SIX ALREADY AND A SEVENTH ASSURED

Entries for Next Week's Cycle Race — Good Contest Also in Running Race

One week from today the twenty mile bicycle race and the ten mile road race under the auspices of the St. John Lodge of Moose, will take place. The committee met last evening at the office of A. W. Covey to complete the arrangements. There are already six entries for the bicycle race and a seventh is practically assured, and there can be no question that this will be the most keenly contested bicycle race of the winter series for the Dunlop trophy. Entries have been received from Winchester of Charlottetown, Cochrane of Bloomfield, and four local men, Walsh, Milton, Gallet and Spearman. The entry of Oulton of Amherst is expected today or tomorrow.

The races will start at three o'clock. Because of the work being done on the Marsh road, this side of the One Mile House, it will be necessary for the competitors to go from Cooper's corner, on the Westmorland road to Kane's corner, and thence across to the One Mile House following the following route on their return. The competitors in the two races will be entertained that evening at a smoker in the Moose Home, and Mayor Frink will be asked to present the prizes.

HOME TROUBLE TOLD OF IN POLICE COURT

A family quarrel received a brief but spicy airing in the police court this morning. The kernel of the whole trouble was Mrs. Benjamin Fish swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, charging him with assault and threatening to stab her with a jack-knife. Benjamin was in court and quiet with over the action of his wife. Moreover he was indignant at the court because it refused to issue a warrant for him, for the arrest of his son on charge of assault. He became indignant when his wife gave evidence against him and when she left the stand rushed from the court before he could ask her any questions. He appealed to the judge to bring her back, but she didn't come. He vociferated freely and eloquently, and was sent into jail until afternoon.

According to Mrs. Fish her husband came home last night after having been drinking. Her son, she said, was spending a week's vacation in the city with her at Frederick street. As soon as Benjamin came in he began to wrangle with the son. "He hauled a jack knife on me and he would stick it in me if I tried to get past him" said Mrs. Fish. "He broke the table, smashed the lamp and nearly all the furniture in the house. Last night he ordered me to move from the house and I have nowhere to go."

Here Fish interrupted and said he wanted to have his son arrested for assault. He was instructed to sit down, which he did, after a spicy little speech. "My son didn't assault him at all," said Mrs. Fish. "He just bumped his head against the wall, and put a few lumps on it, just to keep him quiet." The two started to cross-question one another on family matters and they had gained such headway, that it was difficult to stop them. "Is there no way that I can get separated from this man. I don't want to live with him at all. He doesn't keep me. The son he wants arrested has paid my rent for the last ten years, and he just came here for his holidays. I don't want to live with him." Mr. Fish rose to his feet and protested that the court should issue his warrant.

Mrs. Fish left the witness box and rushed from the room. The prisoner rose again and called her back. "I want't to ask her some questions. You won't bring her back you say. Well this is some court. You won't give a fellow a show at all. Do you think I'm going to let my wife chase me with a knife and my son kick me? Nothin' doin'." "We all know you," said the magistrate. "Why didn't you call in a policeman last night, asked the magistrate of Mrs. Fish. "I did," she protested. "But he would not arrest him, because the broken furniture was outside the door. He told me to get a warrant." "Well he'd better read the police act. I suppose he'd wait until someone was murdered and then make an arrest." She promised to have her son in court at two o'clock.

Samuel G. Kilpatrick Leaves Money to St. Luke's

BIBLES FOR LITTLE ONES

Probate Court Also Deals With The Estates of James Taylor, George Saunders and Edward McCarrick

In the probate court today, the will of Samuel George Kilpatrick, bookkeeper with codfied, was proved. After providing for the erection of a monument on his family lot, he gives to his daughter, Annie M. Kilpatrick, for life the freehold lot and buildings, and furniture therein, occupied by the deceased in Douglas avenue; to his son William G. H. Kilpatrick of East Orange, New Jersey, $2,000, to his daughter, Ella T. wife of J. Cecil Mitchell of Douglas avenue, $2,000; to his sister Ellen, widow of John Thompson of Wollaston, Mass., $2,000; to his niece, Mary Kilpatrick of Crown street, $200; to Sarah, wife of Robert McKean of East Milton, Mass., $100; to Elizabeth, wife of William Quinney, Mass., $100; to Lucy, wife of Howard Mowatt of St. John, $100; to his grandchildren Mari-on and Margaret Kilpatrick and S. Leslie and Edythe M. Mitchell, $50 each; to the rectory, church wardens and vestry of St. Luke's church, St. John, for the purpose of providing and placing in said church, an electric hearing instrument or device for enabling deaf persons to hear the sermons and service, $200; to the superintendent and officers of the Sunday school of St. Luke's church to be invested at interest, said interest to be used for the purpose of providing small Bibles for scholars grading from the infant class to the main school, $500; to the St. John branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, $100 to be used in providing and distributing Bibles to foreign immigrants coming into Canada for settlement, through the Port of St. John; to his daughter Ella T. Mitchell, a lot of land at Ononette; to his son William G. H. Kilpatrick and to his nieces, Annie M. Kilpatrick and Ella T. Mitchell, the proceeds of his life insurance for $8,000; to his son William, a sword or cutlass, a relic of Waterloo, and other effects.

The rest of his estate he gives to his executors, in trust for his daughter Annie M. Kilpatrick for her life, and after her death to divide the same to his children or their issue, and he nominates his son William G. H., his son-in-law J. Cecil Mitchell and The Eastern Trust Company executors. Personal estate is $9,000, including life policy of $2,000; real estate under $3,000; total estate under $19,000. Messrs. Barnhill, Ewing and Saunders are named as executors. The court took up the matter of the estate of James Taylor of the North End, shoe cutters. He died intestate, leaving the following issue: a daughter, a nephew, Matthew J. Cavanaugh, driver in the fire department, son of the deceased's sister, Isabel Cavanaugh, wife of John Cavanaugh, both of whom are dead; and the children of Ellen, wife of John O'Brien, both deceased, she a daughter of Isabel Cavanaugh, such children being Irene of Lewiston, Me., Richard and Leo of St. John, clerk, and Richard O'Brien of Lewiston, Me., shoe factory employe, and Gladys O'Brien of St. John, all under the age of twenty-one. On the petition of the nephew, Matthew J. Cavanaugh, he was sworn in as executor. There is no real estate; personal estate $2,000. Messrs. MacRae Sinclair and MacRae are proctors.

The will of Edward McCarrick yeoman, with codfied was proved. He, deceased, gave to William E. Walsh, grocer, $500 due from him to the testator being the balance of the purchase price of a farm at Spectacle Lake and secured by the same place on the farm. The rest of his property he gives to the Sisters of Charity of St. John, New Brunswick, to pay and apply so much thereof as may be necessary towards the perpetual care and keeping in good order of the lot in the Golden Grove cemetery on the Village road, where his father and mother are buried, and where it is his wish that he should be buried, and towards the erection of suitable monuments; the remainder to be for the general use of the hospital, the Ericordiae Home in Sydney street. He nominates George C. Coster of St. John, barrister-at-law, and Patrick Fitzpatrick and James G. Underwood, executors. The former having predeceased the testator, the latter was sworn in as executor. There is no real estate; personal estate $2,800. W. J. Mahoney is proctor.

The will of George Saunders of St. John, formerly of Kings county, retired sea captain, was proved. He gives three of his daughters nominal sums each and the rest of his estate to his remaining daughter Mary Jane, wife of Edward Nooman, brakeman, and nominates her as executrix. She was sworn in as such. Real estate in Kings county is valued at $700, personal property of nominal value. John A. Barry is proctor.

CIVIL CASE TODAY IN CIRCUIT COURT

The trial of the case of Robt. Jones & Co., of Liverpool, England, vs. Matthew Burgess and James Burgess of Grand Falls, trustees, doing business under the name and style of James Burgess & Sons, was commenced in the Circuit Court this morning before Mr. Justice White and the following jury:—Charles S.
