There was an entire absence of fancy bidding, the prices being high, however, on the individual merits of the several animals offered.

Cows and Heifers.

The first cow called into the ring was one of the noted Gwynnes, Jubilee Gwynne, imported from England by J. Miller. She was at once started at $1,500 by Mr. George Robbins, an agent for some of the noted English breeders, and ran quickly up to $2,500, at which price she was knocked down to Col. S. Dunlop, of Jacksonville, Ill.; Melody Gwynne came next, and went to J. Nichols, Bloomington, Ill., at $500; Melody Gwynne 10th, an 8-month-old calf, to Gen. Lippincott, Springfield, Ill., at $500; Melody Gwynne 5th, a beautiful red Gwynne, sold to Mr. Orr, of Wenoia, Ill., at $500; Melody Gwynne 4th came next, and sold at the extreme low price of $900, to J. Nichols, of Bloomington, Ill.; Melody Gwynne, another beautiful roan, 8-year cow, sold to Charles S. Wadsworth, of Geneseo, N. Y., at $1,000; next came Melody Gwynne 6th, one of the finest of this celebrated tribe in America, sold to Elliott & Kent, of Des Moines, Ia., at $1,600; then came a beautiful white Gwynne calf, sold to Gen. Lippincott, of Springfield, Ill., at $550; this one closed out the family of Gwynnes, eight of them realizing $8,500, an average of $1,100 each.

The remaining animals were disposed of as follows:

Summary.

|                                                 |  |
|-------------------------------------------------|--|
| 35 Females.....Average $297.....Total $10,305 |  |
| 1 Bulls.....".....250.....".....5,700           |  |
| 36 head.....Average $730.....Total $26,280    |  |

The comparatively low prices obtained for the bulls was not owing to the lack of blood or care in breeding, but it is generally understood that there is a surplus of these animals in the country, which had of course a tendency to keep the price down.

Sale of Col. King's Lyndale Herd.

One of the most successful sales of Short-horns ever held in this Country, and one that will long be remembered by breeders everywhere, was held at Dexter's Park, Chicago, on the 21st ult. The property sold consisted of the entire Lyndale herd, eighty in number, belonging to Col. W. S. King, of Minneapolis, Minn., and a finer lot of cows, heifers and bulls was probably never brought together.

The result of the sale was a complete surprise to the Colonel. He expected the cattle would not bring within $50,000 of the amount they did, which was in round numbers almost $128,000. Fifty-eight cows and heifers averaged over $1,751, and 21 bulls averaged about $1,210. Mr. Page conducted the sale with his usual ability.

The first animal offered was the imported bull 2nd Duke of Hillhurst, out of Duchess 97th, by 6th Duke of Geneva, and the first bid was $10,000, by Mr. George Robbins, of London, England. The Hon. John Wentworth, of Chicago, promptly raised it $500. "Eleven thousand dollars," said the Englishman. "Thirteen thousand dollars," cried Mr. Wentworth in stentorian tones. "Fourteen thousand," responded Mr. Robbins, accompanied with a look that spoke a large margin at "my banker's," and at that figure the hammer fell. Many incidents of a similarly exciting character occurred during the course of the sale, but want of space prevents us going into details. The following is the sale list:—
