ASSESSMENT APPEALS FEW

And Few of Them Are of Very Much Importance.

City's Liability For Accidents at Technical School.

Board of Education Will Likely Insure Students.

Less than half the inumber of appeals ceived in 1908 have been filed with the Assessment Commissioner this year 418 were received, as compared with 848 last year. They are mostly of minor importance, many of them being simply changes of names and measure simply changes of names and measure-ments, so that the Court of Revision is not likely to do much pruning. Ward 3 has the largest number of appeals, 88. The other wards are as follows: Ward 1, 48; Ward 2, 66; Ward 4, 62; Ward 5, 41; Ward 6, 54; Ward 7, 59.

An accident at the new Technical School recently, in which a boy, Leslie McDonald, had the end of his finger cut off by a saw, has brought up the question of the city's hability in cases of this kind, and the School Trustees at their next meeting will consider the advisability of making an arrangement with an insurance company to protect the Board against actions for damages for injuries. Atthough every possible precaution has been taken in the way of installing safety devices, it is feared that some of the pupils, through carelessness, inexperience or otherwise, may lose a hand or arm by coming in contact with high speed saws. The vibration from the machinery is causing considerable annoyance in the drafting room, and the shafting will have to be changed.

The latest financial reports show that Hamilton obtained for the $80,000 school debentures sold recently the highest price secured by any United States or Canadian numicipality during the past month. Hamilton sold on a basis paying 4.144 to the investor. Other places sold on the following basis: Marion county, O., 4.30; Park City, Tenn., 4.799; Portland, Ore., 5.501; Rock River, O., 4.164; San Bernardino, 4.297; Wood county, O., 4.181; Orktown, Sask., 4.964.

The city will endeavor this afternoon or to-morrow to get a definite answer from the Street Railway Company as to the re-construction work it is prepared to proceed with next year. As soon as this is known the Board of Works will send the good roads by-law on to the Council.

As a result of the advance in cement prices due to the recent merger, some of the municipalities are talking of taking concerted action to protect themselves. The city officials here are of the opinion that the cement prices will be regulated aufficiently to shut out competition with United States companies. They expect that the price will advance to about $1.50 a barrel and remain there.

The Parks Board on Wednesday night The Parks bowl of wentermy ingite will deal with the petition for the removal of the iron fence around Gore Park. The idea is to replace it with a heavy cement curb and erect ornamental electric lights, to be paid for by merchants along King street.

Provincial Secretary Hanna will here to-morrow morning to confer with the Sewers Committee and city officials about the Asylum sewer and west end sewage disposal plant. The city will sewage disposal plant. The city will ask the Government to contribute about one-third of the cost.

John Shuart was granted a permit to-day for a brick house on Emerald street, hetween Hunter and Stinson streets, for A. Myers, to cost $2,200.

City Engineer Macallum is at Beach this afternoon, laying out the for the new power house.

SCHOOLS IN VALLEY TOWN

Are Closed on Account of Prevalence of Scarlet Fever.

Dundas, Oct. 18 .- Another rather sud den death in town was that at noon yes terday of Wm. Sheehan, a track em-ployee of the H. & D. Railway. He had t been well for a few days, having had a touch of pleurisy, but was able to be up yesterday, and no fears were en-tertained until just before the final sum-be up yesterday, and no fears were entertained until just before the final summons came.

The local lodge of Masons attended service at the Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, when Rev. Mr. Harvey preached to them an impressive and able sermon. There was a very good attendance of Dundas members, and their number was considerably augmented by brethren from Hamilton and elsewhere. Mrs. W. H. C. Fisher, in a very kind and sympathetic letter, has severed her connection with the Methodist Church choir, of which she has been a valued member almost since childhood.

The Public School, with the exception of the two senior rooms, and the Separate School, are closed, owing to the prevalence of scarlet fever, and a number of the boys are using the enforced holiday in gathering nuts, which this year are a record yield in this vicinity, an indication, it is said, of a hard winter.

Complying with the desire of the Board of Health, there were no sessions of the various Sunday schools yesterday.

The song service of the Y. M. C. A.

day.

The song service of the Y. M. C. A. was again held last eyening in the moving picture theatre, and the attendance was unusually large.

Fred Austin, of Toronto, paid his paternal home here a visit yesterday.

Will Sturrock, a Dundas young man, is reported to be laid up with searlet fever.

$10,000 Ring Gone

New York, Oct. 18 .- It became known last night that a diamond necklace, valued at $10,000, and a ring set with four diamonds, disappeared last month from the workshop of Tiffany & Co., on Fifth avenue. The necklace had and it was placed in care of the head jeweler in the workshop.

While out for luncheon, he left the jewels in a box on his table, and when he returned the necklace was missing. The employ ees were rounded up and searched but no clue developed. The ring disappeared in a like manner a days later. Detectives have been at work on both cases for more than two weeks.

FORCED TO CALL HALT

Independent Boards Must Not Squeeze Council.

Mayor Discusses Finances With Trustees.

$320,000 For Schools in Last Two Years.

A deputation from the Board of Education, headed by Chairman Lamoreaux of the Finance Committee, and Chairman Allan, of the Building Committee called on Mayor McLaren at noon today in connection with the Board's request for authority to issue debentures to the amount of $60,000 for the new addition to the Victoria avenue school. After threshing the matter out it was agreed that Secretary Foster should nake out a statement showing what the make out a statement showing what the Board will be in a position to do next year with its appropriation, without reising the rate. The school rate at present is six mills, made up of 46-10 mills for public schools; I I-10 mills for the Collegiate, and 3-10 of a mill for the Technical School. The rate for the Technical School this year, however, only covered four months, as the school was not opened until September. If the $80,000 is spent on the Victoria avenue school it will make $320,000 the Board has spent in two years.

school if will make $320,000 the Board has spent in two years.

"What we want to avoid," said Mayor McLaren, after the deputation left, "is raising the rate. The time has come when the Council can be squeezed no longer by the independent boards. The Council cannot get along with less money than it has at present."

He thinks the $3.500 that the Council

than it has at present."

He thinks the $3.500 that the Council was in the habit of granting to the old Hamilton Art School might go to the new Technical School.

The argument used by the trustees is that with the annexation of the new territory east of Sherman avenue, they will be forced to provide more school accommodation. By having a new school on Victoria avenue, they can move the pupils from east of Sherman avenue at the Barton street school.

Notwithstanding the heavy expenditure of the past four or five years the Mayor takes a very cheerful view of the future. "If we can get these improvements without increasing the rate, "he said," it is not very long before we should be able to reduce it. Before that is done, however, the people will get the benefit of a reduction on their water rates."

He thinks the Board of Education after it completes the addition to the water rates."

He thinks the Board of Education after it completes the addition to the Victoria Avenue School, should be able to get along for four or five years without any more new schools.

Local Police Look For His Discharge To-morrow.

Story About Crossing Back Yard Cannot be True.

The Hamilton police to-day expressed the opinion that Edward William Bedfort, who was remanded until his sensa-tional story about having murdered Ethel Kinrade could be investigated, will be released when he appears in the London police court to-morrow. No official word has been received here as to what had passed between the London authorities and the Attorney-General's department.

and the Attorney-General's department. The police merely base their opinion on the discrepancies in the man's story.

"That part about him having crossed the lawn or backyard to escape is ridiculous," said Detective-Inspector McMahon. "I was there shortly after they removed the corpse and followed Detective Bleakley's footsteps down the yard. You could trace the marks of a sparrow in the snow and the only footsteps were those of the girl."

The Inspector says another ridiculous feature of the story is that Bedfort went to the house and was able to distinguish between two girls he had never seen before.

AT REST.

Port Dalhousie Pays Respect to Late Capt. Irving.

The last respects of many friends were paid to the late Captain William John Irving at his father's residence, 88 Wellington street south, yesterday. The funeral service at the house was con ducted by the Rev. E. J. Etherington at p. m., after which the body left on the Grand Trunk 2.20 train for St. Catharines, thence to Port Dalhousie, where the interment took place. The pall-bearers were: William Malloy, R. W. Davis, Jas. Hamilton, Jas. L. Porteous, James Gallagher and Wm. Coote. At Port Dalhousie, the birthplace, and for years the home of deceased, the flags were at half-mast and many tokens of regret were visible. The full service of the Church of England was held in St. John's Church, conducted by Rev. Mr. Gordon. The pall-bearers there were six of the comrades of deceased. Capt. The southeast end aldermanic candidates will have to declare themselves on the Jolley Cut policy, and the present aldermen should get busy before it is too late. This is a live issue, and it can't be pooh-poohed to one side any longer. What was that Ald. Crerar remarked?

Mr. Berlinghoff might jump on a car and go up to Dundurn Castle and take a look at those buffalo. As wards of the city, they don't seem to be any too well provided for. I think the next Grand Jury should take a peep at both them and the unhappy bears.

Sir James Whitney still refuses to investigate the lodge affairs. Many workingmen have invested their all in that bit of insurance, but Sir James doesn't seem to worry over that.

I have received several copies of the Woman's World, a newspaper clipping and a private letter from a Hamilton lady interested in the white slave traffic who expresses disappointment at the who expresses disspipointment at the attitude of the Man in Overalis on that subject, and who is anxious to warn both men and women of the extent and enormity of the evil. I am told that there are 25,000 the extent and enormity of the evil. I am told that there are 25,000 white slaves in Chicago, that other cities are not much better, that 80 parcent. of these women are slaves against their will, that it is not safe for young girls to go to a large city alone, that men and women invesigle girls into the business, and that young men acting as procurers propose marriage and elopement to their dupes, landing them in this slavery, where they are kept prisoners until their spirit is broken, utuable in the heart of a large city to communicate with friends or secure their freedom, with much more to the same effect. The picture is a dark one, and the Man in Overalls possesses no language strong enough to express his detestation of the traffic. However, I would be surprised to hear that white slavery exists to any extent in Hamilton. The social evil, however, is here, and I should be glad were means found to exterminate it. Recognizing the evil and the apparent inability of the authorities to successfully cope with it, I have, in my own weak way, from time to time warned parents of the dangers their daughters run from associating with chance acquaintances in the street, and pleaded with the girls to so conduct themselves that such will receive no encouragement to make advances to them. If I have erred in thus acting I am sorry. At the same time, I have nothing but condempt for the vile cur-perhaps some mother's pet—who for his own selfish gratification, leads a girl astray.

Quite a little interest was taken in the Newcombe piano contest, which closed on Saturday evening. This morning representatives of the three city newspapers, Times, Spectator and Herald, met at the warerooms, 12 Hughson street north, and opened the letters extaining the bids. Mr. F. A. Green, of the Palm Parlors, 175 King street east, was the winner, his offer being the highest, $267. The contest was for a handsome Newcombe piano worth $365, and Measrs. Sheldrick & Son took this means of advertising their new premises, and, incidentally, the merits of this first class instrument.

John Judge on Trial For Pointing Revolver.

Witness Tells of Him Threatening Hotel Man.

The Revolver Was Loaded-Said He Was Drunk. (Special Wire to the Times.)

London Oct. 18.—The court was packed to the doors this morning when John Judge, whiskey spotter for cial Government, appeared for hearing on the charge of pointing a revolved at C. James and Thomas Edwards or Wednesday last. Thomas Edwards swore that when he was in the Harriswore that when he was in the Harrison House Judge and Morden, came in and Bremmer Harrison, proprietor, ordered them out. Judge walked up to Harrison, and witness stepped between them, whereupon Judge whipped a revolver from his pocket and placed it in his face with the muzzle toward him, and said: "You stand back. I've got something that will fix you." Judge also pulled a billy to show how strongly he was armed. Later Morden and Judge went into the bar and demanded drinks, but were refused. While there John MacArthur grappled with Judge and took away the revolver. It contained five cartridges.

This evidence was fully corroborated by Beverley Robinson, who in the barroom, and stated that Judge and MacArthur were finally thrown out.

MacArthur corroborated the above evidence, and said that in the barroom Judge said he wanted to talk to him. Witness told him to go away. He did not want to talke to him, and Judge put his hand to his hip and had the revolver half drawn when MacArthur grappled with him and took it away. On opening it, each of the five chambers was loaded, Constable Lucas, who arrested Judge said he was drunk. son House Judge and Morden, came in to reveal any cause of death other than that mentioned.

Mr. Biggar left the city early on Saturday morning to go to Hamilton, travelling by the Grand Trunk train, and a few hours later his dead body was found on the double main track a short distance west of Bronte. A few scars on the face were the only injuries apparent, and in view of the family history his father having died of apoplexy, and of the fact that the deceased had recently been in rather poor health, it is supposed that, seated in the train, he had been seized with an apoplectic attack, and leaving the car to obtain relief in the fresh air, had fallen on to the track, death being instantaneous. The body was observed by the engineer of a train passing east, who had it conveyed to Burlington, where a thorough examination failed and a few hours later his dead body where a thorough examination failed to reveal any cause of death other than that mentioned.

The eldest son of the late James Lyons Biggar, who represented East Northumberland in the Dominion Parliament for seventeen years, the deceased was born at Murray, Ontario, in 1847. He was educated at Victoria College and Cobourg Grammar School, and graduated at the University of Toronto, where he had a distinguished career, taking his B. A. degree in 1869 and the M. A. in 1874, and winning the medal for natural selence. In 1872 he entered the City Solicitor's office as assistant to the late Hon. John Beverlev Robinson.

On giving up the City Solicitorship he entered the firm of Biggar & Burton, but latterly devoted himself to literary work. In legal and municipal circles he is best known as the author of the "Manual of Municipal Law" a work which acquired for him no inconsiderable reputation, and his "Life of Sir Oliver Mowat" was also well received.

A member of the Church of England and for some time Registrar of the Diocese of Toronto, Mr. Bigggar was actively connected first with the Church of the /Ascension and latterly with St. Goerge's.

And George Smith, Austrian, Fined by Magistrate.

Sunday Drunks From Outside Were Fined $5 Each.

Police Court was again very light this morning. There were merely a few week end drunks and two other cases, chief of which was that of George Smith, an Austrian, who was charged with pointing a revolver and threatening Sofie Markovich, who has been living with him in one of the foreigners' camps near him in one of the foreigners' camps near Waterdown, where the Hydro-Electric contractor has a number of men working. The assault took place on Saturday afternoon. After all the evidence had been submitted, the charge was reduced to one of common assault, and defendant was fined $10 and costs or one month.

A. M. Lewis appeared for Smith, and at first declined to elect, but he afterwards was agreeable to having the charge reduced to common assault, as his client pleaded guilty to striking the woman twice with his fist, but not to threatening or pointing a revolver.
