FESTIVAL OF ART OPENS TODAY

Weeklong Display At Art Centre

An informal and illuminating program designed to create public recognition of the creative work done on the campus in the last year will climax the Observatory Art Centre's winter activities.

Taking the form of a week-long exhibit of student art in all fields together with nightly performances of a creative nature, this Festival of Arts is arranged by Miss Lucy Jarvis, director of the Art Centre. Due to start Wednesday, this Brunswickan's publication date, the festival will continue until next Wednesday, April 9.

Tremendous support of this project has been forthcoming from the students and faculty, Miss Jarvis reports, and during the next week the Art Centre will be worth an all-day visit for anyone interested in art.

Included in the standing exhibit will be painting, drawing, wood sculpture, photography, creative prose, music, films, drama, poetry, printing and radio scripts.

The Art Centre will be open each day from 9-5 and 7-10. The tentative schedule of evening programs is as follows: Wednesday, April 2, musical; Thursday, a film: History of Civilization, Humanities Society meeting; Friday, folk music and singing, Al Gordon, Jack McLeod, Doc Roberts; Saturday, film on year's activities at UNB, colored slides by Stig Harvor and Eric MacGillivray; Sunday, regular recorded music period, records from student collections; Monday evening, poetry, Wednesday, readings of student essays and stories, and production of a short play.

McPHAIL WINS ISS AWARD

Don McPhail has been awarded the ISS scholarship to attend the fifth annual international seminar of ISS his summer.

Don will leave on June 30, for the University of Leyden, Holland, later tour Yugoslavia, and return September 12.

The scholarship covers traveling expenses as well as tuition and is valued at $1500.

The student selected for this scholarship is expected to return to the campus and promote the interests of ISS.

UIS TO VIEW FILMS

Professor W. S. MacNutt of the UNB faculty was the guest speaker at the fifth meeting of the University investment syndicate held here recently. Professor MacNutt spoke briefly on the history of the stock exchange and was questioned on the effect of foreign and international events on the stock market. Further organizational and revisions were constituted, and it was decided that new mining stock should be immediately purchased. At the next meeting it is expected that U.N.B. films will be shown which will illustrate various industrial and mining processes.

FORESTERS PASS $1,000 MARK IN FUND CAMPAIGN

At the last meeting of the Forestry Association retiring president Ian Sewell announced that after only two months of collecting, the financial goal of one thousand dollars for the Memorial Reading Room had not only been reached but passed.

Thanks are due to all the foresters for their willing donations, to the graduates for their generous response, to friends for their spontaneous contributions, and to the Engineering Society who pushed the total over the top.

Ron Steves deserves a note of thanks also for the time and energy he put into the numerous hockey pools and punch boards (We're still wondering how long it took to write "Vote Spurway" on all the losing punches.)

Other contributions to the Reading Room worthy of mention are Bob McCullough and Don McAuley. The large, three dimensional wooden model of the Forestry crest is enough to make any forester glad that he is a forester.

Rory McLeod, Roger Simmons and all the other logging camp builders are to be commended for their work also. This model is lacking only a few trees to be completed.

It is expected that the room will be completely furnished by the middle of April, including curtains and smaller furnishings. An official opening during Encaenia week is being contemplated.

About all that remains to be said are the immortal words... "Foresters once, Foresters twice..."

A rough breakdown of the figures is as follows:

Students:
Seniors contributed	100%
Intermediates contributed	100%
Juniors contributed	79%
Sophomores contributed	83%
Total $311
Hockey pools	$ 25
Punch boards	$ 70
Monte Carlo	$ 95
Wildlife Show	$ 90
Engineering Society	$ 50
Total $330
Graduate and other donations	$391
Total $1032

Athlone Fellowship Awarded

Colin D. di Cenzo, a senior electrical, has been awarded an Athlone Fellowship valued at $1500 for two years postgraduate work in Britain.

These fellowships were established late last year by the United Kingdom Government to enable Canadian graduate engineers to take advanced training in Britain, and 38 are made available each year.

Colin is attending UNB under the Navy scheme of higher education and holds the rank of Cadet (L) in the R.C.N.

SRC Recognizes Investment Syndicate

Last week's meeting of the S.R.C. was primarily concerned with the Student Directory and the Students Handbook. This handbook, on a similar design of the one published in 1948, is to be published and distributed, free of charge, to Freshmen on registration day next fall. The council did not decide how, or by whom this book was to be published.

Tenders are now being called for the publication of a telephone directory similar to the one published last year.

The constitution of the University Investment Syndicate was presented and accepted by the Council, making that organization an officially recognized body under the nominal jurisdiction of the S.R.C.

Co-eds to Elect Executive

Co-eds turned out on Friday night for the annual Freshette banquet in the ladies reading room. With Marg MacNaughton a chairman the Freshettes prepared and served the food themselves making the affair one of the best banquet yet.

Although all the co-eds were not present the banquet was still a big success. Mrs. Trueman and faculty members were also in attendance. Immediately after the dinner a business meeting of the Ladies Society was held. It was decided that in order to make up a debt incurred during the year that a small levy should be placed on each Co-ed. Elections were discussed, and a call for nominations will be held this coming week. The election will be held before the Easter recess.

Bill 113 - the U.N.B. Act

This week in the Provincial Legislature Bill No. 113 will be given its third and final reading. What is Bill No. 113? It is the University of New Brunswick Act. The Act itself is not new to the statute books but this revision is almost entirely new. At the present the N.B. Legislature is working on the consolidation and revision of the provincial statutes. Early last year Dr. A. W. Trueman was asked by the Attorney General's Department if he wished any changes to be made in the old act. This was all the asking that it took. For some time the Senate and indeed all University officials have felt the need for revision of the Act. This revision was to include the workable portions of the old act plus new revisions needed now that the University has grown so in the past years.

When we first look at the act we are at once struck by its neatness and clarity. The preliminary work on the act was done by Dr. Trueman who consulted all the acts and charters of modern universities. From these new and old documents he worked in the applicable clauses and from them gained ideas incorporated in the new act. He was much aided by Justice Hughes and Chief Justice Richards of the N.B. courts plus Dr. Sears of UNB's legal department. These men with President Trueman went over and over the

OBJECTIONS TO URP CONTINUE

On Tuesday, March 21, "The Olive Grove" a radio adaptation by Prof. Galloway of Guy de Maupassant's short story of the same name was presented to the listening public. Its nearness to the witching hour was arranged by U.F.N.B. so that the immature ears of young listeners would not be subjected to it. Five days, several official protests, one Gleaner article and numberless telephone calls later, the city realized that some adults did not approve either. The objections expressed by the Newman Club in their letter were expressed by many. Chief among these were the protests of the local Catholic clergy on moral grounds, the more all-inclusive attacks on the Revue by the Fredericton Council of Knights of Columbus, the protests of the Newman Club to URP, and various objections voiced by private persons. In response to these criticisms, Prof. Galloway's reply has been sent to the Newman Club. Into the breach produced by the article on Monday, March 24, swept Wilma Sansom with a reply to the criticism via the Gleaner's Letter to the Editor Column. (Saturday, March 28).

At this time no further correspondence has been forthcoming from either the pro or con of the latest dispute.

YEAR BOOK GOES TO PRESS

The 1952 edition of Up the Hill went to press on Monday with hopes high for a mid-May publication. This Year Book will be bigger and better than ever presenting almost 200 pages of graduate write-ups, clubs, teams photos, and campus life. Photos include full colour plates of the campus, and many hodgepodge pages of dances, parties, games and shows.

Too many clubs and organizations have been procrastinating on their write-ups. Let those groups which have not yet submitted their material be warned, here and now, that we cannot hold up the show for them! If they fail to get their write-ups in the Year Book Office immediately they will be left out of the Book altogether.

All sales this year will be by subscription only. Subscriptions go on sale Thursday in the Arts Building, and the number of Books to be printed will be limited by the number of subscriptions sold.

So if you want a Year Book, get your subscription early. And remember, the price is $5.00.

23% of Students Donate Blood

The following are the results of last week's blood donor's clinic held on the campus.

Total donations — 214 — 23% of student body.
Foresters — 81 — 41% of that faculty.
Science — 32 — 30% of that faculty.
Engineers — 72 — 28% of that faculty.
Arts — 23 — 17% of that faculty.
Staff — 2
Grad Chemistry — 4

'THE CON' - DANCE OF THE YEAR

The only sign of Spring of the 21st of March was the Con. Mud and snow out of doors made its coming difficult to believe but the reforestation project in the gym under the able leadership of Mr. Jobb put the breath of it in the air. For those who were not fortunate enough to be in attendance, the decorations consisted of a life like fountain, flowing with real water, in the middle of the floor and numerous trees and park benches scattered here and there. That the fountain worked was a surprise to all except Willie Schure who was the originator and planner of this tremendous project. By the way, the next time you see the grass which was around the base of the fountain you won't see it because the donor was Ken McAdam. If anyone wants trellises built, Don Biggs will volunteer willingly. He enjoyed making the ones for either side of the bandstand and he wants to try again.

Dick Ballance and his orchestra made their second stand at a big formal on the campus and gave forth with music fit for man and beast. An added attraction was the tenor who had all the assets of a crooner, voice plus... Nobody noticed that the piano was out of tune either, except the fellows in the band.

The Social Committee would like to thank Dr. and Mrs. Trueman and Dr. and Mrs. Turner for chaperoning the dance. But the mystery remains, who made off with Dr. Sears' decanter and glasses from the chaperon's room?

If you say that you were there and someone says, "I don't believe you." Don't be hurt, don't go away mad. It was the darkness of the lighting effect since many like darkness for their dancing. However, as someone once said, we amused ourselves one way or another.

The University Senate has decided to keep the apartments of Alexander College operating for one more year. There will be a number of vacancies, both of one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments. These will now be open to veteran and non-veteran married students, also faculty. As always, those with children especially welcome.

Full particulars available on request to D. Kermod Parr at Alexander College. Applications for apartments should be made immediately, as after 15 April non-U.N.B. tenants will be accepted to fill up.
