

was found there was close and constant contact with the American Library Association to the mutual advantage of everyone concerned - both from an international standpoint and from that of library work and methods -

Reading the letter