characteristics
well illustrated a story that is told of him. Not long before he came to Canada, he met a young English squire, who had gained some distinction in the South African War and had been awarded a valued medal.
It was at a ball and the duke, who had known the young soldier before, took occasion to chide him for not wearing his medal. "You should not leave it off said he, "I expect you to wear it." Some time later on, the two were brought together again at some function. The soldier was again without his medal but luckily had it in his pocket. He hurriedly got behind a friendly door and pinned it on his dress tunic. At length when the duke met him, the great officer drew him aside. "Dear B——," he said, "when a man has won an honor he ought to know how to wear it." And with deft fingers he undid the fastening and placed the medal in a proper position on the left breast. It was a delicate little incident and showed the duke in a most likeable aspect.

OUR ancestors wound great cumbersome watches with keys and were satisfied if they ran within a couple of minutes a day.

Our ancestors bought diamonds of any shape, any color, any cutting.

Today there is a growing demand for watches that are small and thin and that will run within 30 seconds a month.

Today there is a big demand for the finest diamonds to be had.
They must be WHITE, ROUND, FREE FROM FLAWS AND
PERFECTLY CUT. WE HAVE THEM.

WE HAVE THEM AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

WE EXTEND A MOST COR-DIAL INVITATION TO ALL
TO EXAMINE OUR GOODS
AND VALUES.

THE CROOKSHANK FARM

R. D. Johnson, of Paget, Bermuda, owner of the Crookshank farm of 300 acres on the Marsh road, arrived in the city yesterday with his son, to take charge of the property, and will remain here during the summer, to be joined later by his family of ten. Mr. Johnson, who was a visitor to the city last year with the Manufacturers' Association and invested in this splendid property through Allison & Thomas, said yesterday that he had not yet fully decided as to what he would do with the property this summer. He may possibly sub-divide it according to the prospects for sale this summer, or may farm it on a large scale, as he has several stalwart sons who will spend the summer here with him.

Mr. Johnson plans to put in shape at once one of the buildings on this property to serve as a residence for his family for the summer. Mr. Johnson is the owner of several valuable ponies in Bermuda, and has applied for permission to bring them here. They are valued at $1,000 each.
