Money Mans by Farming .- Much labor is done on farms that is not farming in its true sense. By such labor no money is ever made. A man may support himself and his family, keep out of debt, and havela few dollars in his pocket, by practicing the most stringent economy. If he is otherwise than industrious and sober, he is on the down grade with loose brakes and the end is not reached. But farming in its true sense, is a profession equal in dignity to that of law or medicine, and needs equal study, mental capacity, and intelligently directed labor to command success in it. The principle which underlies the practice of the true farmer, must be understood well, and a steady, consistent course of operation must be followed. Having thoroughly learned the nature and capacity of the soil he possesses, and chosen the rotation most suitable, and the stock to be most profitably kept upon it, he does not swerve from his chosen course, but in good and bad markets raises his regular crops, and keeps his land in regular increasing fertility. No special cry tempts or frightens him. He does not talk dairy this season and crops the next; but doubtless if any particular product be in demand, and brings a good price, he has some of it to sell, and reaps his share of the advantage. He saves as much money as some men make, by care and economy in purchasing and preserving tools, Seeds, manure, and machines; and his business habits and constant readiness, for all occasions, gives him reasonable security against the effects of adverse seasons and bad weather. Always prepared, he is never too late; always calm, he is never too soon, and thus, "taking Time by the forelock," he has the stern old tyrant at his command, and turns him at his will. He has no losses, and his gains are steady.

"Is that clock right over there?" asked a visitor the other day. "Right over there?" said the boy: "'taint nowhere else.

A Good Definition.—A little girl in school gave as a definition of 'bearing false witness against your neighbor,' that 'it was when nobody did nothing and somebody went and told it.'

Why is an old man's house more easily entered than a young man's?— His gait is broken, and his locks are few.

One Word.—"Sire, one word," said a soldier one day to Frederick the Great, when presenting to him a request for the brevet of lieutenant.—"If you say two," answered the king, "I will have you hanged."—"Sign," replied the soldier. The king stared, whistled, and signed.
