Giants' Trainer Dead.
McKall, for twenty-three years trainer of baseball teams for John McGraw, died in Boston last week after a brief illness with pneumonia. The negro trainer was taken sick while the Giants were in the Hub, and he was left behind in a hospital. The news of his death came as a surprise.

First with the old Baltimore Orioles, later with the Giants, McKall acted as trainer of team of which McGraw was either a player or manager. He trained the Orioles first in 1899, and when McGraw came to New York in the summer of 1902 to become manager of the Giants, McKall went with him. In 1903 McGraw lent McKall to Joe Kelley, who was then manager of the Boston Braves. McKall was a familiar figure at the Polo Grounds, and he was known by eight to thousands of fans. In point of service he was one of the oldest trainers in baseball.

Wolves Lost.
St. George, June 12.—St. George whitewashed the Wolves of the St. John City League and talked up six runs on the A. A. grounds here on Saturday. LeVitt's perfect peg from deep left to the plate saved the Wolves from scoring this being the only double play in the game.

City League Game Off.
The game in the City Amateur Baseball League, which was scheduled to be played last evening on the East End grounds between the Commercial and Wolves, was cancelled by order of A. W. Covey, president of the M. P. B. A. U. of C. and Frank White, president of the league, owing to the fact that the Wolves went to St. George on Saturday and played with an independent team there. It is the intention of the amateur authorities to suspend the members of the Wolves' team, who made the trip and the official bulletin is expected within a few days.

Game Postponed.
The regular game between the St. John's and the St. Peter's was postponed last evening, owing to the wet conditions of the grounds.

"Kid" Wedge Enters Movies.

Tucson, Ariz., June 13.—Fred ("Kid") Wedge, former prize fighter, who attracted nation-wide attention when he hopped his way to Harvard, plans to leave Tucson to enter the movies in his own production. Several weeks spent in Tucson in an effort to establish a physical culture school having failed, he signed a contract to appear in his own life story.

Wedge declared that he intended to employ his profits to return to Harvard, which he was compelled to leave on account of waning finances.

"Some of the moving picture producers," said Wedge, "have informed me that my story has educational value. They say it brings out the fact that no matter how poor and illiterate a man may be or regardless of the fact that he may have grown to manhood before he could read and write, he need not remain without an education."

Hockey.
Sussex Protest Sustained.

The protest of the Sussex hockey team concerning the game played between that club and the Charlottetown Abegweit at Sussex on Feb. 22, in the play-off for the championship of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, has been sustained by the executive of the M. P. B. A. U. of C. The protest, across over the permitting, by the referee, of two Charlottetown players who were in the penalty box at the end of the regular game to take their places on the ice at the commencement of the overtime play without completing the balance of their penalty period before resuming their places in the line-up.

C. N. R. MATTERS

Matter of Deficit in Question Put to President Hanna in Ottawa Committee.

Ottawa, June 13.—(Canadian Press)—The result was to change a substantial surplus into a deficit substantially increasing to the present time.
That question was put to President Hanna of the Canadian National Railway by Hon. A. B. Hudson yesterday, in the special house committee on railway costs.

The question came as a climax in Mr. Hudson's examination of Mr. Hanna. He had pursued the history of the Canadian Northern from its inception. Mr. Hanna had said that the Canadian Northern had had an annual surplus over fixed charges from 1896 to 1913. The physical connection between eastern and western lines of the Canadian Northern was made in 1914 and then there was a deficit of $1,640,000 on fixed charges. At this point Mr. Hudson's question was asked.

"That may be," was Mr. Hanna's reply, "but I would like to qualify it. Operating conditions have changed and you can hardly compare existing conditions with those in the old times. If the changes in conditions are lost sight of, an inference might be drawn that we had lost our ability to operate."

The main change in conditions, suggested Mr. Hudson, "is the opening up of the unprofitable eastern sections."

"Not very unprofitable," was the reply.

PLAN TO USE RADIO TELEPHONE FOR BULLETINS AT REGATTA.
Annapolis, Md., June 13.—Radio telephones will probably be used at the Foughter's regatta to inform spectators of the progress of the race, experiments of Lieut. Commander Frank W. Rockwell, rowing representative, with such an apparatus being highly successful.

A transmitting set has been installed on a launch and messages have been sent from several miles up the Severn River to the Naval Academy.

It is proposed to have such a set installed on a fast boat following the regatta. Bulletins could be sent as the race progresses and would be received by a boat near the finish line and amplified so that they could be heard by thousands of people.

LOCUSTS NEARING CHICAGO.
Their Humming Causes Schools to Be Dismissed in Aurora, Ill.

Chicago, June 13.—Towns of the Fox River Valley have been invaded by millions of seventeen-year locusts, which descended in a huge swarm, moving east toward Chicago.

In Aurora some persons took sticks and knocked the insects out of trees in the belief that the locust lay eggs at the base of new twigs, and that these twigs would die.

The humming of the army was reported to make ordinary conversation difficult. Schools were dismissed, because pupils found it hard to study.

CHEMISTS BURNED IN GASOLINE BLAST

Fifty-Gallon Drum Explodes in Laboratory of a Bayonne Butter Plant—One Dead, Two in Hospital.

Bayonne, N. J., June 13.—Two men were fatally injured and a third barely escaped with his life when a fifty-gallon drum of gasoline exploded in the laboratory of the Nucos Butter Company, Fourth street and Avenue A.

The explosion was caused by a fire which threatened the laboratory and adjoining buildings before it was extinguished by the fire department and the employees of the butter plant.

Alex. H. Smalley, twenty-five years of age, died from his injuries. Smalley was chief chemist in the laboratory and was a graduate of Cornell, is his assistant. The third man is Laurence Vasquez, twenty-three, of 108 Avenue A, a helper, who was injured in the explosion.

The chemist and his assistant were burned from head to foot. The helper was burned about the face and chest. The victims were taken to Bayonne Hospital.

Smalley, Waldstein and Vasquez were the only employees in the laboratory when the accident occurred.

The force of the explosion smashed every window in the laboratory building, a two-story structure. Door and window frames were torn from their places and tables and chairs wrecked.

According to William Winslip, superintendent of the plant, the explosion occurred after the chemist, his assistant and helper had carried the drum of gasoline into the laboratory. The drum had been lying in the open for two days and the heat of the sun probably contributed to the cause of the explosion.

When it was rolled into the laboratory and the cap removed from the drum, there was a deafening roar that caused the building to quake. The three employees were lying unconscious on the floor of the laboratory when their rescuers found them.

6,500 DIVORCE CASES BREAK DOWN JUDGE.
Chicago, June 13.—Broken in health from strain of two years' work in the divorce courts, Judge Joseph Sabath collapsed and is confined to his apartment in a hotel.

Facing a breakdown, he asked Chief Justice Sullivan to relieve him temporarily from the divorce court assignment and allow him to hear civil cases only.

Having heard more than 6,500 suits in two years, Judge Sabath attributes his illness to concern over custody of children, involved in separations which he was forced to legalize, as well as to his never-ceasing attempts to reconcile warring couples.

His experience as a mediator in domestic difficulties has not made him a pessimist on marriage, a statement issued by him today from his sickbed said.

"Tell the young people not to be afraid. Tell them to marry young. I have seen enough unhappiness in marriage to make any man cynical, but I am its greatest booster. If a young fellow has a job that is steady and the right girl he should forget about orange blossoms, church wedding and automobiles and should help his girl to forget it, too. They should get busy fighting for a home—fighting the world, and not each other. I got married when I was eighteen, without a dime, and I know."

"Too many couples insist on having bank accounts, furnished homes and automobiles all ready before they marry, and in waiting for these things they learn to be selfish. They want things their own way. When things go wrong they rush into a divorce court. They won't give in and the future of their children does not seem to concern them. They are selfish to the core."
