GETTING CHARTER

Will the United Veterans' League experience any difficulty in securing a charter because of their constitution being almost identical with that under which the Grand Army of Canada operate?

Oct. 8-Riverdale Post, in Arm-strong Hall. Oct. 9-Grand concert of Earl Kit-chener Post, in Foresters' Hall. Oct. 10-Parkdale Post, at Brock Avenue School. W. E. Roebuck, of the legal firm of Crooks, Roebuck & Parkinson, who is in charge of the work of securing a charter for the U.V.L., is of the opinion that they will have no difficulty whatever in this respect, and stated to The World yesterday that he would be very much surprised if they did not get a cordial reception at the hands of the government when making their aplication.

While admitting that the constitu-tion of the U.V.L. was "very close" to that of the Grand Army of Canada, Mr. Roebuck stated that this would not in-terfere with the question of securing a charter, as the constitution of the G.A.C. was not protected by a copy-right, and also, that the latter assoc.a-tion was assuing the U.V.L in many right, and also, that the latter assoc.a-tion was assisting the U.V.L. in many respects. Mr. Roebuck continued that there was no law which could prevent an association from adopting a similar const.tution to that of an existing as-sociation, providing that they did not take the name of the existing associa-tion. Mr. Roebuck added that the two constitutions ware "slightly different" constitutions were "slightly different," and stated that among the "minor differences" was the clause prohibiting any government official from holding an executive position in the association whereas the G.A.C. permit a government official to enjoy this privilege, providing he does not receive a salary bove $2000 per year. The World's statement of yesterday morning concerning this matter made reference to the principal points al-ready adopted by the U.V.L. at a meet-ing in Massey Hall and not to those lesser points, which were referred to lesser points, which were referred to another meeting to be voted on. Flynn's Statement. In reference to this published state-ment, J. H. Flynn stated to The World resterday that it would be impossible for the G.A.C. to state that the two constitutions were identical, when the U.V.L. had not completed the drawing up of their constitution. Mr. Flynn said: "As far as our own constitution is drawn up I have avoided what I consider serious defects in the constitution of the G.A.C. For example, ac-cording to the constitution of the Vet-League no members receiving any salary from the government can be appointed an off.cial of the U.V.L. In the second place, all officials of the

2,600 members, to be strongly ad-verse to the plan. A letter was also malled yesterday to the chairman of the committee criticizing the action of the Dominion command in submitting a re-estab-lishment plan before it was endorsed by the branches thruout Canada. A recommendation was also made in the letter that the man serving in France should receive $50 a month for his total length of service, $30 a month for the man who served in England, and $20 a month for the man who served in Canada. "This," went on the letter, "would reimburse the man according to the length of his ser-vice and would be a fairer scheme of re-establishment." W. E. Turley, provincial secretary of the G. W. V. A., stated to The World yesterday that it was neither remarkable nor very regrettable that one branch in 575 did not agree with the policy of the Dominion command. Mr. Turley continued that it was un-fortunate that the 2,600 members that comprised the branch did not have an opportunity of stating whether the de-cision of the executive was in accord

C. will not have many candidates in the provincial field, owing to'the fact that the many re-turned soldier candidates are running under the support of the different parties and will, no doubt, carry the banner of the returned soldiers' cause successfully in the provincial house. The suggestion of Mr. Flynn that in the event of the government not being able to pay cash, bonds to the value of one tillion dollars should be issued to soldiers, was considered by Sir Thomas to be impracticable. While it would, on the face of it, finance the gratuity, the market would become flood with bonds and become demor-alized. The credit of the country would suffer, and it was all import-ant to maintain this. Such a sug-gestion could only emanate from as man who was unfamiliar with tech-nical side of financing. Claims Paper Money a Fallacy. There was, said Sir Thomas, only one country in world which still had its currency on a gold basis. That was the United States. Every coun-try should try to get back to this basis. If our currency was further inflated, the value of a dollar would sodo, considering that she had come thru the war.
