CANADIAN TROOP SHIP WRECKED

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers and the Crew Safely Landed.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, July 8.—When the Hull liner City of Vienna, with 1,400 Canadian troops consisting of various drafts and details on board, ran ashore on a dangerous rock near here in a thick fog, it was at first feared that there might be a considerable loss of life.

There was a heavy on-shore swell and the dense fog and the steamer, exposed to the full force of every wave, was in danger, it was thought, of speedily breaking up; but the troops and men have all been safely landed and the ship herself still holds together so that there is still a hope of saving her. According to the story told by rescued men it was about seven o'clock in the morning that the City of Vienna, endeavoring to make harbor, struck the ledge. The engines were reversed without avail and S. O. S. calls were at once sent out.

Guns too, were fired and could be heard on shore, a mile or more from the rock. Fishermen soon located the ship and returned to report her exact position. Orders were given by the port authorities for the boats from nearby life-saving stations to proceed to the City of Vienna and take off as many men as the boats would accommodate and other craft was despatched from the harbor to the scene. So rough was the sea, that one harbor tug was forced to return to port, with water almost up to the fires in her engine room. But the lifeboats and fishing craft, manned by crews well acquainted with the numerous reefs in these waters, were able to go alongside the stranded ship and by eleven o'clock that morning had landed a large number of soldiers on the rocky shore. The sea was still running high and the work of rescue was carried out with great difficulty.

A steamer not many miles away when the City of Vienna struck, had responded to her S. O. S. signals but on account of the thick fog, had been unable to come close to the stranded ship. This steamer's lifeboats were accordingly lowered and the sailors transferred seven hundred of the soldiers from the City of Vienna to their own ship. The steamer could accommodate no more and accordingly brought these to port. Meanwhile despite the increasing sea, the fishermen and life-saving crews had been landing boat-load after boat-load. A pilot schooner also took off about seventy-five men and brought them to port. Patrol boats visited the different fishing harbors collecting numbers of the soldiers rescued from the ship and landing them here. The remainder of the men landed on the shore marched along the country roads to this port. The steamer's crew was also brought to port.

"We thought the City of Vienna had been torpedoed," said one of the soldiers to the Canadian Press today. "Of course we did not have the faintest notion where the ship was and our first thought, when the sudden jar and crash came, was that a U-boat had got us. We were soon undeceived, however, when looking over the bow we could see a big rock within a few yards of the ship."

One of the ships officers told the Canadian Press that the discipline of the troops when the steamer struck was splendid. There was no sign of excitement, or confusion, he said, and the men formed up and obeyed orders as precisely as if they were on parade.

CANADA'S FIRE WASTAGE ON A PER CAPITA BASIS, IS HIGHEST IN WORLD

Commission of Conservation Suggests Profit-Sharing Commission to Agents, and the Adoption of Fire-Prevention Measures.

Ottawa, July 6.—Canada's annual fire waste is $2.73 for every man, woman, and child, and is larger than that of any other civilized country in the world, according to a most exhaustive report by the Commission of Conservation on fire waste in Canada just made public. This enormous waste, the commission asserts, is sapping the economic vitality of the country, and the immediate adoption of compulsory fire-prevention measures is necessary. The investigation also revealed the fact that the expense of conducting the business of fire insurance in Canada is unduly high and that there are grave abuses in the present agency system.

700 Casualties Annually.

The report which was compiled for the commission by Mr. J. G. Grove Smith, says that since Confederation fire loss in Canada, excluding forest fires, has been $700,000,000. Of this sum $350,000,000 is made up of direct fire losses. $150,000,000 represents the cost of maintaining public and private fire protection services, whilst $197,000,000 is the amount of insurance premiums paid but not returned to policy holders in compensation for losses. In addition nearly 200 people are burned to death, and about 500 seriously injured by fire every year. In the four normal years, 1912-1915, Canada's annual per capita fire loss was $2.73, as compared with $2.26 in the United States, 64 cents in England, 74 cents in France, 28 cents in Germany, and 13 cents in Switzerland. A disquieting feature is that the losses in this country are increasing with great rapidity.

Lack Fire Prevention Laws.

The Commission says that seventy per cent of fires in Canada are caused by carelessness, faulty building construction, arson and lack of fire prevention laws, such laws as exist being but poorly enforced. Canadian fire departments are described as the best in the world, but they are not preventing a steady growth of fire losses.

In dealing with the remedy for present conditions, the Commission says that compulsory legislation making individuals responsible for their own careless acts, is imperative. The public, it is asserted, must be aroused to their collective responsibility so that public opinion will urge and support the adoption of restrictive legislation. The Dominion Government, not being given direct jurisdiction by the B. N. A. act, should, the Commission thinks, conduct a campaign to educate the public to their responsibility. The purpose of this would be to assist provincial fire prevention efforts. The Dominion Government, it is stated, should also maintain a testing laboratory to establish standards in building materials and devices.

Too Many Agents.

The Commission contends that the high cost of doing business implies extravagant administration on the part of insurance companies and says that from 1869 to 1916 the public has paid the insurance companies 65 cents for distributing every dollar of indemnity. This it continues, gives good food for thought when it is remembered that, under present Government management, the collection of customs and inland revenue cost less than five per cent of the receipts. Since the establishment of Government insurance in New Zealand in 1905 the rates on mercantile risks have been reduced ten per cent, and on dwellings 33 1/3 per cent. The report asserts that insurance agents in Canada are paid on the average, a commission of slightly over 20 per cent, obviously a large expenditure on middle men or agents is excessive a circumstance which makes necessary a higher commission that is economically necessary.

"The root evil of the insurance business and one of the greatest factors in the excessive fire waste in Canada is undoubtedly the method of compensating agents solely on a commission basis," the report declares. The careless agent is paid equally well with the careful agent. This tends to over insurance, carelessness in the use and care of property, and arson, all of which cause a heavier fire waste. The remedy for this, the Commission states, is a profit sharing commission for agents, whereby those who write good risks would be more highly remunerated than those who write bad ones.

Profit Sharing Commission.

The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, it is pointed out, has attempted, but failed, to enforce a similar system of contingent commissions on account of the disadvantage under which it would place its members in competition with non-licensed companies.

The Commission of Conservation, therefore, recommends that uniform legislation be drafted into the Dominion and Provincial Insurance Acts to establish the principle of profit sharing commissions for all companies, leaving the companies and their agents to work out the details.

CAMPERS CAUSE FOREST FIRES.

Terrible Consequences of Abandoned Camp Fires in Eastern Canada.

Some of the worst forest conflagrations in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia this year have been traced to unextinguished camp fires. In two instances, parties of picnickers cooked their tea on blazing fires carelessly built on dry twigs and pine needles instead of on rocks or gravel. Having enjoyed themselves, the campers returned home without any thought of the smoking embers left behind. Within two days, the Province of New Brunswick had lost $60,000 because of these two camp fires. Many settlers sacrificed their barns and hundreds of workmen were taken from their regular employment and hired at public expense to put out the flames. The "deadly camp fire" is one of the worst menaces with which the fire ranging staff of this province has to deal this summer. The directions are so simple that no child could fail to understand them and no patriot could fail to put them into effect:

1. Build a small camp fire; a small fire cooks better.
2. Build it on rocks or gravel, never against an old tree.
3. When through with the fire, put it out completely with two or three pails of water or a few shovels of earth.
4. Look out for lighted tobacco and matches. They don't look dangerous but they cost Canada millions of money and many lives every year.

FOOD PRODUCTION IN FRANCE.

More than 1,000,000 Frenchmen have been killed in war, and 1,500,000 are physically unfitted by their injuries to carry on their farm work. The women are managing the farms and doing most of the farm work. In battle zones, such as the Champagne district, women did not foresee their work in the fields even when German shells were bursting around them. When the cannonading was heavy they lay flat on the ground and as soon as there was a lull they would be up attending to their grape-vines. The wives of French farmers have always helped their husbands in the fields. They now do double duty, rising earlier and working later. Horses were conscripted for the army and French women have taken their place to draw the plows and harrows. Food production in France despite the efforts of women, children, old men and cripples has dropped to one third.

THE WOMEN OF FRANCE.

In France recently figures showed that there are now 475,000 women at work in munition factories at $2.00 per day plus 50c from the Government with 25c additional for each child, if the head of the house is in the Army. Thrift is so strong a principle with French women that French banks are carrying larger deposits than ever before, despite the fact that 18,000,000,000 towards the finances of the war came from popular subscription.

NO FOOD RESERVE IN BRITAIN.

"It is obviously an elementary precaution to build up as large a reserve of food as possible in an island which is menaced by submarine blockade. No such reserve is yet in sight and there should be no slackening in Canadian efforts to provide foodstuffs for the Mother Country," Late Viscount Rhonda.

WORLD'S WHEAT RESERVES EXHAUSTED.

"Even if the greatest expectations of the 1918 harvest are realized, the fact remains that the world's reserves of wheat are exhausted and it will be absolutely necessary to continue conservation and substitution until the 1919 crop situation is known. Canada is daily increasing the manufacture of substitutes for wheat and consumers are urged to make use of these substitutes to the limit of their ability," Henry B. Thompson, Chairman of the Canada Food Board.

"The profiteer is a man who is more interested in getting his bite than in giving his bit."
