A BAD COLD Developed Into BRONCHITIS.

Neglected Bronchitis is very often the direct cause of Consumption, and on the first symptom appearing Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be used and the Bronchitis cured.

The symptoms are, tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, and later of a greenish or yellowish color, coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning.

Mrs. Dan. J. McCormack, Cleveland, N.S., writes: "My little boy two years old caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was so choked up he could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise; I would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis."

The price of "Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup is 25c. It is put up in a yellow wrapper. Three pine trees is the trade mark. Be sure and accept no substitute for Dr. Wood's.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

LUMPS IN TEATS.

An old cow (2-year milker) won't let down her milk from 3 teats. They are not swelled at all, but there are lumps on them. I would consider it a very great favor if you would let me know what to do in such a case?

W. N. Mc.

Ans.—Doubtless the lumps in the teats are what obstruct the milk flow. Such lumps are sometimes removed by a surgical operation. This operation is not by any means always successful. Even the case of a young and valuable cow affected with such teat obstructions is considered so serious by the best advisers that they usually recommend fitting her for the block rather than attempting remedial measures, and much more emphatically would such advice be given when the cow is old and her period of usefulness nearly past.

STORING A STOVE.

An agent whom we knew came here with a stove last fall, about the 1st of November. As the roads were bad, he asked permission to leave the stove here for the present till he would call for it. He wanted to sell me the stove, but I told him I would not buy. We set the stove in a building away from the house. It was all nailed up, in a crate, and it is the same way yet. I have notified one of their agents twice to take the stove away. Can they compel me to keep the stove, as we do not want it? He called with the stove about dark, and had about thirty miles to go that night after that, so we let him leave the stove, as he said he would come after it soon. SUBSCRIBER.

Ontario.

Ans.—No; and we think it advisable that you should notify the owners of the stove, in writing, insisting upon its immediate removal, and that meanwhile you will charge for storage.

SHEEP SHED.

Would like you to give plan of the most approved sheep shed, and how to build so as to accommodate about thirty-five sheep, and also hold feed for the same. Would you advise stone wall?

Ans.—You will need a building at least 20x32 feet, with posts sufficiently high to store the hay necessary for the number of sheep. An arched roof, similar to that shown in our April 20th issue, page 696, will be found cheap and suitable. Build, if practicable, on high, dry ground, with yards facing the south, and wide doors, to be left open except in stormy weather. The inside space should be divided into at least two parts; one for the ewes, the other for the lambs in their first winter. We would not advise stone walls higher than two feet above the ground. Single boards and battens keep the house warm enough for sheep if drafts are avoided.

COST OF CHANGING BUILDINGS.

1. Have two frame barns. No. 1, 30x54x14 feet; No. 2, 40x50x14 feet; built on a sidehill. What would it cost to dig an underground stable to hold 30 head of stock and move these two barns over it, put hip roofs on them, and make them into one?

2. Where could I get books on: (a) The feeding and breeding of registered Holsteins; (b) How to feed pigs to make them go 200 lbs. as soon as possible? FARMER'S SON.

Ans.—1. Consult local carpenters or barn-framers and other contractors. By the time you reach conclusions as to cost, you will be able to remember it without reference to paper. You will be able to perceive, we are certain, that no estimate of cost of such work, upon which any dependence could be placed, could be given without knowing character of soil, distance that buildings are to be moved, condition of buildings, rate of wages prevailing, distance from gravel pit, etc., etc.

2. "Holstein Cattle," by F. L. Houghton, Brattleboro, Vermont, through this office. We have never seen a book dealing expressly with the problem of making pigs go 200 pounds as soon as possible. "Co-go burn's Swine in America," and "Pay's Swine Husbandry," discuss feeding, of course.

Consult your wife about the new barn.

It's your duty, Mr. Reader. She has helped you make a new barn possible. Get her opinion of "Galt" Steel Shingles. She has probably read about them and her opinion is worth something to you. Find out for yourself what "Galt" Shingles are made of—how they are made—how they lock—how they make a storm, fire-and-lightning-proof and permanent roof—how they save you money compared with any other building material you can use. Or if your present barn needs a new roof make it a first class barn by putting a "Galt" Roof on it. For old and new barns, wood shingles are out-of-date, use

"Galt" Steel Shingles.
