THE BRIDGE AND THE BALLOTS.

At least everybody is now satisfied that the Bloor-street viaduct is a necessity, and that it is to be built, and that the sooner it is built the cheaper it will be. If the vote were to be taken over again to-day it would carry with a big majority. In fact, a great many people will not be satisfied to think that it has not been carried already until there has been a recount.

There is some grounds for such a view, on account of the really curious coincidence of error on Monday night.
That two independent bodies should make quite different and somewhat complicated mistakes, thereby arriving at approximately the same result, is probably unique, and sufficient to involve the critical investigation of the psychologists, not to speak of the county judge.

The complexity of the error is by no means fully appreciated. The change of 1000 in the total of one ward was counterbalanced by many other errors in other divisions at the city hall, while at the press committee room in Burroughs & Co.'s office, the errors were of another character, and not at all due to the adding machines.

When so many and various errors were made in sending in the returns from the polling divisions, it is possible that other and equally important errors may have been made in recording the actual results of the ballots.
There are many ways in which errors occur, and the whole thing is a recording of the actual results of the ballots.
The great majority of the D. R. Q.'s are highly competent and accurate, of the three hundred and three a Thermopy-lean percentage would be sufficient to upset many calculations.

The World has fought the viaduct battle alone until a short time ago, when The Star joined the ranks of Riverdale progress. Just why The Globe, The Telegram and The Mail and Empire have made such a dead set on Riverdale it is difficult to say. "He has no friends; he hit him again!" may be the sentiment prompting it. Once the people got the idea that the viaduct might be built, and even heard the opposition papers admitting that it was time Riverdale had something done for it, the crooked viaduct would do very well instead of the straight one Riverdale wanted, the people concluded that they had been misled as The World had told them they were being misled, and the sentiment through the city now is that the viaduct must be built.

Even The Telegram is willing to make several bites of the cherry and would build the eastern portion of the viaduct if the people of Parliament-street would consent to putting a crook in their extension northwards. The Civic Guild, The Globe, and The Telegram have a perfect mania for a crooked viaduct. No doubt they will retort that The World has a mania for having it straight. Well, the people like things run straight.

Meantime, there must be a recount.
A ratepayer will make an affidavit to that effect, and two other ratepayers will endorse it, and all three will put up bonds of $100 each, and the county judge will get a week's notice, and then he will open up the ballot boxes.
They are all locked up now, and will be kept in great safety and free from disturbance until he is ready. Then we shall see what we shall see. Brother Spence ought to come into this, too.

In any case, the viaduct will be built.

MR. BECK'S HYDRO EXTENSION.

A generation from now, when Ontario begins to take historical account of itself and of the men who are now working out its destiny and their own, the backward glance will catch the figure of Adam Beck as one of the skyshouldering giants of the country. A great deal has been made by men who count politics as everything, of the fact that Adam Beck belongs to a certain party. Some have held that his position as a cabinet minister is his great distinction. Others have imagined that he might and ought to be more distinguished by his party than he has been, and some have even been so lacking in understanding as to imagine that some monetary consideration might be an acknowledgement of his services to the people.

These views are well enough for people concerned with the petty and not unnecessary things of the day. But fifty years from now it will be none of these things, nor any political honor that could be paid him that will make Adam Beck's name carry a clearer note of fame than any man of his time.
The men who have built up great industry and organized great corporations and trusts have thought chiefly for themselves, and of the people only as a means to their own end. Adam Beck has thought of the people first, and of himself as the means to their ends. He has had imaginative perception, creative ability, and executive capacity with supreme common sense.

He has devoted all these to the development of a plan which has not only added to the economic efficiency of the province and the well-being of the people, but has bound the ends of the province together, and linked the people in a brotherly union of common interests.

The further development of the great hydro-electric system of Ontario which Hon. Adam Beck outlined at Peterboro last week, is one of the romances of modern business. In face of the difficulties, the fierce opposition, the reluctance of authorities, the doubts of alleged experts and the misrepresentations of corporation hirelings, it is a matter for amazement that the scheme ever got started at all. But the notable success of its inauguration, the economical conduct of its management, and the direct effect it has had in the modification of corporation exorbitant competition, have established the scheme in the minds of the people everywhere.

The sweeping victories of last Monday for the bylaws indicate what mind the province has on the hydro-electric proposals. And not the least of the elements in the people's assurance, is the confidence they repose in Hon.
Adam Beck.

CHARLES DICKENS' FAMILY.

Mr. E. S. Williamson, president of the Toronto branch of the Dickens Fellowship, the largest in the world, called The World up yesterday to protest like Mark Twain, that the death of Mr. Henry Fielding Dickens, K.C., had been greatly exaggerated. Mr.
Dickens is still alive in London, and is life president of the Dickens Fellowship. He and Mrs. Kate Perugini, we trust, may long survive.

Lord Alverstone, thru The London Standard, is appealing for assistance for the five daughters of Charles Dickens, junior, the novelist's eldest son. They are all unmarried, and in delicate health, and while attempting to make a living in various ways, have had but indifferent success.

Subscriptions may be sent to Lord Alverstone, at Hornton Lodge, Kensington, London. Neither Mrs. Perugini nor Mr. H. P. Dickens will participate in any way in this fund.

AMBER AND AMBERGRIS.

The Globe naturalist has made a dickens of an error in confusing amber with ambergris. Amber, which is used in making pipe mouth-pieces, is a very different sort of thing from ambergris, and while valuable, of nothing like the almost fabulous value of the much rarer substance. It is from the Greek name of amber, elektron, that we derive the name of our greatest modern force, electricity, because amber, on being rubbed, exhibited the energy now known as electric.

Ambergris is the product of the permeable whale, and is therefore organic, while amber is a mineral substance. Just how ambergris is produced is not distinctly known. Some consider it a biliary product, others a secretion of the whale's brain. Frank T.
Bullen has a good deal to say about it in his writings. It is sometimes found floating on the ocean, and sometimes, as in the recent case at Nantucket, cast up on shore.

Its value depends upon its use as the basis for the most delicate and expensive perfumes, and it is worth, of course, very much more than its weight in gold. Twenty thousand dollars is a heavy burden in gold, while the lump of ambergris could not have weighed more than a few pounds.

WOMEN TAX RESISTERS.

Woman-lovely woman—has devised a new method of harassing the British Liberal Cabinet, which at least, on the question of her right to the suffrage, is a house divided against itself, and therefore, on the best authority, in a perilous condition. Many members belonging to the two militant societies and many more belonging to organizations that eschew violent methods, have bonded themselves together in a "Women's Tax Resistance League," imitating thereby the device employed by the Nonconformist opponents of Mr.

Balfour's famous—or infamous, as it may please—Education Bill. In this new move the ladies are more logical than they have been in some of their schemes to draw public attention to their grievance and to achieve its redress.

Taxation without representation is abhorrent to the free woman—why not to the free woman? What men have been constrained to resist as unconstitutional and been therein justified by the verdict of history, cannot be blamed when they are offered the fastness of imitation. Nor are women without appeal to the very recently expressed opinions of noble lords and other indignant resisters of the government's policies. One of them wrote down words to the effect that if the Unionist party was really in earnest in resisting the unconstitutional and revolutionary methods of the government, why should they not organize a refusal to pay taxes until a referendum be introduced? Sir John Lonsdale, M.P., also declared in a Toronto is rapidly acquiring a reputation for being somewhat of an artistic city, and The Sunday World photographer has secured a number of views showing some of the very ornate fronts of our various public, commercial, financial and other buildings. They are reproduced on the front page of this week's Art Section to advertise our city abroad, and will convey the message to many hundreds who receive copies of The Sunday World in the old land that Toronto is rapidly assuming an art cosmopolitanism in keeping with its growth.

Also depicted in the Art Section is a series of early winter views taken in many parts of the city, which will convince the onlooker that Toronto is no mean city in respect to beautiful scenery, inviting nooks and pleasant driveways. There are also a number of other winter scenes of various parts of Canada, including the Rouge River in Quebec, near Huberdean, Sixteen Island Lake, and Shawbridge. Also is presented a series of group views showing the flower of Canada's artisan class, including those employed at The Gendron Mfg. Company, The Ideal Bedding Company, The Otto Higel Company, The Toronto Carpet Company, American Abell Engine Company, and the G.T.R.
Freight Department. The groups include some hundreds of portraits.

One other-page of views is that of the famous Lake District of England, and some famous European points of interest that are new to most newspaper readers.

Church circles will view with pleasure the Cradle Roll group of Christ Church, Cecil Street, also a group view of the athletes of Clinton Street Methodist Church and the Infants' Home Christmas tree.

The great Panama Canal, which is nearing completion, is treated in this week's Magazine Section in a four-color reproduction of the memorial monument which is being erected in California, which will be one of the sights of the forthcoming exposition.

Military men will be interested in the views and description of the Norway soldiers who are mounted on skis.
They are classed as the most mobile army on earth.

The other regular features include Lina Cavalieri's Beauty Page, Lady Duff Gordon's Fashion Hints. Kit's Column is of absorbing interest this week as she treats a multitude of events that are uppermost during the holiday season. Nell Brinkley, the fine line artist, has a pretty picture, "All Girls Look Alike to Cupid." Margaret Bell deals with leap year in an illustrated article. George Ade's Fable this week deals with The Affluent Bachelor.

The kids have already voted The World's Comic Section the best on earth. This week it is even brighter and better than usual, printed in four colors. All the kids and some grown-ups will want to see "Flip in the Wonderful Dream," "Cousin Willie," "The Katzenjammer Kids," "Jimmy," and all the other favorites are there.

speech that "they disregard the authority of our Irish Parliament and would refuse to pay its taxes."

However, whether mankind is inclined to resent or not this further assertion of the claim to complete equality and adoption of the role of tax resister, this new movement is certain to be generally supported.
Among the arguments offered in its favor is that women who are property owners and payers of taxes and therefore count as a force in the community, owe a special duty at the present time to women who do not count.
Tax resistance, it is contended, provides in the locality where it is employed, a valuable object lesson in support of the cause which women have at heart. The claim is also made that tax resistance forms a common bond of action for suffragists of all shades of opinion; and it may be added will probably be much more generally effective and certainly far more dignified than struggles with constables and warden destruction of property.

The Telegram does not know the difference between a bridge and a canal.
After complaining for the poor people who will be compelled to cross a mile of viaduct in the cold blasts of winter, The Telegram, as a remedy, proposes to build it crooked and add ten minutes to the distance. Isn't that like The Telegram?

METROPOLITAN BANK HAS GOOD YEAR.

A year ago the Metropolitan Bank received much congratulatory notice on its excellent showing for 1910. The 1911 report, which is published elsewhere in our columns to-day, shows a new high level in the matter of earnings. The bank earned $153,860.30, or more than 18 per cent. on its capital.
Gratifying growth is apparent in all departments of the bank's business, the most remunerative being the deposit department, which has a total of $1,719,339.98 in total deposits. The total assets now exceed twelve million dollars, and of this sum $4,832,448.74, including nearly two million dollars in cash, is in readily available form.
The consistency of the Metropolitan Bank's progress is indicative of its progressive, the prudent, management and augurs well for the future success of the institution.

A D. R. O. HITS BACK.

Editor World: I notice in your issue of yesterday morning that you refer to a complaint by an elderman candidate in Ward 6, to the effect that after the closing of the poll in a certain subdivision, the names were called off the ballots by the returning officer, and that therefore the proceedings were not as "fair and aboveboard" as they should have been. I think I know the subdivision and the candidate in question, whose total vote, by the way, was a little less than one-tenth that of the successful candidate at the top of the list in that ward. The procedure followed at this subdivision is exactly the same as that followed at all the other subdivisions, so far as I can learn from the city. The ballots are taken from the box by the returning officer, who is the proper one to do this, and is called by him and tallied by the poll clerk. Sometimes, agents and candidates present may oversee any part of this work they choose; they may check the tally or examine the ballots, which are laid face upwards on the table for this purpose. In the case in question, the candidate, altho week. Injunction continued meantime.

Trial.

Before Tieszel, J.

Cartwright v. Wharton-J. H. Moss, K.C., for plaintiff; D. T. Symons, K.C., for defendant. This is an action for damages and an injunction for an infringement of the defendant's copyright in the copyright under the Dominion Copyright Act in the Canadian Law List (Canada) 1910.

Judgment: Plaintiff and defendant had for some years been in partnership, and were joint owners of the copyright. In August, 1910, the partnership was dissolved, and plaintiff purchased defendant's interest in the copyright.
Defendant in February, 1911, published The Canada Legal Directory, 1911, and plaintiff charges that this publication constitutes an infringement of his copyright. The presence in the defendant's publication of a large number of common errors in spelling and in alphabetical sequence of names in the lists forcibly suggests that the defendant's lists were these common errors appear, were copied from the plaintiff's lists. I think, therefore, the proper judgment to be made is that the defendant's publication, known as the "Canada Legal Directory, 1911," is in respect of the lists of barristers and solicitors, and of judges and court officials therein contained, an infringement of the plaintiff's copyright in respect of the Canadian Law List, 1910, and that the defendant be restrained from further printing, publishing or selling the said Canadian Legal Directory, 1911, or any reprint or future edition thereof containing any of the said lists, and that the defendant be compelled to pay to the plaintiff the costs of action up to and including the judgment. Costs of reference and further directions reserved until after master's report.

FROST KING BACKWARD

But Toronto Bay Records Show
Has Been So Before.

Little Jack Frost, the patron of the ice dealers and iceboat men, others who are vitally interested in Canada's winter season, has deserted his devotees altogether, and ice dealers who are particularly interested are sending up constant prayers for a heavy frost, and the ice-boat men are very anxious to see their winged craft gliding over the surface of Toronto Bay once more.
From a glance at the following page, however, it will be seen that this season seems to be particularly in good frosty weather, others have been equally backward. This shows the different dates on which Toronto Bay was frozen over and the dates when the bay was cleared of ice.

Frozen. Clear. Noted.

RABIES IN PORT ARTHUR

Two cases of rabies in Port Arthur have been reported at the provincial board of health office. Dr. Bell, Toronto, for the board, received a telegram that a man "critically ill with rabies" had been taken to Toronto in charge of the case for the Pasteur treatment. A later telegram said the man had died.

A third telegram has arrived, stating that another man has been bitten by the same dog and is also being sent to Toronto. The provincial health officers have telegraphed to Crown Attorney Langworthy for particulars.
