Bowling League Scores

Note and Comment

ings are shaping for two big prose leagues to cater for public fa next season. According to Saturday's eting in Montreal a Big Four League as formed, the circuit being as follows:

The largest football excursion that has left out in the cold, and they would show little ambition by retiring from the game, which they are hardly likely to do. Cornwall, Capitals and Shamrocks are what's left of the National Lacrosse Union, and they have only to place a team in Toronto to complete a circuit almost as compact as the new quartet. There is the ideal residue to be formed in Toronto. Thus the reorganized N.L.U. circuit would look just as good as the newcomer, being as follows:

Over four hundred accompanied the garnet sand grey team to Kingston on Saturin and grey team to Kingston on Saturing on behalf of the Englishman, to meet the manager of the Englishman, to meet the stock yards champion. The understanding was that the lads were to weigh in at life pounds at five o'clock on the day of the the college club for their trip to this city.

Over four hundred accompanied the garnet and grey team to Kingston on Saturing the several sale and will sall for home on Friday, leaving behind him agreements recently made to fight Wolgast and McFarland in trais city.

Billy Gioson, manager of the Fairmont A. C., thought he had Wells signed to meet McFarland. On Saturday last Gloson, acting on behalf of Packey, obtained steamship tickets and will sall for home on Friday, leaving behind him agreements recently made to fight Wolgast and McFarland in trais city.

New York Sun: The victory of the Athletics in the world's series was a signal triumph for clean baseball. Mack's players convinced thousands of critics and fans that a championship could be won without finding fault with the umpires' decisions. Mack ever since he became a najor league catcher in Washington, more than twenty years ago, has argued that kicking is a losing practice.

"I do not pay you to kick and be suspended," is Mack's annual advice when the champions report for duty. "I want you to keep away from the umpires and play ball for all you are worth. Hits and runs win games, not protests. The baseball public wants clean sport, not bulldozing and ruffianism."

The Athletics by their clean work, therefore, have set an example which other teams may decide to follow. They have shown that the umpires must be respected, and that those bard-working officials are strictly honest. By refusing to take advantage of a technicality when Doyle of the Giants was said to have missed the home plate in the game here last Wednesday, Mack's team set a precedent for fair play that recalled that unsportsmanlike claim of the Cubs in 1908, when Merkie failed to touch second base. Merkle failed to touch second base...

Wrangling Over Two Pounds.

This morning the National Sporting Club hoped to be able to announce its card for the opening show of the season, on Nov. 9. Billy Allen, the Canadian champion, and Patsy Drouillard of Windsor have agreed on 122 pounds at three o'clock for the main bout, but Tommy Hudson of Detroit and Kid Julian of Syracuse cannot agree on weights. The Detroiter wants 122 at three o'clock, but Julian insists on 124 at that hour, and there the matter rests. The difficulty will probably be overcome to day. The main bout is carded to go fourteen rounds, and the Hudson-Julian affair ten rounds. The club will stage two high-class bouts instead of a number of second-rate mills. Members will be accepted at the summer rate of twenty-five cents. Allen beat Kilbane of Cleveland in a rough, walloping battle at Syracuse Monday night, and has fully recovered from a recent operation for appendicitis. Wrangling Over Two Pounds.

Fights for Australia.

Sam McVey, the California negro heavyweight, put a stop to Bill Lang in two rounds at Sydney, N.S.W., on Saturday, in the presence of 6000 spectators. The fight was promoted by Hugh D. Molatosh at the Rushcutter's Bay Stadium, and McVey was a 5-to-2 favorite. In the second round Lang was knocked down twice before McVey put him to sleep with a right-hand uppercut on the point of the law. McVey's next match will be with Jack Lester, the young American who recently got a decision over Lang in twenty rounds. After this affair McVey will be asked to fight twenty rounds with Sam Langford, probably on Christmas, as the Tar Baby will arrive at Sydney about Dec. 1. McVey and Langford boxed twenty rounds in Pairs last spring, and, altho Langford from all accounts had the better of the milling, Referee Eugene Corricalied the battle a draw.
