he and that all will bow in submission to the supre-

The decision of the Court here anticipated, makes a part of this Appendix; but it has not been respected; it has not quieted the elements of agitation. It lies in abeyance to the occurrences of future history.

THE END.

the ancy e to that

It ners, rmy ran sions h in

been d of. ublic

cally died

the hope the

acred t can

t one

of the routly ntem-

eeded

give;

R. CLAY, PRINTER, BREAD-STREET-HILL.