CELESTIALS OPEN THEIR PARLIAMENT

Historic Event at Pekin Today Thoroughfare Will Now Be Made Marked With Little Ceremony.

Peking, Oct. 3.-China took another forward step today, when at noon the newlyconstituted legislature was opened by the regent, Prince Chun. There was little or no ceremony to mark the historic event. In a brief address Prince Chun stated that the wish of the people was for a parliamentary government, and he commanded the senators to labor for this end.

A parliamentary building of ample dimensions will be constructed, but pending its completion the sessions of the senate will be held in the rather narrow quarters of the law college. The lack of room was given as the reason for the exclusion of representatives of the press from today's proceedings. The same rule was applied to other outsiders, not even the members of the foreign diplomatic corps being invited to be present.

abominable and abnormal. "No," said the professor, "so far as I have studied the weather I am absolutely unable to account for these abnorma summers except by the possibility that vast ice floes may have been broken from the Arctic and Antarctic caps and floated north and south, so moderating the surface current of the earth. I can see no other reason why the weather should have been so singular."

An earthquoke wave, it was explained as accounting for this possibility, would cause a tremendous lift on the edges of ice continents, and hundreds of square miles might be broken away to float toward the temperate region of the earth. "This would have the effect that we have seen in this abnormal weather," the professor added, "and additional reason why Arctic and Antarctic explorations should be pursued with energy."

COUNCIL DECIDES TO REPAIR RECTORY STREET

Passable For Vehicles.

Rectory street will at last be put in

At the meeting of the council last night a motion was passed giving No. 2 committee the authority to go ahead with the work. There was quite sharp debate on the question.

"They want a permanent street, and Crack Toronto Regiment Given Great want us to pay for it. We need not lay sheet asphalt to give them a permanent roadway."

SPORT IN FRANCE

Frenchmen and Frenchwomen Becoming More Devoted to Open-Air Recreation.

London, Oct. 3.-That Frenchmen and Frenchwomen are becoming increasingly devoted to open-air sports is shown by the steady decline in the popularity of indoor amusements. The nland revenue of the republic shows steady decreases under the head of duties levied on billiard tables and playing cards.

The former are vanishing from France-or perhaps are turned into dining tables-at the rate of 1,000 a year. In the last fiscal year 2,900,000 packs of playing cards were sold in France, but for the last 30 years the sale has been going down at the average rate of 25,000 packs anaually.
