OFFICIAL.
LONDON, July 7.
 The Governor, Newfoundland:
 General French reports that the Germans on the fifth rushed a barricade on the Ypres-Roulers railway. Our troops recaptured the position by a counter-attack. Two hundred yards of enemy trenches were captured north of Ypres on the sixth, and 80 prisoners were taken.

The French Government reports activity at various points. A trench on the heights of the Meuse where the enemy had gained a footing on June 27th, was recaptured, and German counterattacks repulsed in disorder with heavy loss.

The Russian Government report the hostile offensive, east of Krasnik, stopped by an attack on the enemy's flank. Over 2,000 prisoners were taken, about 2,000 enemy dead remained before the Russian front.

The Italian Government report fighting developing in the Isonzo zone the enemy offering very stubborn resistance.

BONAR LAW.
WILL REVOLUTIONIZE SUBMARINE WARFARE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 A London cable to the Tribune says that according to a famous British scientist, an Englishman has just made a discovery which will revolutionize submarine warfare. He states that the inventor is one of the members of the committee appointed by the Royal Society to deliberate on scientific problems arising out of the war. The invention is an apparatus whereby a submarine can locate another submarine within a radius of twenty miles and keep in touch with it while within the radius. If the device is successful, then henceforth British submarines will be able to run down and fight German undersea craft. Scientists gave the story as an instance of what scientific men are able to do when attention is concentrated on war problems, predicting that within a few months, as a result of Lord Fisher's appointment as chairman of the Naval Inventions Board, which will include the cream of British scientists, new discoveries will be made which will astonish the world.

ENEMY SHIPS DESTROYED.

LONDON, July 7.
 An Athens correspondent telegraphs the following: A French destroyer made a tour of the Asia Minor coast from Chios to Klobama, visiting all the bays and harbors. The warship destroyed twelve vessels acting as enemy supply ships, and set fire to Bermin Forest. Another French destroyer bombarded Hesia Cheesneh and Agallor, destroying the lighthouse and custom station, and sinking several ships.

SHOT DOWN GERMAN FLAG.

LONDON, July 7.
 The French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc has again bombarded the Turkish town of Alexandria (near Cape Baba). The Turkish authorities, the despatch adds, refused to haul down the German flag flying over the German Consulate, and it was shot down by the French warship.

A RUSSIAN REPORT.

PETROGRAD, July 7.
 The following official statement was issued last night from the headquarters of the army of the Caucasus: In the coast region, there has been an artillery duel. A Russian motor boat sunk a Turkish sailing vessel south of the Karad-Dagh range. A Russian detachment encountered a regiment of enemy infantry with artillery, machine guns and two squadrons of cavalry. The enemy force were defeated and heavy losses were inflicted upon them. West of Ahlavat the Turks attempted an offensive but failed. On the rest of the front there has been no change.

FIGHTING CONTINUES VIGOROUSLY.

UDINE, Italy, July 7.
 Fighting along the Austrian frontier continues with uninterrupted violence, consisting chiefly of artillery duels with heavy guns. Especially severe are the battles around Bredil Pass and Malborgeth forts, where the Italians are attacking in an attempt to open the way to Tarvis, which is considered the key to the interior of Austria.

TURKISH ATTACK FAILS.

PARIS, July 7.
 The French War Office this afternoon gave out the following: In the Dardanelles on the 5th July, the Turks delivered a general attack, the most important they have undertaken since their effort in the early days of May. Their purpose was to drive us into the sea. At 4 o'clock in the morning artillery fire was opened on our first lines as well as on the zone behind the lines occupied by French and British troops. The enemy subsequently endeavored to deliver several infantry attacks, but none was successful in coming as far as our trenches. Decimated by our artillery fire and mowed down by our rifles and our machine guns, most of our assailants never left the field of battle. During this action the batteries of the enemy on the Asiatic coast fired without interruption. A Turkish cruiser steaming between Mios and Chanad also took part in the engagement. On several different occasions aviators of the enemy bombarded our lines.

GERMAN SPIES SENTENCED.

VENICE, July 7.
 Capt. Liebscher and engineer Hoff, of the German steamer Lemnos, under detention by the Italian authorities since the outbreak of the war, have each been condemned to ten years' imprisonment in solitary confinement. They were convicted on a charge of spying. Other members of the crew were acquitted.

GERMAN SUBMARINES FOR THE ST. LAWRENCE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 The Tribune says that Germany plans to carry her submarine warfare into American waters. According to a reserve officer of the German navy, who is understood to be cognizant of his intentions, Admiral von Tirpitz's plan, as outlined, provides for the establishment of a submarine base off the Canadian coast, with the view of sinking every vessel leaving Halifax and Quebec for British ports. In well-informed German circles, rumors of an important submarine campaign against central and eastern Canada have been rife. It has been generally known that von Tirpitz has given all his energies to the revision of the methods by which it is understood the fleet can prevent great quantities of munitions, shipped from Canada to England, from reaching their destination.

BOMBS FAILED TO EXPLODE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 Three ships sailing from this port for Havre, on reaching there last night, it is learned from an authoritative source to-day, were found to have exploded bombs aboard, the missiles having been placed in the ships in this city before sailing. In each case it was said, the bombs had been placed aboard vessels carrying automobiles and other supplies for the French Army. An investigation, in which the United States secret service detectives of this city and the French Government had joined, has been begun. Two of the three vessels menaced by bombs, it was learned, were the British steamer Bankdale, which sailed from New York on May 7th for Havre, and the Lord Erne, which sailed on April 29th for the same destination.

GERMANY MUST PAY.

LONDON, July 7.
 The British Government cannot undertake to pay compensation for losses at sea owing to the action of the enemy. The Chancellor of the Exchequer to-day so informed a questioner in the Commons, who wanted the survivors of the Lusitania compensated for their lost effects.

NO NEWS FROM 'ADRIATIC.'

NEW YORK, July 7.
 No direct advices have been received by the Associated Press regarding the steamer Adriatic, which is now approaching the English coast. Officials said they did not expect to receive any information from the Adriatic until she arrived in England, where she is due to-morrow. Premier Borden is on board.

ENEMY FINDING IT DIFFICULT.

LONDON, July 7.
 Sir Ian Hamilton, in his official report of the struggle in Gallipoli, says it seems plain from the distorted nature of the enemy's attack, that he is finding it difficult to drive his infantry forward in the face of the opposing fire.

A GERMAN PROFESSOR.

CHICAGO, July 7.
 The identification of Frank Holt, the assassin of J. P. Morgan as Erich Munter, the missing Harvard Professor, who was suspected of having caused the death of his wife, was made here by Professor Chester N. Gould, of the University of Chicago. Professor Gould, in a statement made public to-day, admitted that he has identified Munter, who was a former student at the University of Chicago. While at Cornell University, last November, he said, he had decided for several reasons not to expose the man, as he seemed to be getting along so nicely, and he thought it would be better to let well-enough alone.

PLANNED TO DESTROY LINERS.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 Frank Holt, who attempted to assassinate Morgan, planned to destroy the trans-Atlantic liners Saxonia and Philadelphia, by dynamite, which it is believed he had placed aboard the vessels before they sailed from New York for Liverpool on July 3rd.

Holt so advised his wife in a letter which was received by her at Dallas on or before yesterday. Warnings by wireless were sent broadcast over the Atlantic from stations on the eastern seaboard, advising the Saxonia and Philadelphia to steer towards each other. Commissioner Wooden announced that the Navy Department had arranged to send a fast cruiser after the liners. The Philadelphia was reached by wireless, and replied that everything on board had been identified, and that all was well. At police headquarters, shortly before noon, it was said that the Saxonia had not replied, but her failure to do so was not regarded as of special significance, as it was thought that she might have passed out of the wireless zone of communication. She is now four days out, and it was said it might be difficult for her to have a wireless message relayed to shore.

GLENCOVE, N.Y., July 7.

THE MUNITIONS CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, July 6.
 Under the powers conferred by the Defense of the Realm Act, the British Government to-day, by Order in Council, decided to take over the control, sale and supply of lead, spelter, liquors in many districts, where war material is being made, loaded, unloaded, and otherwise dealt with. The districts affected include the City of Bristol and surrounding towns, Avonmouth, New Haven, Southampton, Newport, Cardiff, Barry, Barrow-in-Furness, Liverpool and adjoining towns, and most munition and ship-building centres in Yorkshire. Members of Parliament of all parties have undertaken a campaign to thank employers and workmen on munition contracts for the work they already have done, and to urge upon them the vital importance of turning out as great a quantity of munitions as the country is capable of producing.
