

Undaunted Presbyterians Answer Call of Auld Kirk In Big Rally at Springbank

Twenty-Five Hundred Brave Storms To Show Loyalty To Cause.

PRESENTATION MADE

Rev. Banks Nelson Brings Cheers With Optimistic Prediction.

The banner of Presbyterianism, representative of the asserted religious freedom and independence of the "auld kirk," was acclaimed with vigor and determination by 2,500 church people gathered at Springbank park on Saturday afternoon. Bravely discountenancing intermittent showers, the assembled throng stoutly defended their cause, proudly upheld tradition and looked with optimism to the future.

Rain came to soothe parched farm lands from districts which had noted to continue Presbyterianism in Canada, and city brethren, as well as farm folk, joined in glad praise for the showers. Rain came to the great gathering, not as a token of destructive adversity, but as the harbinger of hopefulness.

The Skirl of the Pipes. The inimitable wit and stubborn debate of the Scot ministers, appreciative applause of the assemblage, the merry laugh of children as they entered with vim into the sports program and with happiness into the picnic "spread," the skirl of the pipes—all these things held high the determination and optimism of the continuing church in Canada.

Rev. Banks Nelson, D.D., Hamilton, was chief spokesman for the Presbyterian cause, and his review of the battle with church union ideals and his outlook for the future of Presbyterianism brought cheers and applause from the folk who gathered beneath the kilted building as the rain poured down upon the great park.

Church folk came far and wide, representing not only the congregations, but also those of Mount Rogers, St. Marys, Belmont, St. James, Yarmouth, Komoka, Ovan, Tillsonburg, Kintore, Embro, Windsor, St. Thomas, Ilderton, Alisa, Craig, Centre Road, Fingert, Appin, Glenora, Port Stanley, Alvinport, Port Glasgow, St. Catharines, Parkhill and other places.

Urges Arguments. Constructive argument, in place of an attempt at peace and compromise, was urged by Rev. Dr. Banks Nelson, as the true key to religious perfection. Argument prevented priesthood from securing a stranglehold on the people. The speaker sought a great merger, which would lead the people into the church of Rome, Dr. Nelson declared.

The wit, intellect and debate of the Scot was lauded by Rev. Dr. Nelson. He pointed out that Presbyterians are "improved Scots," whose stout debates had resulted in the fine strength of the continuing church.

"Three churches, where each of whom have an argument, who have the right to carry on an argument, and who have the courage of their convictions in argument," declared the speaker, "the union of churches has been likened to married life without a union, something hypocritical. 'The unionists are tooting their horn a little too soon.'"

"I cannot understand how W. E. Rowell, K.C., Joshua Mason, K.C., Alfred Gaudier and George Pidgeon could ever get into their nooses the belief that the country where cats and dogs and ponies are so clever, and where the people are clever, how did they think they could put over this coercive church union scheme on such a people as Scotland, where cattle are cunning." What about the men and women?

Tributes For Leaders. Dr. Nelson paid tribute to the work of Rev. James MacKay and Rev. John McNair in fighting "the battles of the people." He praised the ministers and elders who sought to lead the church into union without a vote. The women of the church, too, deserved great praise for their work.

The confession of faith and the true axioms of Protestantism were defended by Dr. Nelson, who asserted that the unionist merger would ultimately seek to carry the people into the church of Rome.

Two popular presentations were made by Dr. Nelson on behalf of the Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Dr. Nelson to the eminent Rev. James MacKay was tendered a purse of gold and appreciative tribute for his work on behalf of the Presbyterian church here. He will take a well-earned holiday, thanks to the kindness of his friends. No less popular was the presentation to Rev. John McNair, D.D., who received a handsome travelling bag, well filled with travelling needs.

Sees Growing Church.

In addressing the people, Rev. Dr. MacKay called on them not to belittle the beliefs of other people, neither to go to work in their brothers' camps to win them to Presbyterianism, but to continue to work for a great church in Canada. He foresaw a great church, with increasing strength. Dr. McNair also spoke with deep feeling and appreciation.

An all-inclusive program of sports provided foot races for every age and for every group. Here the argument of the athletic found utterance and happy settlement.

To Mrs. Grace Isaacs of St. George's church went the honor of the oldest Presbyterian on the grounds. She is 94 years of age. For 60 months of age Mrs. Isaacs was presented with a handsome Morocco-bound Bible.

Little Mary Louise Emerson of Glenora was the youngest Presbyterian and to her was given a silver spoon.

The Hamilton road Anchors defeated by a 14 to 7 score, an all-star baseball team in an exciting match.

Flag Ceremony Will Also Be Feature of Local Celebration.

For the fourth year the Canadian club and other organizations of the character will again stage on Dominion day morning at Victoria park, a civic celebration of Canada's national birthday. R. shortly before 11 o'clock, and will be driven at once to Victoria park, where he will inspect the military and other organization drawn up. The program will begin at once, with Fred Landon, president of the Canadian club, as chairman.

The co-operation of the district militia headquarters will bring features of special interest to the program. Music will be provided by the 7th Fusiliers' band, and the singing of patriotic songs and hymns will be under the direction of Mr. E. W. G. Quetz.

Following the address of Mr. Meighen, a salute will be fired by the guns of the 12th Battery, and a flag-raising will be conducted by the children of the city are specially invited to attend. Flags will be distributed to the children before the beginning of the program.

Ald. Homer Neely will represent the city of London at the celebration. He takes the place of Mayor G. A. Wenigell who had previously arranged to be out of the city for the holiday. This is the only change from the original program.

Visit of Immigration Head May Result In Formation of Welcome Body Locally

Robert Culver To Discuss Idea With Chamber of Commerce.

SEES OPPORTUNITIES

British Society Has Brought 700 to Canada So Far This Year.

Robert Culver, representing the British Dominion Emigration Society Ltd London, England, is in the city today in the course of a tour of Canada from coast to coast, to obtain first-hand information as to opportunities in the various Canadian centers for immigrants from the old land. The local chamber of commerce is arranging to have Mr. Culver meet with a committee this afternoon to talk over the situation locally, and the result may be the formation of a permanent committee here to co-operate with the British Dominion Emigration Society in welcoming newcomers and to some extent looking after their welfare until they have become firmly established.

In an interview with The Advertiser, Mr. Culver, who has on several previous occasions visited this city, explained that the association which he represents has for the past 42 years been assisting British families to establish themselves in Canada. The organization is an entirely voluntary one, the members of which put the necessary funds from a sense of patriotic duty. Careful selection is made of those whom the association assists, and a special feature of the work has been to make possible the bringing out to Canada of families of men already established here but who are unable, except by a long and tedious process of saving, to finance the bringing out of their dependents.

In such cases the association advances the necessary money, part of which is repayable in small installments after the family is established in Canada.

About seven hundred persons have been brought to Canada so far this year as a result of the association's efforts, Mr. Culver reports.

He stated that a thousand new citizens a year brought out to this country, "and while we realize that this number is only a drop in the bucket compared with the great need of Canada for population, yet we feel that we are doing a useful work both for this country and the empire. We would like to establish in every large Canadian centre, a committee to co-operate with us in the work."

Mr. Culver spent Sunday in Windsor, and is leaving tonight for Winnipeg.

Speed records were made in this morning's police court. Eight cases were disposed of in as many minutes. Prisoners, policemen and witnesses aided in establishment of the record as they performed their part in each case with haste and exactitude.

Two other persons, charged under the highway traffic act, similarly pleaded guilty and minimum fines were also imposed in their cases.

One man's name was listed on the police court blotters twice for the same charge. He pleaded guilty to each and was fined for each after court was adjourned it was revealed that the man was arrested on Saturday afternoon.
