THE TREATY-MAKING POWER.

Mr. Blake's motion on Friday last declaring that steps should be taken to obtain commercial treaties has done one good thing to begin with. It has brought out the fact that the feeling in favor of commercial independence is much stronger than was generally believed.

Another point to be noted is that both parties are now instinctively committed to commercial independence; the opposition by resolution, and the ministerialists by practice.

The St. Catharines News (Reform) says: "Mr. Blake recognizes the fact that industries have been predicted upon it which it would be a mistake to disturb."

Whether the general election is to come off this year or not, one thing is certain. The whole country has been for months past in a condition of campaign heat.

Notwithstanding that the Winnipeg Sun speaks of Ontario lawyers and law students as "bystanders from Ontario" there is a disposition in Manitoba to admit these as "bystanders from Ontario."

The secretary has just issued a circular to various persons interested in farming throughout the province, asking them to fill up an accompanying page of questions on the state of the crops on April 25.

Some of the conservative journals must think the people of Ontario are wanting in common sense when they tell them that the case presented by Sir John Macdonald on the boundary question is one that will give Ontario more territory than she claims.

to remain at about the present limit, actually to be curtailed and reduced, depends upon whether the N. F. is satisfied with the second time, or rejected after trial, by the country.

There is a commendable movement on the part of many members of the liberal party to square themselves with the popular view of the tariff question.

Mr. Blake has said nothing against the tariff throughout the session. His Bowmansville speech was anything but hostile to the development of Canadian manufactures.

Mr. Hodgins, in accepting the liberal candidature in West York, went even further than Mr. Mackenzie.

At the same meeting Mr. Colin Macdougall, a prominent reformer and an M.P., said: "Mr. Mackenzie's views on a trade question had never been fairly put. While in principle a free trader as an abstract theory he assented to protection, admitting that owing to the geographical situation Canada occupied it would be impossible to have absolute free trade, consequently he favored incidental protection."

An influential reformer in the west, the writer of the letter of "Radical" in another column, says: "Free trade pure and simple is out of the question. The great question then is what tariff would best suit all interests of this country."

Mr. Blake recognizes the fact that industries have been predicted upon it which it would be a mistake to disturb. Reformers would not adopt the tariff of today, though the tariff they would adopt would be equally favourable to manufacturers, if not more favorable.

New York Truth thinks they manage these things better in England. The whole country felt, the instant the attack upon the queen became known, that it must be the act of a madman; and the press echoed the sentiment, the jury have acted upon it.

The jury have reached a different conclusion in the Guiteau case, however, and it now only remains to carry out the sentence of the court, with all publicity and opportunity for fans as possible.

ward gave her and she wants no talking about it. The Tories are on the wrong side on this question and no amount of special pleading and tugging at their bootstraps will lift them over on to the other.

The liberals went into the election of 1875 very hopeful; they sustained a crushing defeat. The conservatives enter upon the coming struggle in much confidence, with much boasting, will history repeat itself? As the daisy said to the carpet-bagger, "De hallo an mighty uncertain."

The Toronto World is a live enterprising paper. It has a large and increasing circulation. In its politics it is liberal.

The International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, corner of King, Toronto, is in charge, Great reformer in medical science.

The light which speaks within is probably no better obeyed by them than it is by us. Conventionally, the usages of their trade are frequently a force as inimical to their conscience as the usages of society are to ours.

Further "Sydney Smith" is untrue to do always that which is "right." He here implies that men do not act according to conscience. No man's conscience ever yet told him a certain act was right for him.

From the New York Tribune. Neck ribbons are revived. New mantles have appeared. Scarf mantles are very graceful.

that the Oregon & Transmontana Co. were negotiating with the C. P. R. in a position of their interest in the Manitoba Southwestern railway, in fact that some of the engines of that road had been sold and its possession of the appliances.
