

WILL HANDLE THE RENFORTH SPORTS

Committees for Proper Conduct of Events Next Month are Appointed.

All preliminary preparations for the big Renforth Regatta day to be held by the Renforth Athletic and Outing Association on August 26 are now well under way and the committees is endeavoring to get the primary steps finished in a short time to leave opportunity for dealing with emergency situations that may arise. The individual departments have been left in the hands of committees to report back to the association on all important matters. The committees, which were appointed at a recent meeting, are as follows:—
Race committee—F. W. Coombs, chairman, (chairman to appoint committee).
Course committee—F. J. Nisbet, chairman, Wilson Dalton, F. E. Garrett and G. Smith.
Advertising committee—Guy Smith, chairman, A. C. Clarke, Edgar Pritchard, R. D. Fudger.
Transportation committee—Joseph Pritchard, chairman, Arthur Walker.
Prize committee—F. W. Coombs, chairman, F. W. Garrett.
Parking committee—Joseph Pritchard, chairman, Roy Gregory.
Refreshment committee—F. J. Nisbet, chairman, Paul Cross, Harry Morton, Wilson Dalton, Lou Armstrong, L. V. Price.
Music committee—Paul Cross, chairman, Pat Wetmore, Hugh Gregory.
Fakir privileges committee—Pat Wetmore, chairman, Wilson Dalton, F. E. Garrett.
Oarsmen committee—F. J. Nisbet, chairman, Roy Gregory, R. D. Fudger.
It is planned to start soon to lay out courses for the various events and to arrange for the patrolling of these while races are in progress. Arrangements will be made, if possible, with the C. N. E. for a special train and extra cars to handle the increased traffic. The matter of the parking of automobiles will be taken up with the government. All the local oarsmen and rowing organizations, as well as the prominent outside clubs, will be communicated with regarding possible entries for the events. It is hoped by those in charge that success will attend this event in the same measure as it attended the larger Regatta last year on the anniversary of the death of James Renforth.

UMPIRE KILLED BY IRATE FAN

Cowardly Assault With Bat—Arbitrator Hit on the Head.

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—Putting into action the thought which is often recklessly expressed at baseball games, a spectator at a game in Fenton, St. Louis county, killed the umpire.
The umpire, Charles Bouzek, 33 years old, a Deputy Sheriff of Jefferson county, having a wife and four children, was struck on the head with a bat wielded by the dissatisfied spectator, and fell unconscious. He was taken to Lutheran Hospital, St. Louis, and died there.
Charles Woolley, 18, of Valley Park, was held, charged with the assault. The prosecuting attorney's office said he would be formally charged with first degree murder. The game was between the Fenton and Valley Park teams, and in the fifth inning the score was 5 to 0 in Fenton's favor. Valley Park was at bat, and Bouzek, who was umpiring the bases, was standing near first.
A Valley Park baserunner took a long lead off first base, and when the ball was thrown to first and the Valley Park man tried to regain the base, Bouzek declared him out. The Valley Park players and some spectators who favored the visiting team raised an uproar.
As the noise was subsiding, a youth, said by spectators to have been Woolley, arose from the place where he had been sitting, beyond centerfield, and walked toward the umpire at first base. A bat lay in the path of the youth. He picked it up, and held it behind him as he walked toward Bouzek. An instant later the youth struck Bouzek over the right ear with the bat. Bouzek fell, and his assailant dropped the bat and ran.

HISTORIC CASTLE LEASED BY GOULD

Principal Seat of the Earls of Seafield, Chiefs of Clan Grant, Since 1701—King's Favorite Moors.

(Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette.)

London, July 16.—In line with the published reports that George J. Gould intended to abandon America and live on this side of the Atlantic with his bride, The Strathpey Herald, a Highlands weekly paper, states:—
"George Jay Gould, New York, is expected in a few days at Castle Grant, which he has rented for the season."
Castle Grant is one of the many properties in the Scottish Highlands owned by the Seafield family, the head of which is the Earl of Seafield. The only member of the Seafield family who is at present in London, said tonight that he had seen the statement concerning the lease of Castle Grant to Mr. Gould, and while he thought it likely, he would not confirm it. He added, however, that the castle was not for sale.
There are many cottages and shooting lodges on the vast estates of the Seafield, but there is only one Castle Grant, which has been the principal seat and home of the Earls of Seafield, the chief of the Clan Grant, for centuries. The title goes back to 1701. There is an interesting and romantic history connected with the Seafields, who played an important part in the negotiations which resulted in the union of Scotland and England and ended up some years ago as squatters in New Zealand. In July, 1912, there was celebrated at Castle Grant the home-coming of the Earl of Seafield, from his New Zealand abode. There was a great gathering of the clan, marshalled in Grantown Square, where they marched to the castle, the ancient seat of the family.

The new Earl, when the war broke out, left for France as a captain in the Cameron Highlanders. On November 5, 1918, he was killed in battle and once again the direct male line to the Seafield estates has been broken and the lands and possessions, including the finest shooting ranges and fishing rights in Scotland go to Lady Nina Seafield, a minor.
Mr. Gould will have the right of enjoying these privileges as a tenant of the castle. The spot is one of King George's favorites for a few days with his gun when shooting starts after August 12, and it is quite probable that Mr. Gould will meet the royal party on these moors.
It is almost an unheard of thing for the castle to be "let." No doubt the fact that trustees have charge until Lady Nina, the daughter of the late Earl, be- comes of age has something to do with it. The castle, located in one of the most beautiful spots in all Scotland, is surrounded by "Porter-lodges" with the red deer room around the castle grounds, keeping the grass nice and short, dispensing with mowers. The fences are high to prevent their escape, and therefore very difficult for outsiders to climb over.
When the Seafields are at home the castle is open to visitors on certain days and hours, but the new lessee can do about this just what he likes. The castle is not by any means a cottage, but a veritable Highland castle, surrounded by loyal and hospitable highlanders, where the Goulds "can have a real honeymoon, and where the clan system still lives."
Strathpey is the home of the "Seaforth's," the "Gordon Highlanders," the "Cameron" and other Highland regiments which comprised the celebrated Fifty-first Division in the world war.

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

Here is a method for removing hair from arms, neck or face that is unfailing and is quite inexpensive. Mix a thick paste with some powdered detolene and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine detolene and mix fresh.

SAME DEFORMITY IN 4 GENERATIONS

Child, Mother and Grandmother Have One Finger on Each Hand—A Great Grandfather's Curse.

London, July 20.—Whether a great-grandfather's curse is the cause of four succeeding generations in one family being born with deformed hands and feet is to be the subject of a biological research in Nottingham. The question arose out of testimony heard at the inquest over a child who died from accidental inattention at birth. The attending doctor said that the child, like the mother and the grandmother, had only one finger on each hand and one toe on each foot.
The grandmother, Mrs. Anne Carter, said that a little before her birth "my father cursed my mother because she interfered with his stock taking machine, saying that he hoped the baby would be born without fingers. When he learned that I had only two fingers and two toes he was frantic and tore his hair."
Three of Mrs. Carter's eighteen children are similarly defective. Members of the Eugenic Education Society maintain that there is not sufficient evidence to show that acquired characteristics are inherited. They say that the deformity may have existed in the family before the curse, but had remained masked for a generation or two.

Dr. Stanley Dodd, a Harley Street specialist, says that he is inclined to attribute the deformity of the grandmothers to coincidence rather than the curse.
"Deformities undoubtedly are hereditary," he said. "A clubfoot often runs through several generations, and missing teeth likewise."

AFTER TAKING POISON DECIDES LIFE IS GOOD

St. Thomas, July 20.—A local doctor received a genuine surprise when a youth of the city walked into his office and asked that he be examined, explaining that in a rash moment he had contemplated suicide and had drunk a quantity of oil of cedar.
Immediately afterward the young man changed his mind about departing this life in such a hurried manner and sought medical aid. The doctor found that the oil had done the young man little serious harm, but warned him not to make any more experiments of that nature.

GENERAL ELECTION IN THE YUKON SOON

Dawson, Y. T., July 19.—The Yukon legislative assembly has been dissolved. Writs will be issued this week for an election in the territory to take place some time in September. The Yukon legislative council consists of thirteen members elected by popular vote, presided over by a commissioner appointed by the federal government. Commissioner McKenzie, the present incumbent, issued a proclamation yesterday dissolving the present legislature which was elected in February 1920.
