HAMILTON NOTES.

We are keeping ourselves in working trim here by holding a lecture on the first Sunday of each month, using the intervening Sundays for business meetings and discussion class. For our last lecture we invited the recently formed Fabian Society of Hamilton to provide a speaker. They sent J. M. Counsell' a prominent lawyer, who outlined the objects of the parent body in Britain and said his society intended working along similar lines here. . If Mr. Counsell is typical of the other members (who include we understand one or two leading manufacturers) the movement at this stage should benefit from their work. His talk was followed by several questions and good discussion. We are all looking forward to the Ontario International Picnic at Wabasso, on August 3rd, when we hope to meet comrades from many points of the province.

A JUVENILE CORRESPONDENT.

Dear Editor : -

I am twelve years old, I have a good home and I am very happy but feel sorry for those children who are not happy and are starving. I know why there are so many poor people, my mother and father have taught me the cause of poverty. My father and mother are socialists and I want to be one too. I want to work so that the war will stop, and that the nations will learn to love one another.

My mother and father come from Finland and over there the White Guards kill all the socialists they can get hold of. In Canada the person who speaks the wuth is much hated. On July 1st the Toronto socialists had a picnic but there were not many present, I would like to see all nation alities represented at our picnic.

I write to the Finnish paper too. Yours sincerely, Harold Parkkonen

This war makes a fitting grand finale to that long-drawn-out tragedy called capitalism.

What will be the fate of our friend here in Vancouver none can tell, but this rending of the veil is a most significant ing itself. The superstructure of sofact. This is however, history repeatciety must ever change with the shifting of the economic basis.

The Bourgeoise Revolution in which the commercial and industrial classes overthrew the feudal regime and in which capitalism was enthroritual transformation, expressed in the great Protestant Reformation. and today we have recently felt the first local shock of importance, representing the spiritual earthquake which will in due time shatter the tomb of theology and result in the real ressurection of Him-who has been exucified by the ruling class priesthood for fifteen long agonizing Centuries.

Comrade Kingsley's of course only general outline of the development of a Society conceived in injustice and perpetuated by slavery can be given. This is given, and in forcible and striking language that one does not forget. Our Comrade has seen the Truth and bears witness thereunto by favoring the workers of today with a text book on History of greater practical value that any massive volume on the subject hitherto published.

Every Socialist should read this book, and after reading pass it along to a friend not yet in the fold. For even the uninitiated will perceive that "here be truths" which have the authoritative sanction of that sound common sense which the long-suffering workers still possess in large degree, in spite of Capitalistic educational systems.

Get the book today and read it next Sunday after Church. Price only 10c., worth $10.00. St. Jean
