

Queens' Speed Expected to Offset Westerners Big Weight Margin

QUEENS FAVORED TO BEAT REGINA IN TITLE BATTLE

Predict Skill Will Overcome Weight Advantage of Western Crew.

HAVE EDGE IN SPEED

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Nov. 28.—Queens, eastern champions, are odds on favorites against Regina, western champions, in Saturday's Dominion final. Queens has gone through an entire season without a defeat and beaten the best in the east. They have everything which goes to make up a championship team—a strong, steady, experienced, speedy line, fast, hard tackling outside and flying wings and two of the best halves Canada has had in many a day. There is only one half back Canada has produced in some years who would have any chance of ousting Batstone or Leadley from their positions, and that is Lionel Conacher.

Queens has everything except high-class backfield substitutes. The regular team is strong everywhere. What has Regina to offer against the best in the east?

Have Weight Advantage.

The team does not seem to be quite as well balanced physically as Queens. At snap, inside and middle wings Regina will outweigh Queens, but have these big, strong 200-pounders the speed, tackling ability and experience? They may be able to lead dangerous line backs, but in the open field work the Queens middle line players should have the edge in speed.

Regina outsiders are just as husky as Queens' speedy squad of "wolves." If Leight, Brown, Milne, Wood and Cotton are as good as Campbell, Thomas, Walker and Co., they may check Queens' wonderful backfield.

Behind the line, Leadley and Batstone are Regina's first string halves in poundage, but it is hard to conceive that the west has developed anything which can compare to them in running, dodging, line plunging, catching, punting and combination, to say nothing of crisp.

Backs Are Strong.

Regina may have no halves who can measure up individually with either Leadley or Batstone, but they have five half-backs ready to go to the line. Brown, Rowland and McEachern, the regulars, and Arnott, Peebles and Rogers substitutes. They all may be "wet and good" punters and catchers, but it takes years of experience to develop the automatic combination and cohesion Leadley and Batstone have shown this last two seasons.

However, if Batstone or Leadley weaken under the grunting they are sure to get, Queens will be worse off. There is a mighty little contact with eastern rugby, and the clubs and leagues are so widely separated that there is but little opportunity to really study the new plays and formations that are developed in their own territory, let alone follow the trend of the game down here.

STOP AT SUBURBY.

Special to The Advertiser.
Suburby, Nov. 28.—Feeling somewhat dreary from being confined to the car for so long, the Regina rugbyists, on their way to Toronto to engage the Queens' aggregation for the Canadian championship, got a welcome relief when they stopped here for three hours today. They took full advantage to move around and limber up their stiff limbs.

The players enjoyed a brief workout at Chapeau at noon, when they booted the ball around and had the residents of that town out on the street wondering what strange antics the boys were trying to pull off in the snow when they tackled each other on the run.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kingston, Nov. 28.—The R. M. C. team and Queens held their first stiff workout of the week at the R. M. C. campus this afternoon, and the players went through their paces in great style. The R. M. C. were minus Volkes, Mather and Lane who have not yet recovered from injuries received in the game at Montreal, but the rest of the team was in good shape, and will be ready for the Montréalers when they come on Saturday.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the game here Saturday. The K. C. H. A. band will be in attendance, and scores of the Toronto game will be broadcast as received. The cadets are getting ready for emergencies, and in case of bad weather will wear special spikes.

Carr Harris has recovered from his injury. The cadets are confident of retaining their lead, and should they win, may play the O. R. F. U. winners here.

There were no injuries in today's practice, great care being taken by both teams.
