WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAR. 30, 1900.

The Remedy for Political Jobbery.

A. Canada increases in wealth and in fluence, as the is doing from year to year, there is apparently also another Mind of developement going on of not so commendable a character. As election after selection is held, and assion after session of parliament is called, now schemes of parliament is called, now schemes of rand and political corruption, undroamed of before, manifest themselves, and it becomes witches through the political jobbery in Canada is becoming the fine act which its votaries have uncreaded in making it in the United States.

In fact the unsurupulous politician of Canada is extremely fortunate in having a this very door, in the shape of the public men of the neighboring republic, a school of masters in his favorite art. It is considerably easier to adopt to his community as the schemes of so eminent a specialist in the art of electioneering as a Croker or a Piett, that to invent new methods of his own.

But the presence near us of a country with such a debanched and corrupted public life as that of the Thinked States, abould not be an unmitigated evil to our political existence. While it perhaps affords an inapiration and an example to the baser of our public men, it should should not be an unmitigated evil to our political existence. While it perhaps affords an inapiration and an example to the baser of our public men, it should summon good citizens everywhere to be on guard before it is too late. It should went to make the state of the Tanawai Unitander will be that of the transition of the present time, and now when in all probability we are under a democracy there is no guarantee of liberty and that the work, most diagreous, and most democracy there is no guarantee of liberty and that the work, most diagreous, and most democracy there is no guarantee of liberty and that the work, most diagreous, and most democracy there is no guarantee of liberty with the difference, that when we find our self-timposed oppres ability we are very soon to be confronted with another great political struggle it is a good time for the citizens of Canada to consider very carefully just what their duties to their country are and what re-relations they should hear to that invidious spirit of corruption which like a beary worm is guawing at the vitals of our democratic institutions.

Deduct from this the new 465,735

The next table shows the rate of the capture of the configuration of the configura

In our opinion the svils which we see a politics to-day are not to be blamed as much to the unserupulous politicians and party beelers after all as to that eminently respectable class of people the clergy, the college professors, the church workers and the like who imagine that they are too pure to mix up at all in the game of politics which they beave as a had job to those who go into it mostly for what they can make or the amusement which it affords.

smusement which it affords.

Now admittedly the complexion of our national life takes its moral color altogether from the character of those who constitute our members of parlir, ment. Yet who is it that really selecte the personnel of our parliament? It is not as a rule the moral and religious ment. Yet who is it that really selects the personnel of our parliament? It is not as a rule the moral and religious elements in the community but a few schemers and violent parliament in the pasty accurs whose first desire is to norminate a man who will likely be elected, and this they know can best be accomplied by putting up a man who will bid strongest for the uncertain and corrupt class of voters, as the better clase of people can always be counted upon a respectable enough to etick to their party no matter what blackleg may be its sendidate. When once immoral or corrupt candidates have been elected in the party cancurse it too late to think about obtaining a desirable representative is no better and no worse than the constituents whom he represents. This is not true. He may be the same in quality as those who nominate him, but these after all constituents. The majority of electrative have no say whetever as to what shall be constituents. The majority of electrative have no say whetever as to what shall be constituents. The majority of electrative have no say whetever as to what shall be constituents at the text of the community, who after all are the impority, stem to the text parties put redigitable must not be the their representative, and in our opinion they are sort half as bed as their sepresentative usually is.

It is in the party cancurses that the reduced the party cancurse of both aides and set to it that their parties put redigitable must not be the constituents.

Taken at the N. S. School of Hortical and the strength of the community, who after all are the impority, stem in the field, and there will be no danger but that creditable man will be sent to parties and the same time, and the strength of the constituents and the same time, and the strength of the constituents and the same time, and the strength of the constituents and the same time, and the strength of the constituents and the strength of the constituents and the strength of the constituents.
