Prominent Local Broker Predicts In the Mining Market and Prices Make a Sharp Upward

By the rise in mining stocks to-day tremendous enthusiasm was manifest among the brokers after the close of the market, being freely bid for Nipissing, A prominent floor broker of the stock exchange ment floor broker of the stock exchange said with more spirit than has been seen for a month: The market closed for sale. I doubt if you could secure a good flue of any stock without lifting the good flue of any stock and the stock and the stock good flue of any stock and the stock good flue of any stock and the stock good flue of any stock one wise New York financier says: You should bever read news of any kind in relation to a stock after it has had a big drop. If you do, you are sure to get cold feet. This comes true with regard to Nipissing stock. Those who sold out around 11 and 12 no doubt read news of a bearish callive and are now wearing crape. I see by The Wall-street Journal that there appeared to be converted buying under 12 of Nipissing (not public buying), but inside buying by great big men.

Personally I attribute the renewed activity to the absorption of Cobalt stocks by large interests, who have recently visited Cobalt themselves. They have returned enthusiastic and with the conviction that the goods are there; that the camp is there to stay. At the cost of reportition, I again, affirm that the market is claim on the top of the Temiskaming forest reserve, which was taked about 18 Adelaide St. East.

Payment Will Be Made Saturday. peridence, we are in for some blo months shead and with bloger profits than ever for holders of Cobalt shares.

Payment Will Be Made Saturday.

Another meeting of the Cobalt Lake Syndicate was held yesterday afternoon.

"Nothing worth mentioning," Sir Henry Peliatt informed The World last night, "occurred at the meeting, which was one for purely routine matter,"

"The balance of the payment is due to the government on Saturday, is it not?" Sir Henry was asked.

"Oh, yes: but that is all arranged for

Mr. David Fasken, director of the Mplissing Mines Co., was interviewed by The World to-day relative to the strength and renewed activity in the Nipissing shares. Mr. Fasken said: "There is nothing new in the situation regarding the mine. We are working away on the claims as tho there was never a stock market. Stock contations do not retard the progress of development: development that will ultimately prove the yadie of Nipissing. But winter weather will have to be an unknown quantity before the best work on the mine is manifest. Shipments of ore will continue to increase from now forward and Canadian stockholders will have the satisfaction. I think, of seeing their opinions corroborated in the near future."
