

Bears suspended from WIFL

Coach J.P. Donleavy expressed indignation and disgust Wednesday when informed of a league decision to suspend his football team from league play for one full season.

League president Gary Davidson said the suspension is a consequence of "the consistent use (in home games) of non-regulation footballs, that is, footballs with more than a one-half inch curve in the lacing."

Davidson cited as a further consideration in the decision, "the brutish, violent, play and the obvious intimidation tactics employed by the defensive and offensive lines of Golden Bear teams acting under instructions from their coaching staff."

Donleavy was appalled. "Hogwash!" he said, "Every other team in the league writes on lavatory walls, too, and you don't see them getting suspended."

He added, "We intend to appeal this to the highest authority in the land."

Oiler's GM Bill Predator was unavailable for comment.

White members only

The ghetto ski club regrets to inform it's members that this years mary seeson downstares opin invetationale will be offered for wite members only (original disguises considered). Ten good reasons for this restriction are available by dialing a moron tabynacle (there's umpteen duzen of them)

Gold up

Final preparations took place today at Cape Canaveral to launch two million Troy ounces of gold into orbit around the earth and then, later around the moon.

Launch director, Werner Von Braun claims this action to be the result of a Presidential order.

When questioned, President Ford denied any ties with Watergate or with any German except Henry. However, there is speculation that NASA is taking President Ford's recnet speech on inflation to heart, since the main object of the speech was to "boost" the American economy in the face of rocketing inflation.

in salt lake city. Despite this drawdown the contest promises to be a reelly cheap time; the halliday in has already offered a room for 14-16 for the prise of for. Racing will begin the moment the first car leave the chuck and all contesters will abide by the rules which will be posted in cubicle No. 2 of the mens can on the main floor of SUB. Judging will be supplied by the tabynacle who have promised to be impartial and fare (don't be supprized if you can't see the judge, he'll be there). Apre ski will consit of the usual rape (its: the only way a moron will do it), pillage (prizes for dropping the most) and blunder (cause we're all so good at it) and liquor will be supplied free whenever possible (so put on your tennis shoes). For the survivors there will be a rapp up partie at some valley in Idahoe until our credit runs shy. The results will be saved in grad garbage bags and posted at varios kee locations throughout school (CAB kitchen, SUB kitchen, etc). For further lac of information please contact the Perry brothers, they will be grad to shaft you .

Pandas floor Bears

An excited restricted-adult audience of over 15,000 watched the first exhibition hockey game between the Pandas and the Golden Bears Friday night at the Tracy Stars rink.

Friday night's contest was a high-scoring and hard-hitting game, mainly characterized by many fouls and penalties. The Pandas concentrated on defensive play while coming back fast and scoring. Pamela Titts, the fastest scorer in the league, opened the scoring with only 59 seconds gone in the game. She made a very nice move faking a shot by Greg Miller only to score on Rick Marter. The Pandas extended their early lead to 4:0 while Miller was off for "high-sticking" Deena Johns in the right-hand corner.

Many penalties for "holding", "tripping", "high-sticking" and even "hooking" made the game an open affair with most players scoring ar least once. Even the rather non-aggressive European import Alfred Muller scored his first of the year on Joan Peterson.

At Last! — THE 'GETAWAY' BOWS TO PURITANIC PUBLIC OPINION ———

KEEP THOSE CARDS + LETTERS COMIN' IN — (ALSO THE DIRTY PHOTOS + OBSCENE PHONE CALLS) ———

In the end, with both teams very exhausted, the Pandas outscored the Bears by 38:22.

Nixon pregnant?

Ex-presidential doctor, Mucus Welby testified before a Senate Congressional committee that ex-president Richard Milhous Nixon would be unable to testify because of poor health.

The doctor described Mr. Nixon as having, "nausea, swollen ankles, and backaches, complicated by Toxemia, preeclampsia, and Placenta Praevia."

Senate appointed doctor, Doctor Kildare, a renowned obstetrician, is suspicious of Dr. Welby's diagnoses as in his experience, Mr. Nixon would have to be three and six months pregnant, respectively, to exhibit such symptoms.

Dr. Welby, a syphilis expert from Calgary Medical School, is hurt" that his diagnoses and credentials are in question.

RATS, from page 1

don't know why there's so many of them. I can't eat the cafeteria food."

Three students have woken at night to find rats in their rooms. Unfortunately, the students have all disappeared, so they are not available for comment.

A research scientist from the Biological Sciences Building, who wishes to remain anonymous, has examined the rats, who on the average are 14 inches long and wight 12-15 pounds. He says they are of a particularly virulent strain and that their size may be due to recent experiments in radioactivity or possibly the alleged "leak" in the Nuclear Research Centre."

"There is no need for fear," he claims, "If they are not destroyed within the week, they'll probably go home with the students at Christmas anyway."

"There is no cause for concern, he emphasized, "They're really very friendly."

SHOCK, from page 2

in between exams."

"At a time when our SU is constantly increasing services while reducing fees, the SU Executive felt that this "sleep-an-hour service" will further improve our organisation."

The bedrooms are also expected to serve customers of RATT and couples wishing to "relax" after watching such exciting S.U. Cinema productions like this week's "The Last Tango in Edmonton."

The beds are located in Room 282 of SUB.

Herald "Sleeper" Knuchertz

Banana vibrator mellow yellow

It was probably the most talked-about song of 1967, but what was Donovan's classic hit "Mellow Yellow" really all about?

Most Donovan fans decided it was about dope or about the stony effects of smoking dried out banana peels. Even the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics conducted intensive research to determine whether the yellow fruit could make you high.

Now, some seven years later,

Donovan reveals what actually prompted him to write a song in tribute to a "mellow yellow electrical banana." Says the singer-writer: "I didn't write it about smoking a banana. Other people interpreted the song like that." Actually, he explains, it was about a "new vibrator on the market that came out looking like a banana."

Donovan was taken by the ad, which didn't bother to mention that the electrically operated banana was actually a sex toy.

The British singer - who currently is setting out on a concert tour of the U.S. - concedes that: "My songs really were about getting high, in a sense. I didn't really encourage it... Everyone was turning on anyway. I just reflected the times."

And, admits Donovan, "I've never tried smoking a banana myself."

"WHAT MAKES YOU THINK I'M A NOVICE?"

Blood & gore

With the recent TV screening of "The Godfather" proving that nothing sells like blood and gore, it should come as no surprise to learn that one network is considering three 60-minute specials on the Charles Manson murders.

According to a New York newspaper, Manson's prosecutor, Vincent Bugliosi has received firm offers from an unidentified network for three specials based on Bugliosi's new book "Helter Skelter," which tells the story of the murders and the trial.

The book, incidently, is creating a minor sensation with several previously unconfirmed revelations about the bizarre case. Bugliosi says, for instance, that the Manson "family" may have killed as many as 40 people, and he confirms that drugs were found in Sharon Tate's bedroom, along with a home movie of the actress in some pretty compromising situations.