DRAW INTERNATIONAL CROWN OF GLORY FOR SCHEDULE IN BUFFALO

Delegates Adjourn to Meet Class Double-A Ball Re-Next Week and Allot the Newark Franchise.

New York, April 5.—After an all-day session, which lasted until a late hour tonight, the promoters of the new International League adjourned to meet again at Buffalo on Thursday, April 11. At the Buffalo meeting a new schedule for the coming season will be considered and adopted. The committee in charge of the schedule, as appointed today, consists of President J. H. Farrell, Joseph J. Linnell of Buffalo and Charles T. Chapin of Rochester.

Seven clubs, representing Toronto, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton, Baltimore and Jersey City capitalists, have been asked to league membership. Three applications from Newark, N.J., for the remaining franchise, were under consideration during the day, but it is not likely that an award will be made until next Thursday's meeting.

President Farrell said that the progress had been made thus far in the organization of the league, and a good deal of today's session was devoted to the consideration of bylaws and a constitution to govern the new enterprise.

It was decided that no more than the regular war tax of ten per cent. would be added to the admission prices during the coming season, so that the charges at all the ball grounds will be 25, 35 and 50 cents, according to the location of the seats. Double-headers will not be allowed during the first trip over the circuit, and no club will be allowed to transfer a player within thirty days of the close of the season. Unless some radical change is found to be necessary, the club owners have agreed that the playing season should begin May 8 and end Sept. 15.

Lajoie has stated on several occasions that unless he is allowed to accept the offer of Owner McGuff of the Indianapolis Club he will retire from baseball.

GRIFMEN MIDGETS

Joe Judge is the Tallest Man on the Washington Team.

Washington, April 5.—With the acquisition of Johnny Lavan as shortstop, the Griffins this year will have one of the smallest infelds in the major leagues, both as regards the height and weight of its members. Joe Judge is the largest of the quartet and the New Yorkers is not a big man by any means, being far under the average height of a first baseman, five feet eight inches being his figure, minus shoes, while he tips the beam at 135 pounds. He is just the same height as Judge, who appears slightly shorter, but in condition he weighs only 150. At present he is about four pounds over weight.

Lavan stands five feet seven and one-half inches in his socks and weighs 162, while Eddie Foster is the midget of the group, reaching an average of five feet six and one-half inches, the scale stopping at the 150-pound mark when he steps on them. The average weight of the Nationals' inner cordon is 154 pounds.
