GLASSES NEEDED

Do you frequently notice a swimming sensation and an inability to appreciate distances? A halo or shade seems to be about the object in the distance, especially in the church or theatre.
It's because the ocular muscles are not as strong as they should be.
The right GLASSES will enable you to visualize objects clearly and sharply, and strengthen your eyes.

ternoon from the home of his uncle, Mr. Charles Dean, of 842 Colborne year ago and was in his twenty-sixth year. Rev. C. M. Carew, of Maitland street Baptist Church, conducted the services.

Japanese Prints.

"Japanese Prints" was the subject of a very interesting paper read on Saturday evening by Miss Minnie Kibbe, at a meeting of the members of the London Art Association held in the studio of Mr. E. R. Glen, 110 Dundas street. Miss Kibbe showed the progress of Japanese art from its commencement at about the ninth century, but declared that during the past 25 years the forces of commercialism are being felt. Cheap color prints and poor work generally is the result.

WEDDING COST $42.50

Bride Only Cost a Very Small Fra-

[Special to The Advertiser.] Leamington, March 18.—Charles McGill, who left early in December for the Newfoundland oil fields as driller, sent a descriptive and interesting letter to a Leamington friend. Among other things he described a native wedding.

The bride was bought for $2.50, about the price of an ordinary milk resist there was a different story.

He had to travel forty miles by dog sled to perform the ceremony, and the husband was assessed $40, or just a dollar a mile.

Colds Most Fatal
At This Season

This is the time of year when colds seem to turn into pneumonia or quick consumption and to prove more generally fatal than at any other season.

With many people one cold follows another during the winter months, until finally the human body becomes so run down that it can no longer resist the attack of the germs which cause lung trouble.

The best rule is to never allow a cold to get farther than the throat, and this you can do by the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Do not wait for chest colds and bronchitis to develop.
Keep this well-known medicine at hand for use in case of emergency.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine loosens a cough, aids ex-pectorate, and soothes and heals the irritated and inflamed membranes.

DICKENS EVENING IN BACONIAN CLUB

Professor Hutton, of Toronto, Was Made an Honorary Member on Saturday Night.

Professor Hutton, of Toronto University, who addressed the members of the Canadian Club at their luncheon on Saturday evening, spoke entertainment afterward on the life of Charles Dickens, at the regular meeting of the Baconian Club. On motion of Ald.
T. J. Murphy and Dr. Murphy, a member, he was made an honorary member, and was invited to speak at some time in the future on Francis Bacon.

The programme was arranged for a Dickens evening, papers being given by Rev. G. B. Cox on Dickens as a law reformer; by Dr. Tamlyn on Dickens schoolmasters, readings by Messrs.
Harry Barty and David Roger, and a Dickens recitation, "The Ivy Green," by Mrs. C. G. Jarvis.

ROW OVER THE LABEL

Action To Be Begun Against a Local Firm.

According to Bernard A. Large, of Hamilton, secretary of the United Garmentmakers' Union, he has instructed J. G. O'Donoghue, the Toronto labor lawyer, to issue a writ against the H. A. Britton Co., of this city, to restrain the local concern from using what is alleged to be an imitation of the union label.

The London concern, which engages in the manufacture of overalls, has some difficulty with the union sometimes, but according to one of the officials who was spoken to by The Advertiser today, the real union label has been used with authority since that time. Union help is employed, he said, and there should be no trouble over the use of the label.

Mr. Britton was out of the city, and could not be located by The Advertiser.

MOTHER AND CHILD WERE RUN DOWN BY A HORSE

Mrs. Bindner and Three-Year-Old Daughter Had a Narrow Escape on Saturday.

Little Margaret Bindner, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore K. Bindner, of 307 Hyman street, had a most miraculous escape from injury on Saturday afternoon at about 2:30, when in attempting to cross the road with her mother in front of The Advertiser building she was run down and thrown beneath the feet of a horse driven by W. H. Miller, of 475 King street.

An examination by a physician failed to reveal any more hurts than a few bruises.

Mrs. Bindner, who had been walking with the little girl and the north side of Dundas street, crossed over just as Miller drove westward, with a lively horse. As he did so, a car coming from behind caused the animal to start and knocking the little girl down, and throwing Mrs. Bindner back toward the sidewalk.

Miller pulled up as quickly as possible and backed away, the horse and the child having missed the little one by inches on each occasion. Mr.
Tom Finch, news agent at the Grand Trunk depot, was passing at the time and attempted to pull the child away, but was unable to do so.

Bridges street. She was 72 years of age, and was predeceased by her husband several years ago. She was seized with a paralytic stroke a couple of weeks ago, and since then her condition became gradually worse until death occurred. She is survived by four sons, Thomas, Charles, Samuel, and George, all of this city. The funeral was held from the residence of many years in London Town-three years ago. Besides his wife, he rather serious injury to his eyes when in some manner a flash from the wires struck him in the face. The attendance of Dr. Becker was found necessary, but it is thought that the sight will be saved.

A WARM TRIBUTE TO EDWARD BLAKE

Principal of University College, Toronto, Spoke Before London Canadian Club.

"WEARING OF THE GREEN"

The Qualities of the Irishman—Irish Are Always Young, Declared the Speaker.

Principal Hutton, University College, Toronto, delivered a very witty and interesting address on Saturday evening at the Canadian Club dinner, Teemuch House, on "Ireland." He paid a tribute to Hon. Edward Blake, the great Canadian statesman, in his efforts to bring better times for Ireland. Capt. T. J. Murphy presided.

On Sunday he declared that all who had any Irish blood in their veins would be wearing green. The green was symbolical. It stood not only for the green hills and green pastures, the lakes and gleams and mountains where the soft rain is ever falling, and making her beautiful, an emerald isle set in emerald seas, but it is symbolical of the spirit of her people, full of courage and human nature, of natural courtesy and childhood's charm. She has the perennial charm of youth, and in heart and soul she is young. Ireland has not yet the material view of life and money-making, nor has it succeeded in these things, but like a child or a woman, has succeeded in winning hearts.

A Compliment for Ladies.

The qualities of an Irishman are feminine rather than masculine, and Ireland achieves fame, and becomes conspicuous in her women rather than her men. The statisticians say that almost 10 per cent of the great men of Britain are of Irish origin, but as many as 25 per cent of the great women. The women of Ireland captivated the settlers, and added to the English and Scotch characteristics of the practical, the natural grace and charm of the Irish. The most Irish of Irishmen in Ireland are the Tipperary men, of British extraction, who have added British patience and determination to the Irish gift to Irish vivacity, impulsiveness and sentiment.

Always Young.
The Irish are always young. The average of intelligence stands higher in Ireland than among the nations whose ambitions have turned to the making of money. Dr. Hutton could not understand why it was that the literature of Great Britain is not more Irish than it is, for it is only Irish in a very small measure, being predominantly English. This is possible because the English language has never been quite naturalized in Ireland, and today is being resisted because of a mistaken sentiment, particularly because literature is a luxury demanding wealth, population, and class, and a reading public, and partly because literature demands a long apprenticeship, a tireless patience.
The English and Scotch have these virtues more than the Irish, and so they preponderate in literature.

The qualities of the Irish race are adding not only the political power to make it a many-sided whole, but perhaps the greatest, the Irishmen—Dean Swift, Bishop Berkeley, Edmund Burke, and Parnell—had added much to poetry, philosophy and unity, some of the greatest names in English history.

A Nation of Orators.

Ireland has not only youth, feminine tact and courtesy, but she has had also a high level of conduct on the whole. The people are too kind-hearted and amiable to be brutal in their non-political and unofficial life.

Half the orators of the pulpits of this continent are Irish. They love oratory, and excel in it.

Ireland has shown her love of literature, of imagination, and her exquisite taste. Dr. Hutton referred particularly to the reception tendered the Duke of Wellington, and that to Sir Walter Scott. There was more enthusiasm over the latter, and Scotch poets there was over Wellington, and Irish soldiers.

People laugh at Irish logic, just as they laugh at feminine logic. A woman's logic is faulty, only because it is so.
