BUILDING BOOMS THROUOUT DISTRICT

Houses Being Erected and Contracts Let for Others to Be Built.

DANFORTH

Sales of building lots on the new Danforth Gardens subdivision on Danforth avenue, are brisk, and many homes are at present being erected, according to an agent of the owners.
A block of land on Greenwood avenue, about 200 feet frontage, has been purchased by the Presbyterian community for the erection of a new church. A 250-foot frontage has been secured on Danforth avenue by Fred Lankin, builder, who will commence the erection of a number of solid-brick dwellings, and will begin operations during the winter, according to agreement with the owners of the estate.
A well-known building contractor will erect a new building on Milverton boulevard, in the early spring. Sewers and water service are being installed by the civic authorities at the present time.

Following the anniversary services held in First Avenue Baptist Church, and conducted by Rev. Robert White, Brampton, a grand concert was given and supper provided for 300 guests in the brightly decorated building last evening. The artists who contributed to the musical program were Owen A. Smyly and Mrs. Guy Hume (formerly Miss Irene Simon). Rev. Dr. Graham, pastor, occupied the chair.

Court Chapter, No. 7819, A.O.F., held a well-attended concert in St. Barnabas' Parish Hall, Danforth avenue, last night. The proceeds will be devoted to the relief of a brother in distress.

Roseale Lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, held their regular monthly euchre and dance in Players' Hall, Danforth avenue, last evening. A string orchestra rendered a splendid dance program, and prizes were awarded the winners in the euchre contest. J. Benjamine supervised the entertainment arrangements, and J. Smith, president, occupied the chair.

Without Park Social Club held a pleasant gathering in Players' Hall, Danforth avenue, last night. A short musical program was contributed. P. Shaw, president, occupied the chair.

BOYS AND GIRLS TOGETHER IN WARD

Alderman Richard Honeyford is in receipt of a communication from Dr. Chas. J. Hastings in connection with the recent complaint of a Riverside resident who stated that children of both sexes occupied the same ward in the isolation hospital. The letter states:

"Replying to your communication re complaint laid at the meeting of the Riverside Ratepayers' Association, concerning boys and girls sleeping in the same ward, I beg to say that there is a separate ward for children known as the infants' ward, where children under five years of age, boys and girls, are housed. I am surprised beyond measure to hear of the statement that boys and girls are housed together in the same ward. I find that it has been customarily operated to have children in the same ward, as is the custom also in the hospital for sick children."

LAKEHORE ROAD WILL HAVE LATE NIGHT CAR

The radial car company, in response to a widespread demand by lake shore residents, have arranged to put on a late night car, leaving Sunnyside each midnight. With regard to the request for additional cars morning and evening, the company state that there is not sufficient traffic during the day to keep such additional cars busy.

The improvement promised by the township council some time ago on the highway at Stop 35 is to be commenced at once. The road at the point running thru to the middle road will be graded up. There is a feeling in the community that the council have not done all they might with regard to the promised subway under the G.T.R. tracks at Stop 32.

DEGREE MEETING.
Moose Lodge, No. 87, held a degree meeting last night in Moose Hall, Dundas street. The membership has been growing rapidly.

TORONTO WORLD'S WEEKLY NOVEL

CHAPTER XVII.

Continued From Yesterday Morning.
The voice of the room was broken by the sudden ringing of the telephone bell. For a moment Jack hesitated, as if he were waiting for an opportunity to take a mouthpiece. Then he took down the receiver.

"Hello," he said indignantly.
The reply came in a tone no less dulcet: "How do you do, Mr. Robinson?"

"Very glad to get your call," he replied. "Heard a light laugh on the wire. I thought you were kidding. But I was sure I would find you there."

"Who is this?" asked Jack sparring for time.
"Need you ask?" replied the mocking voice. "This is the owner of the desk at which you are now seated."

"I don't know," said Jack. "Mustn't let him think he's putting it over on you!"

"How do you do. So glad you called me up."

"Sorry I was out when you called."

"Very glad to wait until you can get back," said Jack.

"That's nice of you. But I'm mighty sorry I've been called out. I was a great collector was vaguely stirred by something familiar in the man's voice. But he could not place it."

When the exchange of ironical civilities began to peter out, Jack asked: "What can I do for you, Mr. B?"

"I just wanted a little chat with you. I asked you to congratulate you on your game."

"Thanks!"

"That's a mighty interesting game that you and I have been playing the last few weeks; a sort of chess game with human pawns, eh?"

"That's right."

"Well, you've won. You have checkmated me."

"Do you mind telling me what you mean by that exactly?"

"I have quit; closed up Anderson and the other agencies; paid off and called in all my operatives."

"Going to retire on your winnings, eh?"

"Quite a little, I should say. But I don't mind the credit of believing that it was not the money I was playing for, but the joy of the game. It was a great game. For three years I have pitted myself singlehanded against the combined wealth of the country. I have taken my toll of the millionaires, and not all the wealth commands was able to stop me."

"True enough," said Jack grimly. "I could admire you myself if you had only lost. I should have to consider that your head is strong enough not to be turned by what I'm telling you."

"In other words you're too good a man, I hope, to be unduly puffed up by the fact that I salute you as the victor and retire from the game. So long as you have stopped me you will not feel that it is necessary for your triumph to have me apprehended."

"Oh, I didn't say that," Jack answered quickly. "I should have to consider that carefully. I couldn't promise anything offhand."

"True!" said the voice quickly, with a touch of pique. "I want no promise. It is nothing to me what you decide, I like you for your sportsmanlike qualities, and therefore I give you fair warning. It

To Settle Turmoil.
There are two events which will have the effect of settling the Conservative party together," said Hon. Thomas Crawford, M.L.A. "The first is the meeting in Massey Hall, where the new premier, who has already made this mark and created a good impression everywhere, will address the Toronto citizens, and the second is the forthcoming convention when all delegates will have an opportunity to discuss the coming general election and the future of the party."

The result of the election of delegates to the forthcoming convention will be a measure to carry on all possible work that can be performed without loss of time. The speaker discussed the personnel of the commission appointed by the Drury government in connection with the hydro radial investigation, and claimed that it was meant to give a bump to Sir Adam Beck.
