views upon social problems are not only consonant with the dictates of justice and truth, but are more calculated to win millions of the tolling masses into harmony with religion than to antagonize any appreciable number of right-thinking mem. Rome may appear, at first, to be prejudiced in her views; but, as she is slow day. A report from Drs. Cardinal Simeoni's opinious are not to be taken as the verdict of home, by any means. The good Cardinal is probably suffering yet from the bad attack of Land-League mightmare which oppressed him, some three years ago, when he ran a tilt against our movement in Ireland and was awakened with a rude shock which will cause him to hesitate before interfering gath in Irish national polities.

When I was in Rome last year I learned that Dr. McGlynn had been reprimanded by Cardinal Simeoni so far back as 1882 for his outspoken utterances in this city in defence of the Land League. I am -confident that if Dr. McGlynn goes to the Eternal City on this mission he will achieve a victory as complete as that which the Archbishops of Cashel and Dublin have already scored there against English intrigue and misrepresentation.

that which the Archbishops of Cashel and Dublin have already scored there against English intrigue and misrepresentation.

Upon the question of Archbishop Corrigan's suspension of Dr. MeGlynn, Mr. Davitt would not express an opinion, but continued:

The following is from an interview with Michael Davitt, printed in the Irish World and in New York dailies.

Dr. McGlynn ought, both as a priest and a social reformer, to proceed to Rome in obedience to Cardinal Simconi's summons and prove thatas a minister of the church he has taught no heresy either in religion or in morals contrary to the doctrines of our faith, and that his views upon social problems are not only consonant with the dictates of justice and truth, but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the but are more calculated to win millions of the constitution of the b

TO THE ELECTORS OF

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—In offering myself for re-election to the office of Alderman for 1887, I will lay before you a synopsis of what has passed before my notice affecting our interests during the past year, and I will also endeavor to outline a general policy for myself for the future, in the event of my being elected, and you will then be in a position to pronounce intelligently your approval or disapproval of me and my policy at the polls.

"PINSERRED" LLUGGE

In the first place we must congratulate ourselves upon the unprecedented growth and development of our ward during the thirty-two months last passed that we have formed an integral part of this great city, the magnitude of which cannot be fully realized without an analysis of the following figures: In March, 1884, the assessed value of the real and personal property of St. Matthew's ward was $511,850, (five hundred and eleven thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars), and the assessment just made for 1887 is $1,585,489 (one million five hundred and eighty-five thousand four hundred and eighty-nine dollars), an increase of $1,073,639 (one million and seventy-three thousand six hundred and thirty-nine dollars), over two hundred and ten per cent, in thirty-size months increase of $1,073,639 (one million and seventy-three thousand six hundred and thirty-nine dollars), over two hundred and ten per cent. in thirty-two months (or, rather twenty-six months, for the assessment was made last July.) There is nothing fictitious in these figures, as they represent a solid, substantial and natural growth, as evidenced by the fact that our population in March, 1884, was two thousand eight hundred and twenty-three souls. The Municipal census returns for 1886, taken in July last, show that we have three thousand nine hundred and seventy-six souls, an increase of over forty-one and a half per cent. within twenty-six months.

I claim that this marvelous development is without a precedent in the history of any Canadian city. I question if it has ever been surpassed on this continent (all other things being equal) for when the ward became annexed to the city, we were laboring under great disadvantages, owing to a general prejudice and lack of knowledge on the part of the general public concerning the location, beauty and natural advantages of the place; for it is a fact not generally known that the Don is one mile and three quarters nearer the St. Lawrence Market and City Hall than the east limit of Parkdale, and I have often been the recipient of sympathy and pity from friends and acquaintances who lived half as far again from their and pity from friends and acquaintances (who lived half as far again from their places of business as I did) because I lived away over the Don; and even to this day the owner of a public conveyance, either expressman or cabman, will charge from 25 to 50 cents more for crossing the Magic Stream than he would for soing an equal of a state of affairs that I will endeavor to have mendment to the by-laws of the city. I might add that we have been discriminated against, even by those who compile alleged maps of Toronto, which show the Don as the eastern city limit, whereas the real limit is Greenwood avenue, one and a-half miles further east, and on the south side of Queen-street, over three miles turther east. I might enumerate hundreds of cases where merchants look askance when required to deliver goods within a reasonable distance of their places of business, when the goods are required to go east, whilst they cheerfully send them to Parkdale and other places of an equal distance west, and I enter my protest here and now against this unfair discrimination, which, I am hapt y to say, it fast disappearing.

I have heard some very loud complaints against the increased assessment, but this is by no means general, as the great increase has fallen mainly upon large blocks of unimproved lands held by monopolists, who will not self nor yet improve, but who wish to hold their lands and profit by the labor and industry of those who bear the burden and the heat of the day, whilst they (the land-holders) prove, but who wish to hold their lands and profit by the labor and industry of those who bear the burden and the heat of the day, whilst they (the land-holders) escape with a mere nominal tax; and, besides all that, nearly one-fifth of this entire increase has fallen upon my own lands, I having opened out a number of streets and otherwise improved my property, and the neighborhood generally, for which I am taxed the same as other citizens, and even to a much greater extent in proportion to the true value, than some others. I simply say this to show that no real cause exists for complaint on this score that does not apply to me as much as anyone, and one of the advantages that we have by virtue of being properly assessed, is that we do not appear as an unprofitable part of the city; but when it is remembered that we more, than keep our end up, we will be entitled to more improvements, and for the next three or four years, that is what we want. I would also point out that my drawing attention to abuses in the system of assessment in this city has resulted in an increase of about ten millions of dollars in the assessment of that part of the city other than St. Matthew's Ward (about eleven millions of dollars including our ward) for 1887, which will reach fifteen millions next year, as the levelling process is only begun, there still being many irregularities and inequalities yet—for some pay only one-half of their just share, whilst others are taxed to their last dollar. Publication of the assessment rolls would entirely cure this evil, as every citizen would then be in a position to know what every other citizen is assessed for without having to burrow through the records of the City Hall. I hold that with true economy and judicious expenditure of the city revenues, the rate of taxation for next year should not exceed 14 mills on the dollar, and should decrease from year to year until they are reduced to 11 or 12 mills. This will adjust the difference between a proper and an unfair and discriminating assessment.

I am willing that my course in the past (and the results following and attributable to it) should be taken as an index of my future policy, and I hope for even better results, as the prosperity that we have already enjoyed is but the first instalment of what is in store for us, if such men be returned to represent you as can and will advertise the ward by always keeping it before the public in such a way that their actions will reflect credit upon themselves and the intelligence of those whom they represent. I have often heard it said that it is necessary to cater to certain men of 'enfunce in the Council, to form rings and give votes that are not just the proper thing, so that they in turn may vote for some scheme of ours. I take a different view of the temperament, character, and will of my constituents. I do not helieve that you desire me to give a questionable vote, or violate any of the eternal principles of truth and justice for any paltry advantage or temporary gain in the nature of "ward grabbing." Holding these views. I will continue to advance our common interests to the best of my ability on this line.

The magnificent vote of the people on the Don River Improvement Bylaw has virtually disposed of the weightiest question in which we are more particularly concerned than the rest of the city, and all that remains now to be done is to press on the work with all consistent speed, and urge the construction of the bridges and the extension of the Street Railway system.

If returned again, I hope to be more useful in the future than in the past, and will in all probability be placed on a greater number of committees; and when this is added to my experience, I will have more influence upon the administration of the city's affairs.

And last, but not least, if elected I will endeavor to restrict the liquor traffic within narrower limits and the public requirements, and if the people choose to take this matter into their own control and management, I submit that they have the right to do so, as much in this case as in any other. I desire it to be known that on principle I am totally opposed to class legislation of any kind whatsoever, but if class government be forced upon us, I am in favor of the city being governed by that class of people who have its interest more at heart, as against that class who seek their own interest and profit, to the detriment and injury of the commonwealth, and I will be found on the side of morality, temperance and good government every time.

YOURS VERY TRULY.

E. A. MACDONALD.

P.S.—I have been informed by anxious friends who had heard that I was not a candidate, that the report had been freely circulated that I was not going to run again. Let me assure the public that an enemy hath done this, for I have never authorized such a statement, but on the contrary, I have always given out that I am in the field till the last vote is polled. I know that there are those who would cheaply reap the honor and credit that they have not earned, and I trust that any unfair tactics, runors or unproved statements, will be met by you in a fair and honorable spirit.

The laborer is worthy of his here, which in this case is your confidence and esteem.
