pain-Killer
(PERRY DAVIS)
From Capt. F. L. Perry, Police Station No. 1, Montreal: "We frequently use PERRY'S PAIN-KILLER for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, stiff joints, neuralgia, etc., and it is the best remedy I have ever used. It is the best remedy I have ever used."

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED
POND'S EXTRACT
ON BURNS, SPRAINS, WOUNDS, BRUISES OR ANY SORT OF PAIN.
Used Internally and Externally. CAUTION! Avoid the weak, watery which are often sold as "Pond's Extract," which is not the same as the "Pond's Extract" which is the only one that contains "wood alcohol" an irritant and, taken internally, a poison.

Curious Bits of News.

A Chinese writer says that "among the 400,000,000 of Chinese there are fewer murders and robberies in a year than there are in New York State."

Half a century ago a thin stream of Niagara Falls was first led aside to turn a grist-mill. To-day a larger stream, which diminishes seriously the amount of water that passes over the fall, furnishes almost half a million horse-power.

Doctor Voge, the director of the Buenos Ayres National Board of Health, reports that during a recent trip to Paraguay he accidentally discovered that naphthalene is an excellent remedy for mosquito bites. It neutralizes the poison, he says, even when the bite has caused considerable inflammation, and if a fresh bite be rubbed with naphthalene no swelling follows.

One of the great packing-houses of Chicago has prohibited profanity upon its premises. The primary purpose of the order was to protect employees against abuse by swearing foremen or overseers. In commenting on the order the Chicago "Post" says: "It is one of the better signs of the times that in these days the men at the head of affairs are presumed to be, if not Christians, at any rate gentlemen. They find ways enough of making their wishes intelligible and effective without resort to bluster or swag or the indecencies of blasphemy."

Comparisons between the cost of government in France to-day and during the last year of the empire are being made; to the disadvantage of the republic. In 1899 the total cost amounted to $385,000,000. In the year ending March 31, 1901, the expenditure amounted to $590,000,000. Meantime the population has remained almost stationary, and the per capita cost of government for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1901, was $1.10, as compared with $1.00 in 1899.

In Tunkin, Indo-China, there is a timber-mine in good working order. In a sand formation, at a depth of from fourteen to twenty feet, a deposit of trunks of trees has been found, and from this deposit the people dig timber. It is procured in good condition, and is used for making coffins and troughs and for carving. The trunks are many of them three feet in diameter and forty-five feet long, being apparently the remains of fir-trees which were buried thousands of years ago by an earthquake. There is an extensive forest in this sand formation, and the timber, although it has been buried so long, is not in the form of coal. This somewhat strange fact is accounted for by the peculiarly resinous character of the wood and the sandiness of the soil. Access to the mines is obtained by gangways.

How Romance Had Vanished.

"Is romance dead?" sighed the tall Beef-and-Girl, as she wiped from the marble-topped table the bits of sinkers and combination coffee whistles. "I fear it is," said the short, stout, round-faced man, who was sitting opposite to her. "I fear it is indeed the case. When first I came to this place and found myself surrounded on every side by the kindling masculine eye, how thrilled I was in every fibre! Every putty-faced ribbon clerk I regarded as a potential admirer, every nickel I found beneath the butter-plate I received almost as a caress. How bitterly I do regret! In all too short a time I learned that the languishing glances cast on me, and all the apparent favors of those who came to 'No. 17' every noon, were but deceiving wiles to ensnare me into giving three slices of bread instead of two with a ten-cent order, or two portions of syrup instead of one with the buckwheats!"

"Thus, with the knowledge that the beings whom I served had thoughts no more ethereal than the sinkers they devoured, died my poetry within me. As I ceased to feel any fervor for those around me, so I began to lose interest in myself. My voice, which was dulcet when first I called, 'Draw one—with-out!' has now been hardened to sordid harmony with the clattering knives and falling plates, and with the utmost indifference I enunciate, 'Brown the hash—seventeen, 'Corn-beef—'an—New York,' and the other phrases in my melancholy vocabulary. No more do I view with tender interest the pleuriter in hope that his wedge-shaped slice will slip and a fraction more of coconut or cornstarch than the regulation allowance be bestowed on a new customer with a blonde moustache. No more do I tip into his dish an extra spoonful of apple-sauce, nor smile vaguely when he asks me if I know anyone who'd like to take a little blow down to Coney some warm evening. Too often have I been deceived."

"Naught is left for me, but pessimism and ennui. Lobsters and champagne? Bah! Food I see too much of and too often. Diamonds and silk petticoats? What good are clothes to me? I must wear my black and white and eather belt and number 'seventeen,' and that is all. Romance? Ah—'tis dead! And as for life, I say, as does the egg man when he has boiled 'two medium,' 'Take it away! Take it away!'—New York 'Evening Sun.'"

A Fortunate Delay.

In "Life and Sport on the Pacific Coast" Mr. Horace A. Vachell relates one of his narrow escapes from a "friend's bullet."

"My cousin and I had been camping and hunting for several days in a sort of Paradise valley. One day, during a long ride on horseback, we had seen a great many rattlesnakes, and killed a few—an exceptional experience. That night my cousin woke up and saw, by the light of the moon, a big rattlesnake crawling across my chest. He lay for a moment fascinated, horror-stricken, watching the sinuous curves of the reptile. Then he quietly reached for his hip-shooter. But he could not see the reptile's head, and he moved nearer, so close that he was breathing on the snake's head, and he moved nearer, so close that he was breathing on the snake's head, and he moved nearer, so close that he was breathing on the snake's head."

Free medical advice. Men and women suffering from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, absolutely without fee or charge. For more than thirty years Dr. Pierce has been consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Sanatorium of Buffalo, N. Y. Doctor Pierce has devoted himself to the treatment and cure of chronic forms of disease. Assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist, his success has been phenomenal, ninety-eight persons in every hundred are cured. Women have especially availed themselves of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, thereby avoiding the unpleasant questionings, the obnoxious examinations, and odious local treatments considered necessary by some practitioners. Over half a million women have been treated by Dr. Pierce and his staff for diseases peculiar to women, with unvarying success. Write without fear as without fee. Every letter is treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers are sent in plain envelopes bearing no printing upon them. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Mummy as Hostess.

M. GUIMET, the celebrated Orientalist, who has founded in Paris a museum which bears his name, gave the other day a five o'clock tea, "to meet the beautiful Thais," relates a correspondent in Paris. Thais, as one knows, was the famous courtesan who lived in the third century, and was so blonde and lovely that all the gentlemen of Alexandria lost their appetites and sleep on her account. The smartest people were invited, and, to begin with, an excellent luncheon was served. This was a wise precaution, for—who knows?—they might not have been able to enjoy the rare Oriental sweets of M. Guimet after they had paid their visit to Thais, in her sarcophagus, for Thais was a mummy.

The once beautiful lady received her visitors lying down on her narrow couch of white marble. A rosewater veil of gold was on her face, which is somewhat damaged, while in her dainty slippers of scarlet cloth embroidered with real pearls very little feet were to be seen. But she still wore her superb hair, once like liquid copper, now somewhat faded and of a vague color, though abundant and silky. Round her neck was a necklace found by two rows of unpolished pearls. Her woolen yellowish gown is of a texture so fine that nothing of the kind could be found nowadays, and the whole body of orange striped silk, which is tied round her waist by a sash of the most delicate salmon-pink hue.

Beside her were many pretty things, such as a bracelet in silver filigree, two mugs of chiseled gold, two bronze crosses—for Thais became a Christian while she was still young and lovely—and a sort of prayer-book in light lath of palm wood. A few other mummies keep her company, most of them being also surrounded by quaint and curious things very interesting to look at. One of the most clever lady writers was so struck by them that she is going to write a series of articles on the subject, beseeching the friends and relations of our modern dead to imitate the people of antiquity and fill their tombs with articles that were once beloved by them, so that some 2,000 years hence scholars and artists may form an idea of the Parisian civilization in the twentieth century.

Some Scotch Examination Papers.

London "Chronicle."

A correspondent proposes the following questions for the next matriculation examination at the Scotch universities: First—Geography—Draw a map of the United States, marking London, Glasgow and Birmingham. Second—Rule of Three—If a man does a piece of work in four days, how much quicker will an American do it at half the salary? Third—Politics—Boomerang—The Yankee millionaires over here state they "feel as if they were their own country." The German Emperor, when last visiting us, declared he felt "perfectly at home." Account for this. Fourth—History—Write a note on the invasions of Great Britain and the rebellion and subsequent subjugation of the Angles. Give dates of the reigns of James I., James II., and George I. of Great Britain. Give dates of the reigns of George I., George II., and George III. of Great Britain. Give dates of the reigns of George I., George II., and George III. of Great Britain.

Le Gallienne as Satirist.

In the "Rambler," Numb. 216, Richard Le Gallienne, Esquire, has what he himself would no doubt call a "little paper" on "The Satirist of the Star for the Month." We help ourselves to the following excerpts: "Of course, there are very big successful stars who affect that the Hero-worshipper Moth is a nuisance, and build themselves about with Bastions of Privacy, through which no ray of their shining can reach the most persevering Moth—but then, you see, they are so sure of their Moths. I wonder if the Time should come when the Flocks of Moths should be taken care of by the Moth-keepers. I wonder if the Moths should be taken care of by the Moth-keepers. I wonder if the Moths should be taken care of by the Moth-keepers."

"I have heard that some Stars of this Magnitude charge the Moth with a Guinea for their Autographs—strictly, of course, for the Benefit of the Hospitals. Such Stars are, you can imagine, very sure of themselves. But there is another Kind of Big Star that makes quite as fine a Blaze as those of which I have been speaking, yet is by no means so unsozial: on the contrary is smilingly, even eagerly, accessible to every Moth that is so kind and appreciative as to take the Trouble to call with its Homage. It often indeed asks the Moth to stay for Lunch, and makes it promise to be sure to come again."

Accounted For.

Mrs. Stinson—Willie, your shirt is dripping. Willie—Yes'm. Some boys tempted me to go in swimming, and I ran away from them so hard that I got into an awful perspiration. "Basar."

What It Meant.

Mrs. Von Blumer—How tired I am of society—nothing but foam and froth, nothing deep or lasting, nothing worth while—no sincerity anywhere. Von Blumer—Who's snubbed you now?—"Basar."
