

Press Notices of Mr. Spence's Readings, etc.

Spence's Selections, Readings, Recitations, etc., is the title of a really interesting and excellent work, edited by Jacob Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Prohibitory League. It is brim full of arguments, anecdotes, facts, fun and statistics, poems and readings, bearing on the great reform. Temperance Speakers will find this work exceedingly valuable.—Canada Temperance Union.

By far the best of the kind we have yet seen.—Toronto Witness.

This is a really excellent collection of Readings, Recitations, etc. It is well adapted to meet the want of the times, and in full harmony with the advanced sentiment on the Temperance and Prohibition Question.—Herald of Progress.

International Readings, Recitations, and selections specially adapted for Temperance and social gatherings, edited by Jacob Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Prohibitory League, 12 mo. p.p. 300. Encouraged by the success of his former series Mr. Spence has prepared another volume. We congratulate him on its extensive circulation. Most of the selections are of a lighter character, but most have a good moral and some are of great beauty.—Canadian Methodist Magazine.

By Jacob Spence the energetic Secretary of the Ontario Prohibitory League. His long connection with the Temperance cause has made him intimately acquainted with its wants and this contribution will be of great service.—Northern Star.

We have great confidence in recommending this work. It will be a valuable addition to Temperance literature of the day.—New Dominion.

The selections are of a brief order, while a number of the best, articles are original, as a whole it can be heartily commended.—Kingston News.

It will be found admirably suited for gentlemen, who are in the habit of giving readings, etc. The selections are of a superior character and reflect credit upon Mr. Spence's taste.—Halton Herald.

Selections made by one very competent for the task. It is good reading, and ought to be in great demand among temperance people, to whom it cannot but prove a convenient aid in their campaign against the enemy.—Mail, Toronto.

The volume will be found well adapted to its purpose, and we cordially wish for it a liberal circulation amongst the Temperance organizations of our land.—CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN.

The third series is more adapted for general social enjoyment, gatherings (and not so largely made up of temperance pieces.) Many of the best articles are original. The collection is gleaned from a very extensive field, and with much care to secure the richest and rarest, in both the thought and mirth-provoking.
