GOOSEBERRIES

Mr. Coltart expects to have a thriving stock of them next season.

Andrew Coltart, William street, has received a dozen gooseberry bushes from his friend G. B. Bird, of Halifax, Eng.

The bushes are of the very finest yellow variety and have never been grown in Kent.

They are two year old bushes and have splendid roots. Mr. Coltart planted them almost immediately after he received them and they now look as well as when they were dug.

They were dug up in September and are all out in full leaf. They were well packed in moss and when they were received were in first class order.

"I never saw anything so well packed," said Mr. Coltart to The Planet.

"It was well worth seeing and it would be a good thing if some of our nurserymen would take pattern from those in England."

He placed the matter in the hands of the police, who were unable to find any trace of the missing wheel. Early this morning the wheel was found in the exact position from where it was taken. It was in very good condition, although slightly the worse for wear. The return of the wheel is attributed to a troubled conscience.—Bradford Courier.

HIS CRIME

Arthur Coll Pleads Guilty at Morden to Stealing Goods and Shipping Same East.

A harvest hand hailing from Chatham, Ont., and evidently possessing marked characteristics and capacity for crime, was recently gathered in by the provincial police. The young man's name is Arthur Coll, who came to Manitoba a month or two ago on one of the harvest excursions. His idea of harvesting seems to be rather larger in scope than that of the ordinary farm laborer, for, after securing employment near Morden, he immediately proceeded to do up the merchants of the town and obtained a quantity of goods, which he shipped to Chatham, in order to prove to his folks he was doing well even though in a strange land. After his operations in Morden, Mr. Coll skipped out, and the merchants of the town notified Chief Elliott, with the result that the missing Arthur was located at Glenora, on the C. N. R. He was found working with a threshing gang under the distinguished alias of "Smith."

Mr. Coll, alias Smith, will not, however, thresh out the proceeds of the goods shipped to Chatham, because they were separated from him by a telegram from Chief Elliott, who had delivery stopped at the Glenora town. Coll was arrested and brought before Magistrate Colin McCordugale, of Morden, on Saturday, where he pleaded guilty on three charges of theft. He was remanded for sentence until today. The analyst of The Chatham Planet, who recently toured the west, may be able to throw some light on the motives which impel the Chatham youth to come west and victimize Manitoba merchants and visit Manitoba merchants allow themselves to be done up by an innocent appearing but deplorable harvest hand.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The Free Press man seems to have overlooked the fact entirely that Chief Young, of this city, located the man Coll in Glenora for the Morden police, after the "innocent looking but deplorable harvest hand" had entirely eluded the police in the little town in the Prairie Province. Then, too, it was the Maple City police who secured the clothes and shipped them back to Morden. Lastly, the man arrested doesn't belong to Chatham at all, but to Hedgesport, 20 miles east of here. The insinuation that the Chatham people need clothes is horrible, but no less so than the inference that the Manitoba merchants are easy. That fellow Coll must be a brute to take clothes away from Manitoba. They will need all they have when winter comes. But if he—an easterner—got ahead of the Manitoba merchants on a deal, he is a genius—a very Napoleon in the art of bargaining.

THE MORBID PRINCIPLE OF RHEUMATISM IS URIC ACID.

Paine's Celery Compound

DRIVES IT FROM THE BLOOD AND CURES THE DISEASE

The Wonderful Medicine Does a Marvellous Work for Dr. G. J. McDonald, of Cornwall, Ont.

The ablest pathologists are of opinion that there is a morbid principle in the blood when rheumatism is present. This morbid principle is uric acid, which circulates with the blood and acts upon the joints and muscles, causing the pains and agonies of rheumatism.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only scientific remedy for the complete banishment of every form of rheumatism. If your joints are painful; if the knees, wrists, elbows or ankles are swollen, a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound will surely remove all your troubles and pains. A 64 page book "Diseases of the Nervous System, and How to Cure them," is sent free to any address by the Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal. This book furnishes valuable diet lists for various diseases.

Mr. McDonald, for the benefit of rheumatic sufferers writes as follows: "After giving your Paine's Celery Compound a thorough testing, I am pleased to say a few words in its favor. For three years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. It seemed to me that I was forced to endure all agonies and pains that a mortal could possibly experience from the dreadful disease."

"While suffering I tried many of the advertised remedies, but never found a cure until I procured a supply of Paine's Celery Compound. It worked like a charm—it seemed to strike at the very root of my trouble, I am now cured, all pains are banished, and in every respect, I am a new man."

"I shall always consider it a pleasure and duty to strongly recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all who are afflicted with rheumatism."

AT MEYNELL'S Enterprising Merchant Presents an Expert in Living Statute Work.

"The man of many faces," is causing a great stir in the city with his exhibition of statue work which he gives every afternoon and evening in Meynell's show window. Frederic Trevalton, of London, England, is the artist and he is certainly an expert in this line of business.

In the afternoon he "makes up" as a living model, and from the time he enters the window until he comes out, he never moves a muscle in his face and works his hands as if they were run by machinery, in fact, if you were not aware that he was human you would confidently believe that it was a common wooden model and that the motion of the hands and body were the result of the workings of some intricate machinery. In his roll of the French peasant he makes 22 different faces, and no matter how great the laughter outside the cause of all the merriment never smiles.

On Thursday afternoon he broke the world's record by seven minutes, staying in the window 1 hour, 4 minutes and 39 seconds. He has three changes in the evening. First as the living model, second as the French peasant of 1770, and the third as the American Indian.

Mr. Trevalton's idea of statue work is entirely original and he has been studying it for seven years. He has shown in London, England, Paris, Berlin, New York, San Francisco and other large cities, and has met with success everywhere he has gone. This is the first place he has shown in Canada.

where he will show next week. He will return to Chatham and continue his exhibitions Christmas week with an entire change of program.

Mr. Meynell has shown his up-to-date in bringing Mr. Trevalton here to advertise his business. Mr. Meynell has been in Chatham only six months and during that time he has built up an enviable trade. The store has been completely remodelled and everything is arranged on the latest style. He carries a full line of gents' furnishings and clothing of the very newest and up-to-date styles. He was the only exhibitor at the Peninsular Fair this year, and his showing was a very creditable one.

He has a full line of the latest thing in Groenover and Raglan overcoats, Irish frieze ulsters and Carleton suits. All of his underwear is purchased direct from the manufacturers. He makes a specialty of children's clothing and men's $10 suits.

His stock is certainly a fine one and well deserving of a visit from every gentleman in Chatham.
