Men Rule by Force, Women by Charm.

And yet because they live less strenuously, women neglect the early evidences of failing vigor.

The wise woman will not permit her charms to be robbed by ill-health. When she feels appetite failing, nerves getting on edge, color fading, she takes Ferrozone. How it sharpens the appetite? How quickly rich blood is available to restore color to the cheeks, buoyancy to the step. Don't be debarred from strength and spirits, don't succumb to illness and despair. Ferrozone supplies tone and vigor through which all functions of womanly life are maintained and fortified.

From New Richmond, Que., comes the following statement of Mrs. Isidore Boisoneault: "I take deep pleasure in testifying to the powerful influence of Ferrozone. For years my daughter has been pale and sickly—showed signs of advanced anaemia. Her lips got so white and her cheeks so devoid of color I feared consumption. I can certify Ferrozone made an excellent cure, and today my daughter's health is the best."

Mountains of misery can be saved by using Ferrozone promptly. 50c. per box, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

SAYS HE HAD NO WISH TO DEFRAUD

Singer Case in Court; Rogers Hoped to Be Able to Reimburse Company.

In the police court Thursday afternoon the preliminary hearing in the case of the Singer Manufacturing Co. against their late agent, John Rogers, was concluded. He was remanded till this morning in order to give him an opportunity to find bail which was fixed at $2,000, himself in $1,000 and two sureties in $500 each.

John J. McDonald, manager of the local office, went on the stand and concluded his evidence. Nothing new was brought out.

The defendant conducted a lengthy cross-examination of the witness. In answer to questions by him Mr. McDonald said that the agents were entitled to 25 per cent. on all sums remitted to the office. He had no positive recollection of a machine being sold in Chipman for $26 while the lowest price Rogers asked was $31 cash. He (Rogers) had complained about a man from the St. John office underquoting him. He might have told the manager that he had used the whole of the shortage, $277, in traveling expenses, but he had no distinct recollection of it.

R. W. Mitchell was the only other witness. He told of going to Queens county in February and again in May to check Rogers' accounts. He had not, he said, had time to go over the whole of them, but he found a shortage of $229.29. In answer to a question by defendant, the witness said he had been obliged to take back machines from different parties, the sales not being bona fide. He admitted that agents had been known to put up a dollar of their own money as first payments on machines.

This being all the evidence his honor asked Rogers if he had anything to say, as there was evidence enough to send him up for trial. He replied: "I had no wish to defraud the company at all but confidently hoped to be able to reimburse them in the spring every cent I was short." Rogers was then remanded till this morning.

FAILED TO GET THE BEAVER TO DEEP WATER

Steamer is on Mud at Riverside and Cargo of Stone Must Be Lightered.

Tug Lord Wolseley arrived in port Thursday from Riverside, Albert county, near which place the steamer Beaver went ashore on Monday. The Wolseley, assisted by another tug, made an attempt to pull the stranded steamer free but without success. The captain of the Wolseley reports that the Beaver is practically high and dry, there being about two feet of water about her. She is lying, he says, on a piece of marsh land. He thinks that unless her cargo of stone is lightered it will be impossible to float her. He does not think that she is injured other than somewhat strained.

The Wolseley and another tug pulled at her yesterday but could not move her. "We pulled some parts of her rail off in the attempt," said the captain of the Wolseley, "and I think that we would pull the top off her before we could move her." At the best he believes that it would take about nine feet of water to move the steamer the way she is now loaded. "Otherwise we would pull her apart in the attempt," said he. The owners believe that next week there will be high enough tide to move her.

The Beaver was engaged in the coastwise trade at St. John, Hillsboro, Hopewell Cape and Moncton. She is forty-two tons and is valued at about $5,000. Her principal owners are Messrs. Manchester, DeForest, Thorne and McAvity of this city; and Mr. Preston and Capt. Stevens of Moncton.

CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS

Mass Meeting Wednesday to Hear Report of J. N. Harvey, the Local Representative to the High Court Meeting at Ottawa.

A mass meeting of the members of the different courts of Canadian Order of Forresters in the city was held Wednesday night, in Orange hall, Germain st., at which J. N. Harvey, D. D. H. C. R., gave a very full and exhaustive report of the proceedings of the high court session, recently held in the city of Ottawa. He showed the business of the order to be in a very flourishing condition, the membership showing a large increase and each of the various funds of the order large and substantial increase, which reflected great credit upon the management.

"In these days of insurance investigations and when many kindred societies find it necessary to increase their rates," he said, "the financial statement shows clearly that there is no necessity for the C. O. F. to ever think of doing so, as our financial statement shows that it required less than sixty per cent. of the year's receipts for the insurance fund to meet death claims, and while our membership has largely increased during the year, our liabilities for each $1,000 carried has decreased very considerably."

At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the D. D. H. C. R. for his very fine and able report.

LURCHER LIGHTSHIP HERE FOR REPAIRS

Parted Mooring Chains Tuesday—Will Be Here Some Days.

The lightship Lurcher, Captain Larkin, whose station is the Lurcher Shoals, off Yarmouth, arrived in port yesterday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock, and docked at the Ballast wharf. The steamer will have repairs to her mooring chains made here. The lightship parted her chains Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock, while "heaving to" to ascertain if the moorings were clear. To a Telegraph reporter, Captain Larkin said that at the time of the breaking of the chain, the weather was fine and clear.

"It's a bad place," said Captain Larkin. "You can never tell what is going to happen. We broke our moorings once and went over the shoal. It was high water at that time and we went over clear." He said that the shoal is a bad place to get a good mooring. "If you go into shoal water," said he, "you are likely to get into trouble, and if you take deep water for it you get right out in the weather. We use about 360 fathoms of chain in all."

The captain explained that this amount includes the entire quantity used in the double mooring, the first two chains meeting at a "bridal," and two more chains from this "bridal" making the mooring. About ninety to 120 feet is used from the ship to the "bridal." In all, the captain says the Lurcher shoals are a "quiet" place. The practice is two months out and one ashore. "She is a fine sea boat," remarked her commander, "and can ride any kind of a sea." Steam is kept up all the time so that, should anything go wrong, she can make immediate headway. The Lurcher was built in Toronto, and is a fine, able craft. She will be here for a few days.
