THE MARITIME CONVENTION

Fine weather, a record attendance, an unexcelled auditorium, and unbounded hospitality on the part of the citizens of Moncton, all rendered the Maritime Convention a notable one, which will have pleasant and interesting memories in the minds of those who were present.

The programme was varied and of living interest, and was carried out in its entirety in a prompt and business-like manner.

The local committee deserves special commendation for the thorough and efficient manner in which it provided accommodation for such a large number of teachers with satisfaction to all.

Such subjects as "Maritime Reciprocity in Teachers and Textbooks," "The Claim of the Maritime Provinces for Federal Subsidies in lieu of Western Lands," and "Maritime Union," are of common interest to all living in the provinces by the sea. They were all ably dealt with and the excellent addresses given will give a new and educative point of view to many teachers who heard them.

It has been wisely decided by the executive to have Attorney General Daniels' lucid statement of our claim for federal subsidies printed in pamphlet form and distributed among teachers and others.

Though the time was very fully occupied, yet opportunity was found for the re-organization of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association, a conference of the Household Science Teachers, a meeting of the New Brunswick Vocational Committee, and a conference of the Chief Superintendent of New Brunswick with his Inspectors. All of these meetings will no doubt have
