New Giant Liner.

The Aquitania Removed From Clydebank.

The delicate operation of transferring the great Cunard liner Aquitania from Clydebank to the Tail of the Bank at Greenock was successfully accomplished on Sunday. On Tuesday the vessel left at noon to carry out a sea test of 48 hours' duration. She was then to proceed to Liverpool to prepare for her maiden voyage to New York on May 30.

The awkwardness of the task on Sunday may be judged by the fact that for the greater part of the journey, a distance of about 14 miles, the channel of the Clyde is only about 500 ft. wide, while the Aquitania is 900 ft. long. The gravest anxiety was felt by the Clyde Trustees and the builders, Messrs. John Brown and Co. because any mishap to the great liner during her progress down the river would have meant bottling up Glasgow Harbor. The Aquitania had raised steam in half of her boilers in order to aid her in negotiating the awkward bends in the river, and accompanied by four tugs ahead and two tugs astern she set off down the river about 11 o'clock in the forenoon. When opposite Dalmuir, where the worst bend in the Clyde had to be negotiated, the vessel almost met with disaster when turning the corner. Her head swung dangerously near the south bank, and it looked as if she would run ashore. The Aquitania at once went astern with her starboard engine, while the tugs pulled at her bows in an effort to bring her into midstream again. For a few seconds it seemed as if they were to be unsuccessful, but after 10 minutes' strenuous work she was once more got under way. On reaching Greenock about half-past 1 she cast off the tugs and proceeded at a speed of about 12 knots down the Clyde to Wemyss Bay, where her compasses were adjusted, and she underwent helm trials. Shortly after 4 she returned to the Tail of the Bank and dropped anchor.

Extraordinary public interest was manifested in the event, and during her progress down the river, the Aquitania was witnessed by crowds numbering close upon half a million people. In some instances the forenoon services in the churches were postponed.—Ex. May 15.

The Speed Maniac.

Where'er
he hies he simply flies, the dust behind him thickens past my anode he burns the road, and kills my pup and chickens. He toots his horn as though in scorn of folks who travel slowly; like falling star his noisy car attains a speed unholy. He does not care for your despair, nor heeds your angry feelings;
he scoots and rips and tears and zips, with drunken leaps and reelings.
For poor galoot who toils aloof, he does not care a stiver; he scares the mules the farmer toots—they bolt and kill the driver. Along his track, for meters back, his dead and injured are lying;
he merely shifts,
at mangled stiffs,
and still he goes a-flying. When brought to court this measly sport is taxed a few plasters, when he wall for years in jail for causing such disasters.
Throughout the land this thing we stand—we stand it 'cause we've got to—and all our kicks don't serve to fix the saphead with the auto. Perhaps some time twill count as crime to run amuck doggone it,
along the pike, and chase and strike and maim
the people on it.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your Office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GEO. KNOWLING CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr.
Percie Johnson represents this world-known firm in Newfoundland—
